News of Separate Skirts, Fall Shirt Waists, and Fall Wrappers.

THIS NEW lot of separate skirts, fall shirt waists and fall wrappers are just in this morning. Every garment is chosen for its goodness. It is worth the time spent for you to come here and look this lot of pretty garments over. They are made by the best tailors in America; that means the best in the world because American made garments are today given up to be the world's best.

Tailored Separate Skirts at Little Prices

At $2.75, worth $3.50, a beautiful tailored skirt of heavy suiting with three rows of saten binding, well stitched, with tucked flounce. Altogether a splendid garment.

At $3.50, worth $4.25, a pretty tailored skirt of black or gray broadcloth with corded flounce with 15 rows of stitching. A very swell garment worth a fourth more than we ask for it.

At $4.25, worth $5.20, an extra pretty tailored skirt; the swellest garment you or we have seen this year and you have to see these garments to appreciate their goodness.

Ladies Pretty Fall Shirt Waists

(A FOURTH LESS THAN VALUE)

Every waist in this lot is a special bargain carefully selected by hard to please buyers. We want you Little Falls ladies who are hard to please to come here; we can please you.

At 85c, worth $1.10, a very beautiful flannel waist well tailored and well stitched.

At 89c, worth $1.15, a very nice tailored waist of black saten with 12 tucks in front and 6 in back and looks like a $2 garment. You will say so when you see it.

At $1.35, worth $1.75 a very pretty tailored waist of all wool flannel. A very pretty garment.

Pretty fleeced lined wrappers for ladies

At 73c, worth 98c, a very nice fleeced lined wrapper with flounce and three rows of braid.

At 85c, worth 1.00, a pretty fleeced lined wrapper of heavy fleeced goods and pretty patterns with four rows of braid and flounce.

At $1.00, worth $1.20, a very nice fleeced lined wrapper of heavy fall dress stuff with embroidery trimming and pretty flounce.

THE SIXTH DISTRICT

Minneapolis Journal (Rep.): The bitter fight that is still on for the nomination in the sixth congressional district has caused some alarm in republican circles for the safety of the district. While realizing the closeness of the sixth, republican leaders have all along counted on C. B. Buckman's fighting qualities and his strength among democrats to make him a sure winner. He fell so far below expectations in his vote at the primaries that some concern is now felt for the election. While he will get a number of democratic votes, especially in his own county, the six of the vote against him leads to the fear that he will be out by republicans at the election. Every effort will be made to line up the party solidly for him if he proves to be the nominee for it is considered dangerous to lose a new district. It is a bad precedent for future elections.

Should A. F. Foster win the nomination by contest proceedings he would incur the enmity of the Buckman people, and would hardly poll the full party vote in Morrison and Crow counties. Elsewhere he would probably get the republican vote.

There are very few to spare. Until 1898 the counties that make up the new sixth district were anti-republican. Since then republicans have gained steadily, but even in 1900 their lead was a small one for the state ticket outside of governor, while Lind carried the counties.

Harking back twelve years, and following these counties up to the present, their political complexion was as follows:

In 1890, Combined democratic and populist plurality on congressman, 7,133; on governor, 8,627.

In 1892, on congress, 5,749 democratic; on governor, 7,568 populist.

In 1894, on congress, 1,839 democratic; on governor, 2,506 populist.

In 1896, when most of the counties were in the old sixth and were in the first Towne-Morris contest, the district was 290 fusion on congress, and 3,044 for Lind.

In 1898, when the Stearns county Germans were weaned from Towne entirely but stuck to Lind, the district was 738 republican on congress but 5,203 democratic on governor, and 730 democratic on lieutenant governor.

In 1900 the twelve counties, still divided between Heatwole, Morris and Eldy, gave a republican majority on congressman of 2,257. They gave McKinley a majority of 3,601, but the state ticket fell far below, and it is on that basis that comparison must be made. Block for state treasurer got only 1,166, and Smith for lieutenant governor 304, in the district, while Lind carried it over Van Sant by 1,769.

