FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE

HOW TO KEEP SICKLY.

Never open the windows in your sleeping chamber. See that they are carefully closed at night and the room made as hot and stuffy as possible.

Keep out of the sunshine and be careful not to take long, deep breaths. Eat any kind of food, regardless of its nutritive value, and be as irregular as you can as to time of taking your meals. Always eat hurriedly. No use wasting time over a matter of this kind.

Wear an overcoat one day and go without the next. Change underwear from heavy to light during the winter months, and don't bathe oftener than once a month.

By following these few simple directions you will befriended the doctor, and if perished in long enough the undertaker will also have a chance to make a dollar.

Canon and Aldrich seem to be still the stars in the old tariff barn dance at Washington.

Many republicans are saying "Well, if Teddy were only in the presidential chair." It is easy to see what such people think of Taft.

It will soon be known whether Taft and Aldrich are of the same mind on the tariff, also whether New England protectionists own the nation. So far it looks like Aldrich.

There is a question whether Taft will sign the tariff bill. We think he will. But we all know that W. J. B. would not sign that compromise with iniquity.

The pork barrel is empty. And many a legislator is breathing vengeance. One good result may be the placing of the good roads question on a sensible and permanent basis, not yet attained.

The Duluth News-Tribune practically admits that republican chances in the state next year are slim. A very significant admission from the leading republican paper outside the Twin Cities. Perhaps the News-Tribune is not encouraged by the spectacle of clubs being organized to boost a man for governor on the strength of his nationality, which nationality appears to be his principal qualification. There has not been in years so unblinking and unscrupulous a political maneuver, so un-American a basis for a candidacy, as the scheme being worked in behalf of Eberhardt.

Sensors Nelson and Clapp deserve commendation for their votes against the Aldrich bill. Let us hope they will vote against the bill when it comes from conference. It is admitted that unless Taft comes to the rescue—the vacillating Taft, as the Pioneer Press already calls him—that there will be no improvement in the bill. A thought as to Taft's advisers shows how hopeless is help from that quarter. But will the framers of the republican state platform next year dare to commend a measure which their senators condemn? If the Aldrich bill becomes a law, as very likely it will, there will be several embarrassing moments for the republican party in the middle West next year.

Governor Johnson's appointment of J. M. Elder of Brainerd on the commission to investigate the Lake Superior-Mississippi canal proposition, is a good one. Mr. Elder is a fair-minded, impartial man of ability, thoroughly devoted to the interests of this region. It is well known that St. Paul does not like the proposition. It is desirous of remaining at the head of navigation on the Father of Waters, and then there is a fear that if the Mississippi above Minneapolis were improved so that commerce could be conducted on it, that the Flour City, being nearer, would reap the greatest benefit. That is a narrow view to take of it. There is no reason why the region north of Minneapolis drained by the Great River, and the country from Duluth to the source of the Mississippi, should not receive the benefit of improved waterways. The great development of the state is to be within these regions, and no sectional trade jealousies should prevent a fair investigation of the plan proposed. The cities along the river outside the Twin Cities have suffered enough on account of railroad discrimination. They should not allow the waterways to be used to further discrimination.

A good many Minneapolis people want to tap Mille Lacs lake to furnish water for that city. The people in the Mille Lacs country should not permit anything of the kind without first knowing that the lake's level will be unchanged. Mille Lacs lake is destined to the center of a great commerce, and nothing that might be an obstacle to the development of that commerce should be allowed.

Long Prairie Leader: The basis of division for the political parties the next fifty years is going to be the right and proper methods for the distribution of wealth. It is now no longer the nation's problem to create wealth. That problem has been solved. There is wealth enough and to spare. What the nation is to concern itself with the next two or three generations is the problem of seeing that this wealth is properly distributed. We can never become a really free or a truly happy people until there is developed a popular intelligence capable not only of devising, but of carrying out a system of laws such that every man who labors, whether with head or hand, can have as his own that share of the wealth he produces to which he is entitled.

