Test Our Shot Guns

Rest the muzzle on some solid object and shoot at a large sheet of paper at forty yards. This will give you a chance to see how the shot groups. Draw a 30-inch circle around the shot and you will find that any gun you get from us will make a satisfactory target. When a gun puts 65 to 75 per cent of the entire charge in a 30-inch circle at 40 yards it is considered satisfactory shooting for all-round work.
