STATE LEGISLATURE

TUESDAY, APRIL 4.

The house at the morning session adopted the report of the committee on prisons and reformatories and went on record as opposing any change in the laws relating to the method of fixing the price of state binding twine. Bills were passed:

Authorizing county commissioners to appropriate money to towns in counties changing from county system of caring for the poor.

Declaring certain dogs to be public nuisances and providing for destruction of the same.

Continuing in its persistent assault on general orders the senate disposed of 47 pending bills, temporarily at least, of which 20 were measures originating in the senate and 27 from the house. The calendar was not taken up.

The county option bill was defeated in the senate at the morning session by a vote of 24 to 13.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 5.

The Underleak anti-trust bill came up as a special order in the senate and was passed by a unanimous vote.

The bill of Senator Schellbach, which aims to test the right of the state to alter gross earnings taxes on railroads operating under the old charters, by proceeding against the Chicago Great Western, was passed without trouble.

The Wilson bill, putting the oil inspector on a salary of $3,400 a year in lieu of the fee system now in vogue, was defeated.

The house devoted the morning to work on the calendar. The bill increasing the salary of Warden Wolfer was passed.

The game and fish bill occupied the time of the house in the afternoon and was recommended to pass. The principal changes made in the law are that spring shooting is restored. The season for deer is changed from Oct. 25 to Nov. 15 to Nov. 1 and Nov. 20. The license section limits the shooting to elk, deer, caribou and moose and makes the license $25 for non-resident hunters and 25 cents for resident hunters.

THURSDAY, APRIL 6.

Spending all day on the calendar the senate had a very dreary time, but managed to clear the tab of over 40 bills.

Under suspension Senator Snyder's bill providing for a probation officer in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth was passed. Each officer is to attend the municipal, district and probate courts and is empowered to take children under 18 years, after sentence has been pronounced, and to keep them on probation during one year while sentence is suspended.

A bill to reach another class of delinquent children was passed in the form of S. F. 400, by Senator Potter. It provides for truant officers in every school district of the state.

When the house adjourned at 6 o'clock there was but little to show for it. The greater part of the day was taken up in the discussion on the peddlers' bill, which was killed.

FRIDAY, APRIL 7.

The governor sent a message to the house vetoing the Hastings-Anoka insane hospital measure upon the ground that it was against both humanity and economy.

Much of the morning session of the senate was given to the Staples timber and mineral taxation bill, which was recommended for passage.

The senate devoted a large part of the afternoon session to discussing its game bills, and, with the exception of forbidding spring shooting, the measures recommended tally with those passed by the house.

The Halvorson bill, putting the oil inspector on a salary, was killed.

The house, by a vote of 65 to 38, passed the bill of Senator Grindeland requiring grain and other commission merchants to give bonds to the railroad and warehouse commission.

SATURDAY, APRIL 8.

The senate debated the Peterson bill to reduce the rate of interest and extend the time of payment on state lands. The bill finally went to the calendar. Several other bills of less importance were also placed on the calendar.

The O'Neil bill providing for a modified Torrens system of land transfers was debated at length and finally, on motion of Mr. O'Neil, went to the calendar.

Governor Lind sent three messages to the house. The first related to the binding plant at the penitentiary. The governor favored an enlargement of the plant now there. The second message refers to the interest on state funds deposited in banks. Message No. 3 directed attention to chapter 97, General Laws of 1897, relating to the collection of personal taxes.

The McGowan eight hour bill and the O'Neil bill raising the legal school age to six years, were killed.

MONDAY, APRIL 10.

The Younger parole bill of Senator Wilson was beaten in the house by the decisive vote of 31 to 68.

The Kinne good roads bill was indefinitely postponed.

As a result of the two sessions of the senate 45 bills were advanced on their way toward becoming laws. About 20 of these have yet to pass the house.

The substitute twine bill, H. F. 164, passed the senate at the morning session. An amendment was adopted striking out the clause requiring farmers who buy twine to make affidavit of the number of acres under cultivation which will require the use of binding twine.

Another bill of great importance passed was H. F. 273, establishing a board of appeals for the inspection of grain, the governor to appoint a board of six, three of whom shall constitute a board of appeals for the inspection of grain at Minneapolis, and the other a similar board at Duluth.

PANNA'S DEADLY RIOT.

Seven Persons Killed and Nine Wounded During the Disturbance.

PANA, Ills., April 11.—A deadly riot, the most serious disturbance that has occurred here since the union miners instigated a strike in April, 1898, was enacted during the morning, resulting in seven persons being shot to death and nine wounded. The dead are: Frank Coburn, citizen; Xavier Leococq, Frenchman, union miner; four negro men; one negro woman.

The situation quieted down at night-fall and no more trouble was looked for. Adjutant General Reece, Colonel A. E. Culver and three companies of infantry arrived at 6 o'clock on special trains and perfect order was maintained throughout the town from that time on. Half a dozen more companies of infantry are on the way from different towns in the state. On arriving the soldiers immediately began patrolling the streets throughout the entire town. Miners stood about in groups talking, but there were no outward manifestations of excitement.

Cause of the Disturbance.

