HOW ED STEUCK WAS KILLED

Long Prairie Democrat 25: Edward was injured some time Saturday while tending a separator. He was oiling the front part of a machine and had stepped up on the axle of the machine when it was in motion. In doing so his foot slipped and he started to fall backward. In so doing he tried to save himself by catching hold of some part of the machine, but missed the object and ran his hand onto a belt and into a pulley. He was whipped about with his hand thus fastened and received frightful injuries about the face and head, his right arm was pulled out of its socket and the bones of that member broken in two places. His brother was running the engine at the time but did not notice his brother until he fell to the ground.
