

MORRILL

Mch. 4—Wm. McKitchen came home from his home at Flag Springs, Ky., where he has been visiting this winter.

Minert Larson has hay to sell at $2.50 per ton.

Slidding is very poor now, and the men who were working in the woods here, are leaving for their homes elsewhere.

S. W. Ryan of Royalton is working on his place in our town.

Wm. Ferguson is an old resident in Morrill and is as well acquainted with different sections of land here as anyone well could be, and will carefully show anyone here, who wish to make selections of forty-acre tracts or more.

There is a goodly number of people sick. The prevailing complaints are grip and rheumatism.

Herb. Hlais will visit Royalton on Friday. He found road, not for her wagon or sled.

Miss Pearl Hatten of Little Falls, who has been visiting the Cneley girls for a few days, returned to her home on Friday.

A man named Duffy visited our town in the interest of a company who wants to sell creamery machinery. Mr. D. was a pretty good talker and got the majority of us interested in an institution of that kind. Surely Morrill is a land of milk and honey and there is a class of citizens here that will carry a creamery to completion if they undertake it.

The Morrill correspondent wishes, that the Parling scribe would affix a star to humorous items and have those of a more profound nature not embellished. He doesn't want to go to war with that Darlingness, neither does he want to take to the woods on such a flimsy warning.

Our literary society is still having very entertaining meetings each recurring Saturday evening. The question "Resolved, that the lawyer has done more to advance civilization than has the minister" was won by the negative speakers on last Saturday evening. The question, "Resolved, that Mrs. Nation is right in what she is doing down in Kansas," is on deck for the next meeting and promises to be of unusual interest.

DARLING

EAST DARLING

Mch. 5—There was a caucus Saturday night at Darlingschool house, and there will be another next Saturday at 8 o'clock p. m. at the same place. There will be some good speeches made. You will hear the two from Section 26. One who ought to be a lawyer, and one a minister. Some have got offices, some don't want any, some couldn't get offices if they wanted them. We hope a good set of men will be elected.

There is going to be attempt to separate the town from the village of Randall. The people outside the village are in favor of the move.

The railroad company still refuses to put up a depot, saying there is not sufficient business. Business increases here constantly, one man shipped 90 cords of wood this winter. Our trouble is that we can't get cars when we want them.

WEST DARLING

That Section 33 man who wrote that article in March, 1898, about so many wolves around Darling, thereby keeping settlers away, never had any good excuse to give for telling that untruth. There is no sense in saying there is no need of a depot, postoffice or store here. They will come, anyhow, in spite of the kickers.

Feed is so high and eggs so low-priced just now that many farmers are killing their chickens.

GILBERT

March. 5.—Well, here we are again after a three-months vacation.

Hans Isackson of Royalton was up to take a load of lumber on the return trip, Saturday. Mr. Isackson has done considerable logging in this vicinity the past winter and some of the hills have a desolate look as a result.

We have had several religious meetings here the past week, Rev. Johnson of Verdale conducting the services.

Carl and Julius Johnson came down from the woods Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Swan Swanson are reported sick.

Town election the 12th inst. All should turn out and elect the right men.

Town tickets printed at The Herald office.

There is some talk of building a creamery in this vicinity and we would like to hope that it is not without foundation, as this is just what we are looking for.

Chas. Hedlund has been very busy this winter and as a consequence a large stock of cord wood can be seen on his premises.

Tom Tuttle is doing a little logging business this winter which could be expected of one such as T. M. T.

RANDALL

March 5—What is the matter with having some news from Randall? I guess nothing. Well, here we go.

There is a great deal of sickness around here, and our doctor is kept busy. He is meeting with excellent success and fast gaining favor.

F. H. Lucas, the modern (cord) woodman, is about to dispose of all his goods, chattels and household effects. He has not yet decided whether he will sell privately or at public auction. But whether at auction or otherwise, any person wanting to purchase need not hesitate to do so, for everything that Mr. Lucas has got ranks in the first-class line.

Wallace Smith has been under the weather for the past two weeks, but is around again. Hans Gosh is taking his place on the section.

John Dittibaugh captured a large specimen of the cat family last week. He was a vicious beast and made preparations for a battle, but John got the best of him by using a long pole while the wildcat was fast in a trap.

The coming election doesn't seem to be causing much excitement, but there is time enough yet.

C. O. Dolquist is thinking some of renting his farm this season and going, perhaps, to Michigan. Charley is at present a member of our village council. He is one of our very best citizens and will be much missed if he goes away.

Mrs. Gust Bertram, who has been sick for some time, is greatly improved.

The business of the creamery seems to be increasing daily.

P. A. Ban is now receiving the brick for his new dwelling.

No New Thing.

Few people know that the slot machine was invented centuries before our time. Twenty-two centuries ago "Horo" the Grecian mechanic, perfected, a slot machine which stood in the court of one of the temples of Alexander, and was used by worshippers who dropped a coin in the slot to get water with which to wash their hands.

Progress has been made along the lines of greater purity rather than in novelty—for instance, beer as a drink is not new, but "Golden Grain Belt" beer is a comparatively recent perfection, for it stands for purity and perfection a brew that is produced from the best barley malt, flavored with prime hops to make a nourishing, healthful drink. If you need toning up, don't fail to have a case in your house. Order from your nearest dealer or be supplied by JOS. LEDOUX.

State milk inspecting is not a paying office as the appointee has appeared before the voters of this town to elect him assessor for the coming term.

We see Brother Pike Creek has revived and is sympathizing with their barber. We don't blame the barber trying to get a job cutting wood on shares, as he must look out for number one. Last we heard he was trying to trade his razors for wood and if this cold weather keeps on we will undoubtedly have his razors.
