Perfectly pure, unquestionably wholesome. A pure food factor ante-dating all pure food laws. Indispensable for raising finest cake, biscuit and pastry.

No Alum. No Lime Phosphates

Be on guard against alum in your food. Prof. Johnson of Yale College says he "regards the introduction of alum into baking powders as most dangerous to health."

Read the label. Buy only where Cream of Tartar is named.

PIERZ

Oct. 8.—John H. Gerwing of the town of Buh left the former part of the week for South Dakota. He will visit relatives in Fairfax, Gregory county. From there he will visit the Rosebud Indian reservation in Tripp county, S. T., and try to secure a tract of land at the drawing. He will stay about two or three weeks.

Ed. Falbe, who had a grading contract on the Soo line near Pierz last summer, is here to get his dumping cars, which he left with Herm. Bentfeld. It will be remembered that Mr. Falbe had the grading contract across John Stump's farm and the blasting near Schraut's place, which took all of last summer and fall to complete. This year he had another grading contract. The sinkhole five or six miles east of Wahkon was in the piece he had to grade. He has been working on that piece all summer, but finished last week and now the rails are laid over the sinkhole. Mr. Falbe tells us the grading may sink a little yet until the gravel hauled in has settled, but he struck a solid bottom and there will be no more sinking. He tells us that the Soo line will be completed to Moose Lake in about four or five weeks.

Dr. S. R. Fortier, dentist, will be in Pierz Sunday, Oct. 11, on a professional visit.

Another old settler passed away last Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Nick Dahmen died at the home of his son, Joseph Dahmen, two miles south of the village. Cause of death is supposed to be old age, she was 85 years old. For the last eight or nine years she has not been able to leave the house. Mrs. Dahmen, whose maiden name was Theresia Setzberger, was born in Degendorf, Bavaria, 1823, immigrated to America in 1850 with one of her brothers. They settled in St. Vincenz, Pa. She was married to Nick Dahmen three years later. In 1858 they came to St. Joseph, Stearns county, where they lived ten years and in 1868 they moved to Pierz, where she has lived since. Her husband died about nineteen years ago. Mrs. Dahmen was a very highly respected woman and a devoted mother. She had many friends and was beloved by all who knew her. The deceased is survived by six children. They are: Mary Terhaar of Agram, Margaret Huff of Fargo, N. D., John Dahmen of Pierz, Barbara Terhaar of Pierz, Ferdinand Dahmen of Quincy, Wash., and Jos. Dahmen of Pierz. The burial ceremonies were held Thursday at 9 o'clock a. m. A requiem was read by Rev. J. G. Steigler at the St. Joseph church in Pierz and interment was in the St. Joseph cemetery. May she rest in peace.

Last Saturday forenoon we went to the depot to see how fast improvements are made. The depot building is up, but not painted and furnished inside. The large well that is to furnish water for the tank is not completed, but will be in a short time. The gravel crew will move on in about one week. We called on the J. Borgerding company elevator, but there was not much chance to talk to the manager, Lucas Backes, he being too busy. During the time we were there about a half dozen loads of grain came in and at about 9 o'clock Mr. Backes told us he had not had time to get breakfast. The elevator company must certainly be doing some business. 'Mops' is dead. Herm. Koernig's sporting dog is no more. He died last Monday evening. The two principle mourners at the burial were Mr. Koernig's two little sons.

The town board of our neighboring town of Agram met at John Kippley's place last Wednesday, Oct. 7th, for the purpose of receiving bids to build a new bridge across Skunk brook near J. Kippley's place. The lowest bidder was the Hewitt Bridge company of Minneapolis. They agree to put in a new bridge for $1,080. John Langer, chairman of the town of Agram, informs us that if the county commissioners will pay half of the cost the bridge will be built at once. A. F. Stoll and F. X. Virnig went out east last Monday for a duck hunt on a grand scale. They intend to stay all week. We asked a famous hunter if any ducks would be left in that country after Tony and F. X. returned. He said: "There will be plenty of ducks left, but no shells."

"The Quality Shop"

SELECTION OF SEED CORN.
(Furnished by the Minnesota Farmers' Institutes, St. Anthony Park, St. Paul, Minn.)

The total cost of growing and harvesting an acre of corn is between $10 and $12. It therefore takes 30 or 40 bushels at the average price of 30 cents to cover the cost of production.

The yield of corn depends, 1st, upon the fertility of the soil; 2nd, method of tillage and cultivation; 3rd, character of seed corn; 4th, weather conditions. Three of these conditions can be controlled by the farmer. Character of seed is the most important factor of all.

One 10-oz. ear per hill will give a yield of 28 bu. per acre; two 10-oz. ears per hill gives a yield of 36 bu., and three 10-oz. ears per hill will give a yield of 84 bu. The average yield of corn in Minnesota is about 80 bu. per acre. We are growing about one-third of a perfect stand. The corn grower who can control the stand of corn is the successful grower, and with a "nearly perfect stand" can secure 50 to 75 bu. of corn per acre with average methods of cultivation.

The stand of corn depends upon the quality of seed corn. One of the most desirable places from which to get seed corn for any farm is from the field of corn grown on that farm. Select at husking time a few of the best ears as you find them on good stalks. Have a basket or box or sack along to put these good ears in. If you desire to get your variety to ripen earlier, go through the field before all the corn is ripe and select good ears that ripened first. This will probably reduce the size of the corn but it will make it earlier. As shown by the above figures, large ears of corn are not necessary to get a large yield. A good yield depends on a good stand of stalks that will bear ripe ears.

When the seed corn is selected in the fall, it should be placed where it will dry out quickly, where it cannot heat and where it will not freeze. The attic over the kitchen is a very good place for seed corn. Every corn grower should have his aim set for 100 bu. per acre. It can be realized in a large part of Minnesota.

Adolph Wodke of Elmdale, who fell from a scaffold about four weeks ago, sustaining bad injuries, underwent an operation at the local hospital Thursday evening of last week.