McEnery, of Louisiana, although interpreting his senatorship locally, and not nationally, was true to the ideas he had expressed, and voted for the Aldrich bill. Several other democratic senators, after helping to frame the Aldrich inquiry, voted against it on the final roll-call, doubtless in the hope of keeping their party record straight. They are scarcely entitled to as much respect as the senator from Louisiana, who frankly owns that he represents the sugar interests of his state. Time was when southern senators, Hayne and Calhoun and Pinckney and Benton and Clay, to recall a few, represented great and vital ideas and principles national in importance and affecting the life of all sections of the country. Now their successors represent cotton, sugar and steel. Materialism is a most sordid kind has succeeded lofty ideals and vitalizing principles. No wonder, with senators who frankly own that they are agents of industrial interests, that it is so hard to secure child labor legislation in the south. If this is the new South, which measures progress by factories instead of schools, which—lost black slavery only to replace it with white, whose gods are Harriman and Morgan—the old was better.

There is an issue coming, and not far away, and whose coming recent events have accelerated, and that is whether the judicial system shall become a despotism and tyranny. We are told that the will of the people is the supreme law, and yet the judges who are the creatures of the popular will, assume the right and exercise the power, and do so repeatedly, of setting aside the will of the people. The declaration by judges that laws which have received the sanction of the people are unconstitutional, is an assumption of despotic power that it certainly was never intended the judiciary should have.

It has been pointed out that a great deal of law is being made by judges, who were never given the right to do so, but who indicate by their opinions what they will approve and what not thereby leaving the legislative power no option. The judiciary is jealous of its prerogative and the tendency is to grasp more power and hold it. The people of Illinois three times enacted a primary election law, and approved the action of the framers of the law by large majorities. Yet the supreme court killed the law every time. The people of Colorado by an overwhelming vote, declared that they wished certain hours of labor in the mines. The high court declared this unconstitutional, and the result was a civil warfare. The Nebraska legislature enacted at its last session a law compelling state banks, which are purely state corporations, creatures of the state, to guarantee their deposits. An obliging federal judge issued an injunction, interfering with a sovereign state in the exercise of its functions clearly its own. The supreme court of Missouri following seemingly from a desire to get into line with other supreme courts, has declared that the executive can be sued. Everywhere is seen the obvious intent to bring all interests and all other branches of government within the domination of the courts. The Americans are the most patient on earth; they dislike to make a fuss. But some day they will realize that they have permitted judicial encroachment to go so far as to be despotic—and then well, there will be a lot of law books on sale as rubbish.

COMMISSION OF ALIENISTS

May Pass Upon Question of Harry K. Thaw's Sanity.

White Plains, N. Y., July 13.—If counsel can agree, a commission of three alienists, mutually selected, will pass upon the question of Harry K. Thaw's sanity. This was practically decided before adjournment at a continuation of the hearing before Justice Mills in which counsel for Stanford White's lawyer is trying to establish his right to release from the asylum for the criminal insane at Matteawan.

With all the day's testimony in favor of Thaw and with the indication that his wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, will take the stand in his behalf; with District Attorney William Travers Jerome eliminated, Thaw's chances for release appear brighter than at any time since his commitment.

CLouDBURST CAUSES FLOOD

One Dead and Many Narrow Escapes at Sioux City, Ia.

Sioux City, Ia., July 10.—One man was drowned, 1,000 people were driven from their homes and many thousands of dollars' worth of damage was done by a flood in Perry creek, a small stream which separates the East and West Sides of Sioux City. The flood was the worst in the city's history.

There were many narrow escapes, but only one life was reported lost. A cloudburst north of Sioux City is believed to have been the cause.

Leon Betschler, aged twenty-one, an employee of the Bevin's Van company, was precipitated into Perry creek by the bank giving way. He lost his life, being unable to swim in the raging current.

