DURHAM IS CONVICTED Court Adjournd Tuesday Night--Session Contin- ued to January 22.

A verdict of guilty of manslaughter in the second degree was brought in by the jury Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock, after being out two hours, in the case of State of Minnesota vs. Sylvester B. Durham, who was charged with manslaughter in the first degree for the killing of Frank R. Gourd. The case was taken up Wednesday of last week, the first day being spent in impaneling a jury. The state's case was presented the following day, resting at 5:30 p. m., after the testimony of Dr. J. B. Holst as to the post mortem. N. W. Chance, A. Simonet, Arthur Lafond, as to the story told by McCormick and Mrs. Gourd and corroborative evidence by John Tindell and Eber Clark.

A motion for dismissal of the case was denied and Louis McCormick of Excelsior was put on the stand by the defense. His testimony differed somewhat from the story he told immediately after the crime. In court he testified that on his return to camp while on a fishing trip at Budde lake, he and Gourd had got into an argument over lodge matters, in which John Fuller, who was intoxicated joined, calling him (McCormick) a liar several times, where upon he (McCormick) had struck Fuller in the eye. That Gourd had then started for him (McCormick) with his knife in his hand and to defend himself he had thrown a rock at Gourd but missed him, that Durham had told him to desist and that he had gone about the trying of fish as before the starting of the argument; that Durham had then attempted to have Gourd go and sit down but that the latter had said "No, you sit down"; that Durham had said "You will hit a man that is trying to make peace" and Gourd had answered, "I'll get you", and that when he looked up he saw Gourd stagger and fall. He also told of how afterwards they had put the injured man away to bed and that in the morning when they were about to remove him to his home Gourd had passed away, whereupon they had called the coroner. In rebuttal the prosecution put witness on the stand to refute McCormick's evidence relative to Gourd having a knife in his hand, they testifying that McCormick had said just after the crime that he had not seen a knife in Gourd's hand, but that Durham said he had one. He also said nothing in his first talk as to throwing the stones.

At the postmortem a cut on the right side of the head and a bursted artery on the left side, presumed to have been caused by a blow which caused the cut on the right side of the head, was revealed. Defendant, however testified positively that he had hit Gourd on the left side of the head.

The case was completed at 4 o'clock last Friday afternoon and went to the jury Saturday morning. Defendant was given an indefinite sentence to the state penitentiary Monday afternoon, but the usual "at hard labor" was not included. Past record and deportment in the state prison will determine the time he is to serve, the maximum penalty being fifteen years imprisonment. Counsel for defendant asked that Durham be held, but Judge Taylor said that "the law did not give him this discretion."

The petit jurors were Saturday morning excused to January 22, 1912 when a regular adjourned term of the district court will be held, at which time the Royaltion and Bowius bank cases will be tried.

The fall term of the district court came to a close Tuesday night, an extra large number of court cases receiving the attention of Judge M. D. Taylor. The district court has been in session three weeks and two days, and it has proven a very costly session. On the completion of the Durham manslaughter case Saturday, all remaining jury cases on the calendar were continued to an adjourned regular session to be held commencing January 22nd, and only court cases were taken up for trial.

The case of George Erboosky vs. John Jenco, alias John Jenico was continued. That of Nels Anderson vs. Betsy Nelson was tried Monday and defendant was given 20 days in which to file brief and plaintiff 30 days thereafter to make reply. The case involves a trade in which defendant traded a harness shop for a house and lot. Plaintiff claims that he was in an intoxicated condition when the deal was made and knew not what he was doing.

The cases of Mary Etta Brown vs. Duncan Brown, Wm. C. Foster vs. Alexander Payeur et al and Wm. C. Foster vs. George S. Lee, et al were continued.

The cases of Frederick Anderson vs. Town of Cushing and L. E. Bergman, Albert Klemm and Joe Houston, supervisors of said town, over road matters, was tried Monday and taken under advisement by the court.

The justice court decision was upheld by the district court in the case of Little Falls Hardware company, plaintiff, vs. Joseph Porten, defendant, D. M. Cameron, garnishee, F. W. Lyon and Donat Trettel, intervenor, Tuesday, which held that the intervenors are through their lien on property in possession of garnishee belonging to defendant, entitled to judgment for the amount sued, $98.

Appeal was dismissed without costs in the case of Anthony Capistrant vs. Octave Plante, an appeal case from justice court.

Case was continued in case of Henry Roos and Marie Roos vs. August Hooz and Elenore Roos, while that of Carloline Hoffman vs. Herman Bentfield and Anna Bentfield was continued to

INSTALL SWITCH BOARD Next Week--Complete Re- pair Work at Power Sta- tion by Nov. First

The three expert electricians who have been at work on the two machines at the local power station since the plant was damaged by fire a few months back, have completed their work and left Sunday. The machines have been put in first class shape and their capacity is such that much more power than they are called on to produce can be generated.

The installation of the steel work for the new switchboard for the power station was commenced Tuesday. The switchboard was shipped from the Pittsburg factory Tuesday and will arrive here Monday.

It is expected to have the switchboard in place by November 1st, at which time the second machine will be pressed into service.

The fact that the power plant was undergoing extensive repairs has been hardly noticed by the patrons of the electric and power company, as the service to them suffered very little, which speaks well for the company.

