FRIDAY, JUNE 29.

The Freeman's Choice.

Who is Bill McKinley's boss?
Mark Hanna is! Mark Hanna is!
Paid his debts off every cent,
Took and made him president:
Then because he did his way,
Wants him there another day.
Mark Hanna does! Mark Hanna does!

So don't vote for Hanna's man,
And don't vote for Platt's man;
Vote for the people's man,
His own man, Bryan.

Who is bossing Roosevelt?
Old Tom Platt is! Old Tom Platt is!

When he came back from the war,
Took and made him governor;
Then because he did his will,
Wants him moved up higher still,
Old Tom Platt does! Old Tom Platt does!

So don't vote for Hanna's man,
And don't vote for Platt's man;
Vote for the people's man,
His own man, Bryan!

Who is bossing Bryan now?
The people are! The people are!
He toadies to no millionaire;
No Standard oil his will can square
So don't vote for Hanna's man,
No tariff trust nor syndicate
But gives to Bryan bitter hate—
The people know! The people know!

So don't vote for Hanna's man,
And don't vote for Platt's man;
Vote for the people's man,
His own man, Bryan.

Wallace Rice.

Bryan Versus McKinley.

William J. Bryan has opinions and the courage to defend them.

William McKinley also has opinions, but lacks courage and never sticks to them.

Bryan has faith in the people and stands up for their rights.

McKinley has no faith in the people and sacrifices their rights at the demand of the trusts.

Bryan opposes imperialism and works for freedom and a republican form of government.

McKinley champions imperialism and works for an aristocracy of money at the expense of the people.

Bryan opposes the trusts which rob the people, enslave workingmen and kill competition.

McKinley fosters and protects the trusts regardless of the people and uses all his influence to make the rich richer, which has also the result of making the poor poorer.

Bryan has a practical plan to restrain the trusts and if elected president he will put it into execution.

McKinley has no plan to restrain trusts and if he did have such a plan the trust managers, who own him body and soul, would not allow him to enforce it.

Which of these two men would best serve the people of the president of United States?

There is no choice between them. Bryan stands for all the people desire in the way of justice and protection. McKinley represents the trusts and imperialism and ignores the people.

The people are going to elect a president next autumn. Will they put in a friend or an enemy in the White House.—Chicago Democrat.

AFTER THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

HANNA AND LITTLE MACK WILL MAKE A CALL.
—National Watchman.

MINNEAPOLIS TIMES PHILADELPHIA SPECIAL ON REPUBLICAN CONVENTION:
SECRETLY THIS TREMENDOUS CORPORATE INFLUENCE IS THE MOST IMPORTANT FORCE IN THE GATHERING ORGANIZATION WHICH WILL MAKE UP THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION. THE CORPORATIONS WILL WORK IN SECRET UNTIL THEY ARE COMPELLED TO SHOW THEIR HAND. IT IS ONLY GUESSING AS TO THE PART THAT HANNA IS TAKING, BUT HE HARDLY WILL RUN CONTRARY TO THE MEN WHO WILL CONTRIBUTE SO MUCH MONEY.

—OTTO CARMICHAEL.

Vote for McKinley and Roosevelt and get four more years of revenue stamps and war.

Dr. C. H. Kohler, the eye and ear specialist of Minneapolis, has gone to Europe for a visit.

The Chicago Times-Herald (Rep.) says Roosevelt's nomination makes it almost certain that New York will go democratic.

Neely, the Cuban postal thief, is the same man who hired shouters to follow Debs through Indiana in 1896 to yell "jail bird" at Debs.

Governor Altgeld, felicitous in phrases as usual, says the republican ticket is a combination of hypocritical, cant, pompous posing and strenuous strutting.

The bouncing blatherskite nominated by the republicans for vice-president, wrote his own biography and boasted of the number of people he had killed. He appropriated the glory of San Juan, when official records show that the colored troops saved the Rough Riders over and over again.

Married.

John Measure and Katie Zerwas were married at Melrose Tuesday morning. Their numerous friends here will wish them every happiness. The young couple have gone to housekeeping on the West side, near the Lincoln school.

Miss Lena Mix, sister of Mrs. E. L. Guinn of Little Falls, was married at Brainerd Wednesday to James Elkington, of Grand Forks, N. D.

T. C. Gordon's family are settled in camp at Birch lake.

The Transcript denies the Herald's statement that the service at the King fire was "slow." One of the oldest members of the fire department, who was at the fire as soon as anyone, says the Herald is right, and that the Transcript prevaricates.

Winnepago tribe of Red Men has elected the following officers: Sachem—F. W. Lyon. Sr. Sagamore—W. H. Hall. Jr. Sagamore—Al. Dugas. A. T. Kasloky. E. H. Enke, Chas. Shepherd. Frank Rohlfus and Mat Zerwas were initiated Friday evening.

A countryman saw for the first time a school girl go through gymnastic exercises for the amusement of the little ones at home. After gazing at her with looks of interest and compassion for some time he asked a boy near if she had fits.

"No," replied the boy, "them's gymnastics."
"Ah, how sad!" said the man; "how long's she had 'em?"

Died.

Mrs. Chas. Armstrong died at 9:30 last Friday morning, of bowel disease, aged 23 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were formerly residents of Little Falls, but for about two years had been living at Hammond, Indiana. Mrs. Armstrong's health failed and she came to visit relatives here about a month ago, and Mr. Armstrong went to Montana.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning in order that Mr. Armstrong might be present. Services were held at the Methodist Episcopal church and the remains interred in Oakland.

Mrs. Armstrong leaves, besides her husband, a little son three years old. Her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Reid, live in Little Falls.

T. W. Palmer held services in the Baptist church at Long Prairie last Sunday.

Miss Etta and Olive Patterson left Sunday to spend the summer at Collingwood, Ontario.

Talking machines—instruments that will record and reproduce speech or any sound—have been before the public in one form or another for twenty years. The most advanced type of the talking machine is the Graphophone. In the popular mind there is considerable misapprehension and confusion regarding the correct designation of these instruments. The words "Graphophone" and "Phonograph" being frequently misused as having the same meaning. The name "Phonograph" was given to the first crude model which demonstrated that sound could be recorded and reproduced mechanically; but this early model was unsuited to practical every-day use. The "Graphophone" was the first practical talking machine and the U. S. Patent office has put all similar inventions into one class, designating them "Graphophones."

For entertainment, for instruction, for practice use, or for any purpose for which a talking machine may be desired, the Graphophone is unequalled. The Graphophone process is the simplest, the best and only successful one for recording and the reproducing speech or sound. Great improvements recently made, embodied in machines that reproduce music and other sounds with the full volume and vibrant power of the original, at the same time preserving the original melody and tone-quality, are due to the discovery and application in the laboratory and factory of the American Graphophone company. (better known to the public through its selling department, The Columbia Phonograph company), of new principles which have revolutionized the art. The resulting type of Graphophone known as the "Grand" gives a sound volume many times greater than has ever before been attained.

Full information regarding entertainment Graphophones of all styles, and machines that serve as substitutes for stenographers for dictating and transcribing correspondence, is contained in the Columbia Phonograph company's catalogue. See the advertisement of this company in our advertising columns.