The sixth district is evidently debatable ground for an off year campaign.

If democrats voted for Foster in the primaries, according to the Transcript's story—is it likely those democrats would vote for Buckman in November? Not in the Third ward, hopelessly republican, we rise again to remark that Foster got 41 votes. Fuller's home, too.

St. Paul Dispatch (23): Col. A. F. Foster protested against the primary election returns before the state canvassing board this morning.

Col. Foster was a candidate against Senator C. B. Buckman for the republican congressional nomination in the Sixth district. The returns showed that he had lost to Buckman by 37 votes.

Col. Foster asked that the vote of Cass county be rejected. In the first place, he thought there was an error in counting the returns. In the next place, the canvassing board, he claimed, had among its members some local candidates. George B. Edgerton appeared for Senator Buckman, and it was arranged that the two should be allowed to scrutinize the official returns in the presence of the board this afternoon, and that the board would hear arguments with regard to the Cass county board.

On the face of the returns Cass county gave Buckman 678 and Foster 459, a majority of 219 for Buckman. Should this be thrown out, Foster would win by a fair majority.

The vote by counties in the Sixth district stood as follows:

VOTE BY COUNTIES
	Buckman.	Foster.
Benton	253	187
Cass	678	459
Crow Wing	960	384
Douglas	598	683
Hubbard	460	381
Meeker	318	961
Morrison	789	325
Sherburne	245	542
Todd	767	1,226
Wadena	481	475
Wright	929	880
Total	6,772	6,735

Buckman's majority 37.

St. Paul Dispatch (24): Col. A. F. Foster of Litchfield was given another hearing before the state board this morning and stated after the meeting that he would contest the nomination of C. B. Buckman in the courts.

He said he would try to take the matter direct to the supreme court, and would ask for an order restraining the secretary of state from placing the name of C. B. Buckman on the official ballot as the candidate for congress. Then he might ask for an order to show cause why his own name should not be substituted for that of Buckman.

"I will make the fight as a matter of principle," said he. "I believe I am entitled to that nomination, because I am convinced that I am the choice of a majority of the legal republican voters of the district. If we allow such matters as this to pass without protest, it opens the way for all sorts of illegitimate practices. There are some precincts in Cass county which return more republican votes than there are white men, women and children within ten miles of the polling places. There are other precincts which I do not care to name at present, where I am convinced that illegal votes were cast." Mr. Foster will have five days from the time the canvass is completed in which to file his complaint and application. He said this morning he would file it before the end of the week.

CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney for Morrison County. I believe I possess the necessary requirements and qualifications for said office, and though I cannot point to past services for the county (this being my first candidacy for any office), as a claim upon the support of the voters, I pledge myself that if elected I will serve the people of this county without fear or favor from anybody, and discharge the duties of said office faithfully and to the best of my ability.

Respectfully yours,
N. N. BERGHEIM,
Little Falls, Minn.

Roger Martin of Bemidji was in the city Monday. He has some big painting contracts on hand, and was looking for workmen.

C. P. Stith of Swanville will make a commissioner who will do good service for his district. He is a taxpayer, owning a piece of land, a house and lot in Swanville. There is but a small normal republican majority in the district and Mr. Stith should easily carry it. The people of Swan River, Culdrum and Elmdale will be wise to stand by the Swanville man.

There seems to be an erroneous impression in some quarters regarding an appropriation by the county for the Mille Laes road. The county commissioners have made no appropriation of any kind for any such purpose. It is quite likely that there is an understanding between a majority of the commissioners, Messrs. Gross, Sullivan and Tedford, that later on there will be help for the road, but Commissioner Lukin has nothing whatever to do with the matter.

The Minneapolis Tribune: "Mr. Kerr is endowed with a remarkably fine voice, the tones of which are distinguished for their brilliancy and power."

