Lamme, assistant chief engineer; Mr. James C. Bennett, auditor.

Mr. Hebard is one of the gentlemen interested in the new electric companies organized here.

Logging News.

Pine River Blaz: Justin Gray, who is logging for the Cross Lake Logging Co. has about one and a half million in. He employs 30 men and 20 horses and is landing his logs in Lake Inquadore where they are taken with the hoister to Cross lake. The Crowley camp on Blackwater has about five million. These logs are cut from M. R. L. Pine Tree and C. A. Smith. The Long lake has about three million in. The Island lake camp will finish up in a few days. This camp is operated by the Cross Lake Co. Blake & Hawken have over three million in and are doing a rushing business. The Cross Lake Co. has a small crew at Gull lake camp skidding. They will probably get one million there for the M. R. L. Co.

Of course, we admit that news must be published when it's news. Attempted robbery of a bank, however, may not come under this definition.

The ladies of the Methodist church will serve a banquet dinner for the old settlers and others, tomorrow. The gentlemen of the church will serve the supper. In connection there will be a sale of fancy and useful articles.

A Song of 1856.

The Morton Enterprise has the following, which will be of interest to old-time Minnesotians:

"The following verses were resurrected from ancient archives by Dr. Richardson of this place a few days ago. They were composed by N. Smith, an aged minstrel, who wandered from one town to another singing them to inform audiences and then selling copies at ten cents each. This was in 1856 when Minnesota was still a territory."

Come all ye noble emigrants that are inclined to roam
Into this Western country to seek you out a home,
If you will be advised by me, I'll tell you what's the best.
Come settle in Minnesota, the Lily of the West.

O, Michigan is not the place, nor Illinois the same,
The soil and climate can't compare in raising of the Grain,
For here our noble farmers raise abundance of the best,
In the plentiful Minnesota, the Lily of the West.

In Eighteen Hundred and Fifty Four I left my native shore,
My worthy friends and native home, never to see them more;
Beside, my aged parents I left among the rest,
And sailed to Minnesota, the Lily of the West.

When I viewed this pleasant country, it filled me with surprise,
To see these large prairies, and fields of grain likewise;
You call into a cabin, you are always a welcome guest,
That's the fashion in Minnesota, the Lily of the West.

I viewed those jolly farmers toiling at their plows,
Likewise the pretty maids, a milking of the cows;
I viewed these lovely housewives with their domestic wealth,
They're the darlings of Minnesota, the Lily of the West.

Our lands they yield spontaneously, Potatoes, Corn and Grain,
The climate is also healthful, with frequent showers of rain;
There's plenty fish in every stream and game in the forest,
We have pleasures in Minnesota, the Lily of the West.

Our pleasant burghs and villages they decorate the soil;
The architect mechanic most manfully doth toil;
We have churches here of every sect, and schooling of the best,
We have industry in Minnesota, the Lily of the West.

We have a flowing commerce upon our inland seas,
Where lofty ships and steamboats do sail continually,
We have mariners here both stout and brave, and masters of the best,
We have all things in Minnesota, the Lily of the West.

Here is health unto the sailor and the farmer likewise,
Also unto the merchants for them we highly prize,
The foolish quack and lawyer, they are the only pest
We have here in Minnesota, the Lily of the West.

Come all my brother wild cats that's heard me sing my song,
I hope you'll excuse me if I've said any wrong,
I hope you will correct it for I have done my best,
We are all brothers in Minnesota, the Lily of the West.

Booth a Morphine Fiend.

The Akeley Independent says that A. L. Booth, who forged time checks on the Nichols Lumber Co., is a morphine fiend, and was under the influence of the drug at the time.

Booth claims to have been an officer in Roosevelt's Rough Riders. His parents live in Oklahoma. The Independent says:

When confronted with the awful crime of forgery, the pleadings of Booth were pitiful. The enormity of his crime became painfully apparent, and although a big strong man, he broke down like a baby. The influence of morphine had subsided. The thoughts of the disgrace to his mother and father, who are estimable Christian people, was worse than a felon's cell.

