LEONARD TOWN MD.

THURSDAY MORNING, OCT. 1, 1863

salutatory.

In view of the great public inconvenience to which the people of this county have been subjected...

WALTER THOMPSON.

"Fragments."

A copy of this interesting and neatly gotten up little book is before us. We have given it a careful perusal...

James S. Downs, Esq., having returned home will, we are authorized to state, resume the practice of law in this Judicial Circuit

The News.

The war news of the past few days indicates that the excitement incident to the recent great conflicts in Northern Georgia is rapidly subsiding.

The latest advices from the army of the Potomac report "all quiet in front."

From Charleston we have nothing of a late date, and we opine, that a temporary suspension of operations in this quarter is the basis upon which this reticence is founded.

Late Federal reports from Arkansas show that some slight advantages have been recently gained over the Confederates in that quarter.

Late European intelligence shows that the question of Southern recognition is still being mooted in Paris, but nothing definite is known as to what will be the final determination of his Imperial Majesty.

It is reported that Gen. Burnside has resigned and that Gen. Hooker has been named as his successor.

RECOGNITION.

M. DE MONTMOLON'S ADDRESS TO NAPOLEON. Paris (September 7.) Correspondence of the Botschafter, of Vienna.

Amongst other projects the recognition of the Confederate States by France is still on the order of the day. The Emperor is personally most strongly inclined to take such a step.

This diplomatist expressed himself as follows to the Emperor:

If, sire, you wish to create a permanent Government in Mexico, you must obtain some firm point, d'appui, and this the Southern States can alone afford you.

FAMILY NAMES.

It is a vulgar notion that some names are necessarily noble and romantic, while others are necessarily mean and base.

Names are beautiful only in their associations. Worth, valor, genius, learning, have converted syllables into poems and words into histories.

After which the meeting adjourned sine die.
