

BURGLARS GET LITTLE.

ELLENBECKER & GOULET, M. V. WETZEL, WM. RAGAN, HAVE NIGHT VISITORS.

Officer Fred Valentine found the back door of Ellenbecker & Goulet's hardware store open about 4:30 Tuesday morning. Investigation showed that the store had been entered by burglars, who also visited M. V. Wetzel's drug store and Wm. Ragan's saloon, all three buildings being near each other.

The robbers got into the hardware store from the window of the tin shop, which they pried up with an axe, which they afterwards left. The cash register was taken to the back part of the store, and $3.90 taken. With a chisel and hatchet stolen from the store the miscreants next visited the drug store, prying up the back window and breaking the catch. The cash register was taken to the back room, and the pennies taken out and thrown on the floor. Nothing else was touched.

At Ragan's they also pried up a back window breaking the catch, and after drawing the curtain to conceal them, opened the cash register and secured $5.80. They left the chisel and hatchet on the back step. The work was evidently done by some one familiar with the surroundings. Suspicion is directed toward a certain party.

Going to Buy a Bed?

We show a great variety of metal beds. Prices are varied, too. And, we give a big dollar's worth for every dollar of price. For example in any of several colors. A neat, strong, durable and sanitary bed for so little money may seem an impossibility. But, all we ask is that you see the bed itself. And we have other beds at reliable prices, each as much of a bargain as this.

WOMAN FIGHTS MAD BULL.

With Pitchfork She Succeeds in Staying Attack of Animal Upon Husband and Saves His Life.

Armed with a pitchfork, Mrs. James Morton, living near Flanders, N. J., for nearly an hour the other morning kept at bay a vicious bull that had attacked and nearly killed her husband. Two of Morton's children gave the alarm, however, and friends and neighbors rushed to the field, and drove the bull away. Mrs. Morton first saw her husband lying unconscious on the ground, while the bull stood over him. Flourishing a pitchfork she ran forward and drove the prongs four inches into the bull's side. As the animal still continued its attack on her husband, Mrs. Morton again and again jabbed the fork into it until the animal turned and rushed at her.

With a blow on the head Mrs. Morton made the bull pause. She was still standing guard, pitchfork in hand, when the rescuers arrived. Mr. Morton has several of his ribs broken. He was severely injured about the head and chest.

DEPLORABLE DROWNING.

FRED ROCHELEAU LOSES HIS LIFE IN THE MISSISSIPPI.

Fred Rocheleau, aged 19 years, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Ludger Rocheleau of this city, was drowned in the river about six miles north of the city, at about 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The young man was employed by the boom company, in Ed. Lavoi's crew. He had crossed the river, and started back again, some distance from the rest of the crew. While out about half way he slipped or fell off a log into the water, and came up but once. The accident was noticed, and the big boat, nearly half a mile away, at once pulled for the spot. Several of the men dived for the body, which was recovered twenty minutes after the accident occurred. All efforts at revival were in vain, and the body was brought to the city. How the young man came to fall in seems to be a mystery.

Fred has been for awhile helping in his father's saloon on Second street, but of late was employed by the boom company. He was a very industrious and faithful young man, and the death was a terrible shock to the parents and relatives.

The funeral took place Monday morning from the church of St. Francis Xavier. Four young ladies dressed in white and four young men, were pallbearers. There was a very large attendance at the services, which were conducted by Father Lamothé. The remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery.

He is gone, but not forgotten; Never shall his memory fade, Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger Round the grave where he is laid.

Manhood's gates so briefly opened, Destined were to sadly close, Cruel waves the mortal conquered, But the sun of life immortal rose.

Mr. Gravel leaves a wife and three children—Mrs. Ferdinand Rocheleau, Mrs. Albert Houle, and Chas. H. Gravel. He was a brother of Narcisse, Chas. and James Gravel, and Joseph and Ferdinand Gravel of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. R. Marotte of Crookston.

The funeral was held from the French Catholic church Wednesday morning and the remains were laid to rest in the Belle Prairie cemetery. The family have the condolences of all in their sorrow.

Charles F. Rhoades died at his home near Darling on Monday, July 27th, after a long illness from diabetes, aged 43 years, 9 months, 7 days. He leaves a wife and four children.

Mr. Rhoades was a native of Illinois. He lived here most of the time since coming to Minnesota, in the early eighties. He was in the West for a time and in the Twin Cities, and about six years ago went to a place near Darling. He was a hardworking man, and among the best known men of his section.

The funeral was held Tuesday from the Darling church, services being conducted by Rev. C. M. Hallanger.

Joseph, aged 18 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kovalski, died of lung fever Saturday evening. The funeral was held at the Swan River church Monday morning.

LOG STEALING SCHEME.

INGENIOUS ATTEMPT TO DEFOUD LUMBERMEN.

Louis Harmon of Anoka, and a friend of his named Ball, are fugitives from justice, the result of the discovery of their plan to steal logs.

Harmon is a son of Rus Harmon, for years an employe of the Boom company, and well known along the river. The younger Harmon was in the employ of the company several seasons. His closest friend was a man from Hibbing named Ball.

Last fall the two formed the firm of Harmon & Ball, and gave it out that they were going to log on the upper Mississippi. They registered with the surveyor general at Minneapolis their log mark—a griddle bee—I. B. In the spring they made a contract to sell Carpenter & Lamb of Minneapolis 247,000 feet of logs at $11 per M.

About two months ago the pair commenced operations. They lived part of the time in a cabin on the river bank five miles south of Little Falls, and part of the time at Newman's hotel in Royalton. They pretended to be doing topographical survey work for the government, also looking up deadheads.

The method was to pick out the best logs, hew off the bark mark, put on the I. B. mark, obliterate the old stamp on the end and stamp on theirs.

Toward the last week in June Dell Gordon, a Boom employe, saw the men at work near the Royalton bridge, and suspected something wrong. The company's officers were notified, and immediately investigated. Part of the logs reached Minneapolis, and the "firm" of Harmon & Ball asked for payment. The peculiar appearance of the logs caused suspicion, and it being learned that no logs had been banked or scaled where it was claimed they had come from—no payment was made. The two men, suspecting trouble, quit work.

President Chute of the Boom company swore out a warrant last week, and Sheriff Tanner notified the Anoka authorities. Harmon was arrested July 23d, but escaped from the deputy sheriff of Anoka county, and is still at large.

The attempt to steal was ingenious in theory, but clumsy, as it was practically certain to be discovered at Minneapolis sooner or later.

A thoughtful young man of Washington was heard to say the fact the other day that while there is a deluge of don'ts and do's for the bride to follow—how to enter the church, how to behave during the ceremony, what to wear, and so on—the bridegroom must shift for himself, says the Post of that city.

"There is absolutely nothing to guide a man but his own backward self, and it isn't fair," he said. "From the time a girl is old enough to hear, she understands the importance of having things done properly at a wedding, while the prospective groom is something necessary to complete the picture, but a secondary consideration, and nothing short of inspiration can get a man through a marriage ceremony gracefully."

"In order to impress the bride and spectators that he is enthusiastic about it, he appears with a sort of frozen grin on his face that you expect to melt at any moment and run down his collar. If he is too frightened to respond in a loud voice some of the bride's girl friends will whisper that he 'was unwilling from the first'—again, if he replies in a loud, stern voice, another bunch in another direction of the church will huddle together and express how glad they are that they are not marrying him, while the attitude of many is that they are signing away their life and all worth living for. So I think it about time," continued the thoughtful young man, "that somebody is writing a few hints on how to behave that we may appear enthusiastic about being married without being ridiculous and a target for the people to knock at."
