Bishop Whipple's Memorial Tower.

(Letter in the Boston Transcript)

About 25 years ago, after John Walters of the London Times had finished a tour through United States, he was asked by George W. Childs what had most impressed him in the West. "Bishop Whipple's schools in Minnesota," was the unhesitating reply. If the writer, who has just returned from our splendid great West, were asked the same question, he would as unhesitatingly answer, "the tower now in process of erection of Bishop Whipple's cathedral in Faribault, Minn." This cathedral, which has the honor of being the first Protestant cathedral erected in the United States, has the far greater honor of being the mausoleum of the great first bishop of Minnesota, for under its altar rests the body of that grand Christian hero and educator and fearless champion of the red man.

Begun in honor of Bishop Whipple, before his death, the tower has since become a memorial to him, gifts for its completion coming from all over our own country and from foreign lands. The names of the givers are preserved in parchment illuminated text, and already the book has grown to fair proportion. Treasured as it is to be in this tower, it will show to generations yet unborn, by its remarkable list of names, the place which the founder of the diocese of Minnesota held in the hearts of many people. Distinguished and titled names are followed by the humblest, and close upon the names of the archbishops of Canterbury and York, the bishops of London, Winchester, etc., and that brilliant friend of Carlyle, Lady Ashburton, come those of the different tribes of Indians, while churchmen, Roman Catholics, Protestants of all denominations, are flanked by the colored people of the South. In one case an offering was made by every man, woman and child of a colored town in Florida. The tower is more than half finished and is called "The Bishop's tower," but "The Tower of the Reconciliation" would be a fitting name, and it is safe to say there never has been and never will be another such a monument in America.

Mrs. Frank Heroux entertained the ladies of the French Catholic church at her home Wednesday.

Jac. Kiewel attended a meeting of the brewers of this part of the state at St. Cloud this week. The St. Cloud Journal-Press says that the brewers decided in the future to charge the saloon men 50 cents for each keg delivered, the amount to be deducted when the keg is returned.

A number of Elks went to Brainerd Saturday to attend the celebration of the second anniversary of the organization of the Elks lodge at Brainerd. In the afternoon there was a game of baseball. The Brainerd Elks defeated the St. Cloud Elks 5 to 3. During the game Jim Nolan of the Brainerds was hit over the left ear by a pitched ball, and for a time it was feared that he was badly hurt, but he recovered. In the evening there was a social session, in which the Brainerd Elks showed that they knew well how to entertain.

THE NESSIAN FLY IN MINNESOTA Methods of Prevention.

This wheat pest is alarmingly on the increase in the state. Its presence in a field may be detected, either before or after cutting, by the fact that some or many of the stalks are bent over above one of the lower joints, their heads lying on the ground. In these stalks, just above the joints which are beneath the breaks in the stalks, one can detect by the use of a pen-knife the puparia or so-called "flax seed" which will later turn into the fly. These "flax seeds" are not really within the stalk, but very closely applied to it within the sheath of the leaf. If the farmer does not want his wheat to suffer next year, these "flax seeds" must be destroyed as soon after cutting as possible. The following are acceptable methods for accomplishing this:

- (1) Burning the stubble when possible. This is more easily done if the wheat is cut short, that is, if long stubbles are left on the field.
- (2) Plowing the stubble in such a way that the straw is completely turned under. This must be done thoroughly to be effective.
- (3) All screening and litter about the thrashing machine should be cleaned up and either fed or burned. Leave no litter from the thrashing on the field. There is no need, however, of burning the straw pile.
- (4) Since the fly lays its eggs, as a rule, in the same locality where it emerges from the "flax seed", it is best not to plant wheat on the same ground two years in succession. This is still done in some places and is a practice which should be stopped. Rotation of crops should be the rule everywhere. Varieties of wheat which produce a stout stalk are the least affected by this pest.

A more complete account of the life history of this insect will be published later in a report from this department.

The Mille Lacs Road.

The committee to select the best route for a road from Little Falls to Mille Lacs lake left Friday morning. A. R. Davidson, M. M. Williams and Chas. Gravel represented the Commercial club, and Commissioners Gross, Tedford and Sullivan the county. The party reached Vineland on the lake Friday evening, and returned to Little Falls Sunday.

It was found that the principal work is needed on a stretch of road about seven miles long. From John Kramer's, seven miles northeast of Pierz, there is a fair road for seven miles, then practically no road until within a few miles of the lake.

The committee found a great desire on the part of the settlers in the lake region for a good road to Pierz and Little Falls. The settlers would much rather go to those points than to Brainerd.

The committee, in co-operation with people of Pierz, selected a route which it is thought will be very satisfactory. It will take a fair amount of money to do the work, and the county and Pierz are willing to do their share. Little Falls should cheerfully do the same. It means the opening up a region great in commercial possibilities.

The city schools will open next Tuesday. Monday is Labor day.

Commissioner Richardson, in charge of the Good Roads train, has written to Secretary C. H. Brown of the Commercial club that the train cannot come here, and those interested will have to go to St. Cloud.