STING OF BEE IS FATAL

Garrison (Ia.) Woman Expires in Twenty Minutes.

Mason City, Ia., July 12.—Killed by the sting of a bee was the fate of Mrs. Mary J. Buck, a resident of Garrison. A hive of bees belonging to a neighbor had swarmed and lit on a tree on the Buck premises. Mrs. Buck was sitting on the porch of her residence when one of the bees stung her on her right temple. She called for help and was carried into the house. Physicians were summoned, but before they could reach her she was dead. She only lived about twenty minutes after being stung.

HOSTILITIES ARE IMMINENT

Peru and Bolivia Said to Be on Verge of War.

Valparaiso, Chile, July 12.—It is believed here that war between Peru and Bolivia is imminent because of the disorders at La Paz following the decision handed down by Argentina to the boundary dispute between the two countries.

The Chilean admiral says that Chile will remain neutral, but she is preparing to send warships for the protection of Chilean interests.

FOURTEEN DROWN

Lake Steamer John B. Cowle Sunk in a Collision.

DISASTER OCCURS IN A FOG

Vessel Goes to Bottom Three Minutes After Crash.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 13.—Three minutes after the steel steamer Isaac M. Scott and John B. Cowle collided in Lake Superior about a mile and a half off Whitefish Point light-house, the Cowle went to the bottom in fifty fathoms of water carrying with her fourteen members of her crew. The Scott, although badly damaged about the bows, put back to this port, where she arrived with part of the crew of the Cowle.

A heavy fog was responsible for the collision. The Scott, a new boat on her maiden trip to the Head of the Lakes, had just passed the light at Whitefish Point, and straightened out her course up the lake when suddenly the John B. Cowle loomed up through the fog, broadside on to the Scott and only a few feet away. The Cowle was down bound with 3,000 tons of iron ore.

The ships were so close that it was impossible to avoid a collision, and the Scott crashed into the side of the heavily laden Cowle. For fifteen feet the bow of the Scott penetrated the side of the Cowle. Tons of water rushed into the great opening and in three minutes the Cowle had settled to the bottom of the lake.

Immediately after the collision a line was thrown from the deck of the Scott to the forward deck of the Cowle, and three members of the crew escaped to the deck of the up-bound boat by this means. The rest of the crew who were saved jumped from the sinking steamer into the lake, some without life preservers, and were picked up by the Scott and the steamer Goodyear, which was a short distance astern of the Scott when the collision occurred.

LOCALS LOSE FOUR

Harmony Must Exist if Ball Team is to Win Games

Lack of harmony among the players and too much shanking up in the lineup of the Gold Dusts went a long way towards losing the four games which were played by the locals during the week past. Saturday and Sunday the Gold Dusts played at Sauk Center and were defeated by the score of 10 to 4 and 9 to 4. A bunch of errors in each case was responsible for letting in the runs for the locals.

Wetzel pitched Saturday's game and allowed but five hits whereas the locals got ten hits off the Sauk Centre pitcher, Kidder getting three out of four times up, Kingen three out of three times up, Lauerman two out of three times up. Kingen also made a good catch back of short.

Lange went in the box for the locals in Sunday's game, and allowed nine scattered hits, the locals getting six bunched hits off the Sauk Centre pitcher, Wetzel, who was holding down the first sack, made a fine stop of a line-drive in this game.

Wabpeton was taken on at the local grounds Monday and Tuesday, the first game going to the visitors by score of 9 to 4 and the second by a score of 6 to 0, in seven innings.

In the Monday evening game, the sun shown in the eyes of some of the infield and outfield players so that most anything that went to them was a hit. It was especially so in the fifth inning when the visitors scored six runs on six hits, two stolen bases and three errors. The visitors had four scores and two men were out, when a decision on the home plate was made in their favor, and they made five runs before an extra man could be put out. Wabpeton had scored its other three runs in the fourth inning on four singles, a dead ball, and a stolen base. Newman for the locals had pitched a good game up to the fourth inning, allowing two hits. The Gold Dusts scored a run in the third inning on an error, sacrifice hit and single and in the fifth inning three runs on an error, and Lauerman made some fine catches in the field.

