Head, Brain and Genius.

It has long been a popular belief, especially since the invention of phrenology, that the size and shape of the head are intimately related to the intellectual capacity. The results of statistical investigation, however, force the conclusion and there exists no correlation between ability and the size or shape of the head. Ability is generally a synonym for hard work, and hard work is best accomplished by using golden grain belt beer regularly as a tonic and nerve food. It is so delicious and refreshing, you'll never think of its being a medicine. Order of your dealer or Jos. M. Ledoux, Little Falls.

The Minneapolis Journal has a scheme whereby any one subscribing to that paper for one year can get a $1,000 accident policy, good for one year, for 50 cents in addition to the cost of the paper.
