BUSINESS IS BUSINESS.

The above phrase probably serves to cover more meanness in the human race than any other excuse that was ever invented. You know and everyone knows, a lot of men who are thoroughly good fellows until you come to do business with them and then they throw aside friendship, fairness and everything else, say "Business is business" and proceed to cheat you of house and home. "Business is not business unless it is seasoned with sympathy and kindness". The man who sees golden grain belt beer regularly is sound and healthy in mind and body. He feels right and acts right which is impossible for a sick man. You will enjoy this delicious tonic at home. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Joseph M. Ledoux, Little Falls.

LIKE A FAIRY TALE.

The young should be taught history, strategy, valor and patriotism, and should be taught in the manner to indelibly impress it on their minds. Primitive people from our own world and people from every part of the world, when brought together, from an object lesson that is not soon forgotten. They all tell the tale of how they live; they tell it as nothing else could. To see the Red Man at home, the Cowboy hurl with amazing accuracy his never failing lasso, the Mexican in his favorite sport and occupations, the Ganchos, soldiers from different countries, and the hundreds of other interesting things that go to make up the Luella Forepaugh-Fish Shows, which will be in this city June 8th, leaves a vivid impression that never dies, and causes one to wonder after he has witnessed this startling, realistic exhibition, if he hasn't just stepped from a chapter of the Arabian Nights.
The evocation of light artillery batteries are among the most entertaining of any branch of the army. The Luella Forepaugh-Fish veteran gunners will give an exhibition here June 8th that would make even Dewey proud of them.

Nothing was saved except a bureau, rocking chair, one picture and a few bed covers. There was no insurance on anything in the house and the family have the sympathy of their friends. MR. WHITE AT PRINCETON

Princeton Union: Prof. White came to Princeton five years ago from Warren, Minn., where he was superintendent of schools for three years. His records here in Princeton as superintendent of schools has been beyond censure or criticism, and he has worked faithfully to maintain the standard of the Princeton schools to so high degree. The school board and all who have the best interests of our schools at the heart will regret very much to see Prof. White sever his connection with school work in Princeton, for his work has been marked by faithfulness and close application.
The fact that he secured his position against a good list of opposing candidates, some of whom are much older in school work and have had broader fields, speaks well for Prof. White who is yet young in his school work. He makes the change the same as anyone would make a change—to secure a broader field with more opportunities and also a larger salary. The Princeton school board has always been liberal with its teachers and recognized sufficient merits and ability in Mr. White to justify increasing his salary quite a bit over what was paid him the first year he was superintendent.

EXPLOER GOING TO VISIT LABRADOR AGAIN.

Willard Glazier, whose claim of having discovered the true source of the Mississippi river provoked a great controversy several years ago, and who will be remembered by old settlers as lecturing here more than twenty years ago, when his expedition was on its way south, is again going into the Labrador peninsula. He said to a Chicago paper: "We shall undertake to carry out the original plan of my expedition of last year by going up the Northwest River and over the high of land to the source of the George River, which we propose to descend to Ungava Bay, or to some point near the source of the North or Okak River, which can be descended to the Moravian Mission station at Okak. My expedition will then have traversed the coast and interior of this wild and picturesque region of North America—undoubtedly the least known of any corner of the western hemisphere."
