in winter when you have a Perfection Oil Heater. It is a portable radiator which can be moved to any part of a room, or to any room in a house. When you have a you do not have to work close to the stove, which is usually far from the window. You can work where you wish, and be warm. You can work on dull winter days in the full light near the window, without being chilled to the bone.

The Perfection Oil Heater quickly gives heat, and with one filling of the font burns steadily for nine hours, without smoke or smell. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap, put in like a cork in a bottle, is attached by a chain. This heater has a cool handle and a damper top.

The Perfection Oil Heater has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back, so the wick can be quickly cleaned. The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged and can be unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in japan or nickel, is strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

CONTESTS WILL.
Minnesota Journal. The appeal of Mrs. Donn Lynn Shattuck, from the decision of the probate court admitting the will of Arthur C. Shattuck to probate, is on trial in the district court before Judge Wilbur F. Booth. Mrs. Shattuck is attempting to prove that the will as made by Shattuck was not his last will. She is also attempting to establish marriage to Shattuck, which is denied by the other heirs.

The Shattucks lived in an apartment at Nicolet avenue and Fourteenth street, just prior to his death, May 19. His will left his estate, valued at $10,000 to Sophie Robbins of Cleveland, a sister; Anna Baker of Detroit, a niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Collum and Sophie Elder of Staunton, Pa., nieces, and to Annie R. Shattuck of Meadville, Pa., a sister-in-law.

Mrs. Donn Lynn Shattuck declared that another will was made after the one admitted to probate. She introduced evidence today tending to show that Mrs. Shattuck was generally known as the wife of Arthur Shattuck. The principal witness was Irene Wartman, a maid employed in the Shattuck home, who said Shattuck always spoke of her as Mrs. Shattuck. She said, however, that her mail was always addressed to Mrs. Donn Lynn.

Mr. Shattuck was quite generally known here, having made this territory for several years for the wholesale grocery firm of W. B. and W. G. Jordan of Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Beattie and Miss Maude Bates made a business trip to Minneapolis the latter part of the week.

Ralph L. Hall and Ethel R. Gourd of Randall were united in marriage at the Methodist-Episcopal parsonage Wednesday evening, Rev. R. B. Walker performing the ceremony. The couple left the same evening on a wedding trip to Duluth.