J. C. Rosseau, state organizer of C. O. F., was in the city this week.

The celebrated Columbian Concert Opera Co., one of the best of the kind traveling, will appear at Grass Opera House Friday, Oct. 30. Reserved seats at Wetzel's.

The Little Falls Bathing Association is confronted with a deficiency, arising from the unfavorable weather this season. To clear this up, next season tickets are now on sale at $1 each, and all friends of this good improvement should help the association to liquidate its liabilities.

N. Barbeau, Phil. Moran, Henry Houle, and a lot of other well known farmers of Belle Prairie and Ripley, are going to visit the Saskatchewan valley in Canada. Rev. H. L. Vachon of Prince Albert will take charge of the party, which will leave Oct. 1st, and be away about three weeks.

F. Y. Heroux has sold the Colomb farm in Belle Prairie to D. M. Matteson of Stanbury, Mo., who will move with his family onto the place at once. Fred Bugh of Stanbury arrived this week. He bought 160 acres in Belle Prairie from Mr. Heroux some time ago. His family will arrive in a few days.

Wm. Domarus has sold the valuable Columbia hotel property to Chas. L. Nelson of Bellevue, taking in exchange the Nelson farm of 200 acres, one of the best farms in the county. It is a part of the old Rhodes farm. Mr. Von Domarus expects to move his family to the farm soon, and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will then take the hotel, which has become under the von Domarus management, a well paying business.

L. O. T. M. will celebrate Anniversary.

The local lodge of Ladies of the Maccabees will celebrate the tenth anniversary of the order's founding, next Tuesday evening. There will be addresses, music, etc., and a dance to conclude the evening's entertainment.

There were 100,000 women enrolled in the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World, over $70,000,000 of insurance in force, and $2,225,010.32 paid to beneficiaries, up to August 1st. The cost is low, the plan good, and the order is but on the threshold of greater progress.

The local lodge is eight years old and has 130 members. The officers are:

Past Commander—Mrs. D. Corbin.
Commander—Mrs. J. R. Steele.
Record Keeper—Mrs. F. Cary.
Finance Keeper—Mrs. B. J. Hinkle.

Of Mr. C. A. Noonan, the well known tenor of the Columbian Concert Opera Company, the Republican Springfield, Mass., says: "Mr. Noonan's rendition of the 'Angels Ever Bright and Fair,' by Handel, was in every way artistic."

Tuesday was the tenth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Carlson of the West side and a large number of their friends gathered at the home in the evening to celebrate the occasion. A very pleasant evening was spent, and a lot of tinware presented. The guests departed wishing the host and hostess many happy returns of the day.

Chas. Gravel was in from the eastern part of the county, where he is building the road to connect with the Mille Laes district, on Sunday, and left for the scene of work again on Monday afternoon. The work will be completed next week. E. G. Hill is in charge, with eighteen men, five teams, a road grader, scrapers, etc. Mr. Gravel has a camp established for the men. The worst part of the work was finished by Saturday. Dynamite is being used in large quantities to remove stumps and rocks, and Mr. Gravel says the road will be as smooth as a bicycle path, and be one of the best roads in the county.

St. Cloud Journal Press (Rep.): Perhaps the most objectionable feature of the primary law is that the voters have to decide between self seeking candidates. Any man who has the price to file gets his name on the ticket, and this kept better men out of the canvass. Possibly it would be an improvement to require the endorsement of a certain number of petitioners, and while it is not a difficult matter to get men to sign a petition it gives a certain amount of publicity to a candidate's intentions, and prevents a man filing at the last moment, and thus forcing himself upon the party. There is a candidate for senator in a certain district in this state, who was induced to go on the ticket by his political opponent, while the man's party had quite a different plan. In this case the man becomes the candidate of his party, through the adroit manipulations of his political opponents, simply because he is an easy man to defeat. If the primary law is to be retained, it should be improved.