Current will most likely be turned on this week on the new cable line to the Academy of The Holy Angels at Belle Prairie.

IS POISONED BY FLY PAPER.

Lillian, the year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. Hall, was taken seriously ill Sunday afternoon as the result of poisoning. In some manner the child got hold of poison fly paper, which has been fixed up with water and sugar and momentarily set on the fire. She was chewing it with apparent great relish. She was made to vomit considerably but evidently inhaled some of the arsenic poison of the fly paper into her lungs and although an antidote was given her at once, her condition became very precarious. The little girl is now considerably better and there is every reason to believe that she will be well again shortly.

J. W. Faust of Pierz has located on the Johnson place on the Pierz road one and a half miles east of the city.

Case of Emma Bachmann vs. Frederick W. Bachmann, et al was continued to adjourned term. That of John Schmolke vs. Catherine Stumpf, as executrix of will of John Stumpf, et al was continued.

The suit brought by the Town of Little Falls against the City of Little Falls to recover the amount claimed to have been paid for it as its share towards the bonds and interest on bonds issued for the construction of the old Broadway bridge and interest on that amount, was heard in district court Tuesday. Transcript is to be made and briefs filed. Cases of Town of Little Falls vs. the Towns of Pike Creek and Agram which are similar to that against the City of Little Falls, were continued to the adjourned term.

Case of Max. Mayer vs. Albert C. Murphy was tried Tuesday and is to be submitted on briefs. Plaintiff sues defendant for $100 damages for trespassing on his property, claiming that defendant had placed boats on the shore of plaintiff's land on Fish Trap lake, that in journeying to and from the lake had trespassed on his property and that defendant had used indecent language towards him and threatened him with bodily harm. Defendant denies all allegations and claims that the road traversed was a well defined one, having been in use 30 years. Early in the fall plaintiff and defendant came in contact and an injunction was served on defendant Aug. 29 enjoining him from trespassing on plaintiff's land.

Judgment was opened as to Defendant Reed in the case of Wm. C. Foster vs. Myron Dederick, et al and he will be allowed to answer.

Plaintiff was granted judgment and was adjudged owner in fee simple of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter and the north half of the northeast quarter and lot 1, section 24, township 132, range 80 west in the case of Sarah E. Anderson vs. Wm. C. F. Foster, and others.

The case of S. Trebby vs. Laura A. Foster, E. F. Shaw, et al was continued to adjourned term.

Briefs are to be submitted in the case of Russell C. Scholes vs. J. B. Connell, which was tried Tuesday. The case is an appeal from a decision given by Justice Phil. S. Randall as referee in the matter April 21, 1911, in which judgment had been entered for plaintiff and he declared owner in fee simple to the property in question. It seems that Russell C. Scholes had given warranty deed to the property to J. B. Connell and the latter had given his promissory note for $1,000 to insure the release of the property to defendant upon the payment of a bill which defendant owed. Defendant later refused to allow plaintiff to regain possession of the property, claiming that there was still $260.05 due him. The collection of some rent, which it is claimed had been left to Mr. Connell also enters in the case.

No action was taken in the personal property tax cases of state vs. The Minneapolis Threshing Machine company and state vs. Mark Murphy Milling Estate.

They defeated the Staples High on the Staples grounds last Saturday by the score of 6 to 0, and as far as getting into the game early have it on the locals. Dr. E. L. ## INSPECTING FACTORIES Law Stringent Relative to Childrens' Attendance at School

Miss Agnes L. Peterson, one of the four inspectors from the women's department of the state labor bureau, who are making an inspection of the small towns and country districts this year for the first time in the history of the state, was in the city this week inspecting local factories. Blanks prepared by Mrs. Perry Starkweather and which are very comprehensive in their scope are being used by the inspectors. It is expected to have a complete record of conditions throughout the state by January 1912.

The compulsory school law as revised in 1909, governing children's attendance at school is very strict.

Any person, whether parent, guardian or other person, who has control of any child between the age of 8 and 16 years and in school districts contained in cities of the first class between the ages of 8 and 18 years, must see that such child attends the full session of school. The child may be excused from such attendance only on written application to the school board by those having control of the child, showing to the satisfaction of the school board that they are unable because of poverty to properly clothe the child; or that its bodily or mental condition prevents such attendance; or that it has completed studies required of eighth grade; or that there is no school within a reasonable distance of residence.

Record is to be kept by the school board and copy of same, signed by two of its members, given to applicant.

Where a regular trustee officer is not employed, a complete list must be made out in triplicate form by the clerk in August each year of all the children of school age in the district together with name and address of those having control of them, and send a copy of same to the county superintendent by September 1st of each year; retain one and the other, together with record of excuses, if any, deliver to the principal teacher of the school during the first month of school and report additional excuses granted within five days of granting. Five days after receipt of such copy of list and record of excuses, and once a month thereafter, every teacher is required to report to the county superintendent the names of the children who have not been excused and do not attend school, who will in turn report such cases to the county attorney, after first having given those in control of the child ten days notice to send it to school. The county superintendent is also required on the request of the county attorney to file criminal complaint against those neglecting or refusing to comply with the requirements of this law, county attorney to prosecute case as a misdemeanor.