The Tuesday evening game was one which was note-worthy for the harmony that was not present. Lange was on the mound and Batters receiving. Things were moving fine and a good game was anticipated until the third inning, when the visitors bunched hits for two singles and a two-bagger, which, with an error of Kidder's on a very hard chance, netted them three runs. Wabpeton again scored three runs in the sixth inning on a base on balls, two singles and two wild pitches. Wetzel was then put in to pitch the remainder of the inning and the seventh, and did fine, allowing no hits, and passing none. The locals made connections for but four scattered hits, Kidder, McPherson, Wetzel and Diedrich getting each a single.

Lauerman was tried out at the first sack in this game and held it down in good style, and with a little more familiarity with the position will make an excellent first baseman.

BASE BALL NOTES.

Are the baseball fans fair? For some reason or other, not only in this community but in others, the fans will get to "knocking" some particular player—because he made an error or he didn't handle it as clean as some $10,000 per season player. Neither do they stop to consider that many a time a player is out of his position not of his own account, or the desire of the manager to place him there, but on account of circumstances. A fair criticism, and a little rag chewing after the game is all right, but then forget it.

Lauerman holds down first sack like a veteran. If he does as good work hereafter as on Tuesday evening, we have found "it."

The boys fielded in excellent shape in Tuesday's game.

Those who do not argue over the decisions of the umpire are the ones who do not patronize the game. The umpire is only human and is liable to mist-take most any time, but they will rarely admit it. At that they get more than they have coming.

Pronounce it "umpire," not "umpire."

Let harmony be the watchword. If everybody plays the game to the finish the score will look better. Never say die. A little ginger all the time.

A lot of good home talent, once they are placed rightly.

'CUBS' SHUT OUT PIERZ 5-0.

The fans of this city, who went out to Athletic park to witness the Little Falls Cubs-Pierz game last Sunday afternoon, saw a fine exhibition. Pierz pitched a no-hit, no-run game, passing none, but two taking bases on dead-balls. Only three men were struck out by him, but he kept all the balls, with the exception of a fly to center and left field respectively, in the infield, and they were handled in a very creditable manner by those who played this department of the game. Berg, who did the backstop work, did so in a very commendable manner, getting some very hard fouls. All the players were in the game all the time and gave an interesting exhibition, and but few errors were made by the Cubs.

The locals shut out the visitors 5 to 0, scoring in the second, fifth and seventh innings. Pierz scored in the second inning, taking first on a ball, was sacrificed to second, and was sacrificed on a single by Getchel. G. Gravel scored in the fifth inning on a bunch of errors. Richard, Pietli and L. Gravel scored in the seventh on a hit, a couple of wild throws, and one or two other errors.

L. W. Vasaly returned from a business trip to Swanville Tuesday.

It's worth the price of admission to see "Rat" Johnson, the colored catcher with Long Prairie, do some of his "stunts."

THEY AUTO KNOW

The automobile of Dr. J. P. Chance of Royalton refused to work, when the doctor and T. J. Monahan were on their way to a lake north of here recently, and as a result its occupants were forced to spend the night in the box of a common wagon. It seems that they had lost their way and the motor car got stalled in a ditch to one side of the road, and although farmers within hailing distance of the stalled car did all they could to put the car in the clear, darkness found the car little the better for their labors. One of them offered to take the doctor and his passenger to Fort Ripley, which offer was snapped up. They returned home by train. A repair man from this city went out and resuscitated the car.

Chas. Moelein has moved with his family, from the Ellenbecker residence on third street to the residence on Second street until recently occupied by W. C. Weber.
