THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 19, 1863

Court. Our readers will remember, that on Monday next will commence the November Term of our Circuit Court.

Professional. We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Dr. Bond, in another column of to-day's issue.

The Bradford-Schenck Imbrolio. We are gratified to learn that this affair, which promised at one time to be a little serious in its character, has been amicably adjusted between the parties.

ENGLISH SYMPATHY WITH THE SOUTHERN CONFEDERACY. From the Liverpool Mercury, Oct. 17.

A numerous meeting (not confined to those of Southern views) was held yesterday at the rooms of the Southern Club, M. Victor Poutz in the chair.

Mr. Hope, who was received with hearty cheering, said he believed he was addressing the representatives of two great nations, his own and the Confederate nation.

The tender grass, the budding flowers, The gurgling brooks reflect his light; Gold rays rest on the mountain top.

LETTER FROM A MARYLAND PRISONER IN RICHMOND. LIBERTY PRISON, RICHMOND, NOV. 3.

To the Editor of the Catholic Mirror: Sir—Supposing that a letter from this quarter might be interesting to your readers as well as gratifying to our friends at home.

There are now more than nine hundred officers confined in this prison, (25 of them are from the 5th, 2 from the 7th, and 9 from the 9th Maryland regiments.)

Among those necessities, and the one most valued by Catholics, namely, the performance of our religious duties as well as assisting at divine service, we have had an opportunity of enjoying both through the Christian charity and kindness of heart of the Right Rev. John McGill, Bishop of Richmond.

It is unnecessary for me to praise the clearness and ability of one so justly celebrated in the religious world as this gifted prelate; it is sufficient to say that he was listened to with the most respectful attention.

Among the melancholy incidents varying our monotonous life was the death of Captain J. P. Gleason. He was attended in his last moments by the Rev. Mr. McMullen, and died as a Christian should, content and submissive to the will of God.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant, JOHN CARROLL, Captain 5th Maryland Volunteers.

MARRIED. In Baltimore city, on Tuesday, the 3rd instant, Wm. H. Drury to Mrs. Loretta Ford, both of this county.

fire to the city of Brunswick are they required before the Federal forces.

A negro girl, belonging to Miss Indiana Armstrong, of this county, was lodged in jail on Sunday last, upon the charge of house burning.

The news from Europe shows that the prospect of a general European war, during the next year, is again brightening.

Several small boats, the supposed property of "contraband" runners, have been seized by the military authorities during the past week.

ing between England and a nation which has grown up on the foundation of the most ancient and most respected, and most renowned of the British Colonies her dear children, Virginia and the Carolina. (Loud cheering.)

Lift Up Thine Eyes. BY JENNIE YATES.

Lift up thine eyes, then child of earth! Why toil along with downcast head, Is there no nobler work below Than sweating for thy daily bread?

No upward glance, to note the land That scatters gifts! brute-like to plod And seek to satisfy with husks, Shaming thyself and grieving God?

Lift up thine eyes! The Snow and Rain The Wind and Dew perform a part; They nurse the seed thy hand has sown And cause the germ of life to start.

How bright the Sun! the lofty trees But lift their boughs to meet his beams, While through the leaflets fresh and warm The light in healthful radiance gleams.

The tender grass, the budding flowers, The gurgling brooks reflect his light; Gold rays rest on the mountain top.

He gently sinks beneath the cloud That rises snowy in the west; And lo! the Moon with placid face Looks out upon a world at rest.

In concert bright the gleaming Stars Now gild the paths our feet have trod; And wisdom bids us lift our eyes And note the wonders of our God.

Alas! alas! while nature teems With nurturing tones of love and praise, Shall only man with sullen brow Plod onward, brute-like, all his days?

We'll raise our eyes and voices too, Adoring His most bounteous Hand,— While virtue swells our hearts with love, May knowledge glorify the land.