The rioting was the direct result of the shooting of Henry Stevens, the leader of the non-union miners, by Deputy Sheriff Cheney while resisting arrest.

number of shots during which Xavier Leococq, a Frenchman, was shot and killed and Stevens wounded. When the first shots had been fired the whistle of the electric light plant was blown as a signal for the citizens, the majority of whom had long ago been sworn as deputies, to turn out armed ready to fight. At the same time the miners of the Pana and Penwell mines, which are located near the center of town, rushed into the tipples and opened fire on the thronged streets, the news that Stevens, one of their number, had been shot and arrested, arousing them to a pitch of fury. They shot at any living mark in sight, and, as a result, among their victims are three women, two of whom are white, wounded, and one negro woman dead.

Indiscriminate Shooting.

Frank Coburn was killed, by a bullet from the Penwell tower. He was the local agent for the Milwaukee Brewing company and was in the doorway of his bottling house near the Penwell coal mine when killed.

Frank Landsworth, a grocer's delivery boy, was delivering goods near the Penwell mine and was wounded in the forehead, but not fatally.

Carrie Felix, a waitress at the Harrison hotel, was shot in the side by a bullet that entered the kitchen window from the Pana mine tipple.

Albert Vickers was wounded while standing on the Big Four station platform.

Farmer George Kimball was wounded just as he stepped from a Big Four train.

The three unknown negro men were killed in the Flatham district adjacent to the Pana mines. The dead unknown negro woman was also killed in this district.

DOZEN LIVES LOST.

Ice Gorge on the Yellowstone at Glendive, Mon., Results in an Overflow.

GLENDIVE, Mon., April 10.—An ice gorge in the Yellowstone river at this point caused the stream to overflow, drowning 12 persons. Three spans of the steel bridge were washed out, causing a loss of $25,000; the Northern Pacific tracks are inundated and possibly washed away for some distance, and the loss to live stock by drowning will involve a large sum. The dead are: Mrs. R. W. Snyder, wife of rancher; Miss Nellie Reagan, her niece; Miss Rose Wybrecht, a visitor to the Snyder ranch; George F. O'Connor, and James Sullivan, wife and six children.

The ice began moving at 7:30 in the evening and continued flowing until 9:30 p. m., when it formed a gorge. The Snyder party, noticing the backwater, started for the Northern Pacific tracks.

Hoping to Escape Drowning. but before they covered half the distance the water was waist deep and they took refuge in a tree. O'Connor was the first to be washed from the tree, Mrs. Snyder the second and Miss Wybrecht the third. A huge piece of ice struck the tree and broke it in two, carrying off Miss Reagan.

Later developments found eight more persons who were victims of the overflow, making 12 in all. They comprised the entire family of James Sullivan, wife and six children, whose residence is within 200 yards of the nearest point of the Yellowstone river. When Sheriff Aiken and Charles Parker crossed the river amidst the floating ice they found the Sullivan residence with doors and windows open and the entire family dead in the room.

BANDITTI NUMEROUS.

They Are Proving a Serious Menace at Santiago.

HOLGUIN, Province of Santiago de Cuba, April 9, via Havana, April 11.—The banditti question in this province is assuming much more serious proportions. In spite of the fact that there have been many arrests in the neighborhood of Sancti Spiritus, including the principal leaders, the number of outlaws is increasing instead of diminishing.

ishing. The gendarmes are practically worthless unless they are with American troops.

PHILIPPINE CASUALTIES.

Early Twelve Hundred Americans Killed or Wounded Since Feb. 4.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The casualties in the Philippines from Feb. 4, 1899, inclusive, as reported to the adjutant-general are: Killed 184, wounded 976; total 1,160.

Treaty Is in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The exchange copy of the Spanish-American peace treaty has reached Washington. It is now in the hands of the French ambassador, M. Cambon, who will at once arrange with the state department for the final exchange of ratification.

Like everything else they take hold of, the new mission on behalf of animals has assumed something of the nature of a furor with the Parisians. The new journal L'Ami des Bêtes is the latest French novelty, and all the sentimentalists of the nation are sending their best wishes to it in the shape of epigrams. M. Lavisse sees in animals "une vague humanité." M. Mezieres is convinced that we have wasted too much time on men and not enough on dogs, and M. Coppee thinks that cats see more of heaven than we do. One of the writers declares that the animals ought to be tended in their last moments by sisters of charity. It was Lamartine who said his dogs were the only ones who read his thoughts and responded to them without criticism.

Congress passed the bill appropriating $500,000 for the Buffalo Pan-American exposition in 1901, but it occasioned some unusual irony. One member wanted to know when this show business was to stop. Another described the peripatations of the government exhibitions over the country with farcical effect and cautioned the Buffalo member to take good care of it, as it would be needed later at Detroit, St. Louis and Toledo. Good humor, however, prevailed, and the bill was passed.

After a ten years' fight against the sweatshops of New York, State Factory Inspector O'Leary said recently, "Yes, they are there yet, and they always will be there so long as there are ignorance and idleness, and immigration keeps the supply far above the demand." This is another evidence that some of the worst wrongs of society cannot be reached through legislation, but only through education and the moral redemption of the individual.