The time orders stolen, and not located, were returned to Judge Whipple at Akeley Friday.

An Electric Line Northward.

Pine River Blaz: Little Falls is having electric railways built to its surrounding towns. Little Falls is not far from here and we see no reason why they shouldn't run a line up through Motley, Hazel Dell, Pine River and terminating at Grand Rapids. That would take it through a fine country and would be the best paying road in this part of the country when the logging business is over and farming has taken its place. The M. & I. has aimed at the logs and consequently will be at a disadvantage when the logs are gone.

A report that The Herald contemplates issuing a daily edition brought so many inquiries and expressions of good will, that it looks as if a good many people in Little Falls are "just a pining" to see a real daily in this city.

Minneapolis News-Letter: Senator Jepson, who makes speaker Dowling's wooden legs, was seen in conference with the speaker just after prayers the other day. "Mike is still worshipping his creator," remarked an irreverent lawsmith from Brainerd.

Millaca Times: Martin Engstrom, clerk at Flink's store, has taken a two weeks' vacation which he spent in Little Falls, and will resume work next Monday. Martin is a steady, industrious young man and will make his mark in the business world some day.

A Perry editor stated that a certain girl's breast was filled with rage and that wise guy, the printer, got "rage" and now the editor is camping on a rise northeast of town, where he can get a good view of the landscape from four different directions. --Valley Junction.

John Orman, of Waverly, Bremer county, Iowa, has rented a farm near Henry Wittur's place, Green Prairie. He will move his family there and will run the place this season. Mr. Orman, like the host of sturdy and intelligent farmers Iowa and Southern Minnesota send here, is heartily welcome.

Mrs. Belle Warner of Verdala has been granted a divorce from her husband, J. C. Warner, on grounds of cruelty and non-support. Mrs. Warner was formerly Mrs. Belle Wood of Little Falls, and is well known here. Her first husband was an employe of the N. P. Ry. She was married to Warner in July, 1900.

The people of Swanville have forwarded a petition to the representatives in this district in the legislature asking that legislation be secured for the drainage of the big marsh east of the village. It is to be hoped that the petition will be effectual, and that one of the obstacles to the growth of that section of the county be removed.

Eagle Bend Cor. Long Prairie Argus: Milwaukeee Johnson No. 1 from Little Falls is visiting his brother, No. 2, and if his brother can sell out here they will buy a farm near St. Paul of 300 acres with 240 under cultivation and 60 of meadow. They think there are greater advantages there than here. Our friend No. 2 came here last summer and built for him a fine dwelling and besides opened up quite a field. We want more such men to locate in our community although we don't want to wish our neighbors any bad luck, but we want to retain him as our neighbor.

Herman Enterprise: It was not long after the arrival of Chas. Pullman, before his father came to Herman. The old gentleman was a Baptist preacher and was always spoken of as "Father Pullman." He was a man of great ingenuity and secured patents on several important inventions now generally used by locomotive trains, but he realized little if anything from his efforts and died a poor man. It must have been some time in 1875 that he first preached to a Herman audience.

The meeting was held in the depot and his sermon was the first ever preached here in the English language. Those who knew him always speak of him with great reverence and there can be no doubt that he was a very good man.

A crowd of Aug. Christensen is suffering with measles.

Marion Richardson will be 73 years old--young--Feb. 24th.

The March term of district court will convene a week from next Monday.

Organizer J. C. Rousseau of the C. O. F., was in the city Saturday and Monday. Mr. Rousseau lives at Annandale, Wright county. He says the order is steadily growing.

A. E. Whitbeck, formerly of Little Falls, now of St. Cloud, was in the city Friday. Mr. Whitbeck will move to a farm near Minot, N. D., in the spring and wishes to sell his house here.

The Prohibition state committee wants Morrison county members of the party to hold a convention March 20th, to elect delegates to the state convention, which will meet at Minneapolis March 25th and 26th. This county is entitled to four delegates.

J. J. Trutwin sold his farm in North Prairie--200 acres--for $5000, to John Spear, from Wisconsin, who takes possession in March. Mr. Trutwin bought 160 acres in Swan River, from Geo. Kay, for $4000, and will move there in March. Mr. Trutwin gives a good example to farmers of Morrison county who sell their farms, by buying another and staying in the county.

Schleusener Objects.

When the hearing on the request of Otto Schleusener to be appointed guardian for his father, H. F. Schleusener, came up before Judge Richardson Saturday, E. P. Adams appeared for Mr. Schleusener, saying that he had been retained to act for him, and showed a telegram saying he would be back in two weeks. Lindbergh & Blanchard appeared for the son. Mr. Adams asked for a postponement to March 1st, which was granted.

Mr. Schleusener left the city about three weeks ago. He has been for years a prominent business man and by energy and thrift accumulated a large fortune.

The trouble in the family has been known to the community for some time. Mrs. S. has applied for a divorce.

Glad to See Him Back.

The following concerning a gentleman formerly prominent in Little Falls, is from the Royalton Banner: "J. C. Flynn--The name has a familiar sound. Once a citizen of Little Falls, prominent in politics, a representative in the legislature, an unsuccessful candidate for the senate, a business man controlling large and varied interests, and then failure, we might say bankruptcy, such was his career. He left Little Falls a few years ago empty of purse and broken in spirit to try his fortune at the head of the lakes. Here by judicious mining investments and extensive business he has won back all he lost and more. He has concluded to take up his abode in Little Falls again, go into business and perhaps enter politics."

Mr. Flynn was in the city several days this week. He is looking very well, and says he feels well. He did not deny the matters affirmed in the Banner. It is very probable that Mr. Flynn will return to Little Falls and there are likely to be interesting political developments when he does.

One Bridge Bid--Rejected.

The city council met in regular adjourned session Saturday evening. Judges of election for the city election March 18th, were appointed as follows:

A resolution was passed authorizing the city treasurer to transfer $1000 from the sewer to the revenue fund, to be replaced in ninety days.

W. S. Hewitt & Co. of Minneapolis presented the only bid for piers for the new bridge. It was $16,800.

The council went into executive session, and rejected the bid, which is understood to have been about the same as the engineer's figures.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for new bids, to be opened March 3d.

The street committee was authorized to take charge of the stone crusher.

Alderman Lane introduced an ordinance establishing a Fourth ward out of the second precinct of the Second ward. It was defeated, Lane, Bracke and Kiewel voting aye; Vertin, Burton, Peterson and Denis voting nay.

Married.

Miss Grace Winifred Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hill, and Edward M. LaFond, were married at the residence of the bride's parents, Tuesday evening, Feb. 19th, at 8 o'clock, by Rev. E. M. Atwood of the Baptist church. The bride wore pale blue mousseline de soie and carried white roses. Miss Millicent Hill, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and wore pale blue silk and carried red roses. Ralph Nichols was best man. The rooms were prettily decorated, and the ceremony took place in a bower arranged in a corner of the parlor. Miss Eva Hill played the wedding march. After the ceremony a wedding lunch was served. Only near relatives and some intimate friends were present at the marriage.

The young couple were born and raised in Little Falls. The bride was graduated from the St. Cloud Normal school, and taught in the city schools for several years. She is an accomplished young lady. The groom is the foreman of the Transcript composing room, and a young man of many good traits.

We wish the young people a long continued married life and abundant prosperity.

The Commercial Bulletin and Northwest Trade comments very favorably on P. J. Tomelty's methods of advertising. Our readers will have an opportunity to consider the Tomelty advertising, as Mr. Tomelty contracted this week with The Herald Company for a large amount of advertising space.

Jas. F. Kimball and family, for many years residents of Ripley, went to Oregon last December, returned last week. They were at The Dallas, ninety miles east of Portland. Mr. Kimball says the climate out west is too damp, and people in general not doing better than here. He will stay in this county, and he may go into business in Little Falls.
