

NO NOMINATION AS YET

POSSIBILITY OF A BOLT AND TWO NOMINATIONS TODAY—TAFT IN LEAD

The republican convention now being held in Chicago, is the most momentous in the history of the party, the Taft and Roosevelt forces charging each other with being everything but honest.

The first test of strength came in the national committee which seated all but 19 of the Taft delegates out of a total of 254.

The next test of strength was on temporary chairman, Root, the Taft nominee, being elected over McGovern of Wisconsin, put forward by the Roosevelt contingent, 558 to 502.

On Governor Hadley's motion to replace 92 of the Taft delegates with Roosevelt delegates, the motion was tabled by a vote of 564 to 510, five not voting showing an increased strength of the president of six votes on the second roll call.

It had been given out that the Roosevelt followers would bolt on both these rolls if the contested delegates were allowed to vote, but such action did not take place.

On the convening of the credentials committee the Roosevelt followers left the room, not taking part in the deliberations.

Roosevelt in an address Monday evening and again early yesterday morning counseled a bolt in case the contested delegates were allowed to take part in the convention, the first part of the Thursday morning address following:

"So far as I am concerned," declared Colonel Roosevelt, "I am through. If you are voted down, I hope you, the real and lawful majority of the convention, will organize as such and you will do it if you have the courage and loyalty of your convictions."

The convention adjourned Wednesday to 11 o'clock Thursday morning, and on assembling adjourned to 4 o'clock to await decision of credentials committee, but as they had only considered the Alabama case and were working on the cases from Arizona, the convention was adjourned to 11 o'clock this morning.

The temporary organization was made permanent.

There is much talk in the convention of presenting a compromise candidate, Senator Clapp of Minnesota being among those mentioned.

The idea of Roosevelt delegates bolting and forming a new party with Roosevelt to head them is also much talked of.

The convention is in an atmosphere of uncertainty and most any course might be taken by the Roosevelt followers, they being split, however, on the advisability of bolting.

The request of Mr. Nordlund for the opening of Tenth avenue southwest was referred to Alderman Loucks for investigation.

The matter of fixing the city hall roof and putting up a new flag staff, was left to the building committee, with power to act, G. H. Enke stating at this time that a new roof was not needed as the old one could be repaired.

The petition introduced by Donat Trettel for a sewer and water main on Fourth street from First avenue southeast to Fourth avenue southeast, the main reason for which is stated to be to give the St. Aloysius Parochial school sewer and water connections, was left to the street committee for investigation, committee to report at adjourned meeting to be held on June 29.

Elizabeth Medved was granted a liquor license to conduct a saloon in the Little Falls House; Aldermen Parsnall and Loucks voting nay.

DEFECTION FROM LEAGUE

Henry Thielman, who has managed the St. Cloud baseball club and owing to the lack of support from the St. Cloud fans has gone considerable in the hole since the starting of the Central Minnesota Baseball association, as a consequence of which he withdrew his club from the association, has decided to retain his lease of the baseball park in St. Cloud and play independent ball. He is also endeavoring to have the Benton County club leave the league and merge with the St. Cloud club for a fast independent baseball team, and it is stated that the Benton County club will pass on the matter at a meeting to be held Saturday evening.

An effort has been made by Secretary W. Leigh Cary to have another team represent St. Cloud in the league, but it is understood that it is not likely that this will be done. St. Cloud was to play at Brainerd next Sunday, but Manager Thielman has scheduled a game with Benton County instead. Little Falls had an open date for next Sunday, and it is understood that it will go to Brainerd on this occasion.

The fans of this city feel that a game should have been scheduled to be played in Little Falls for this open date, and as they are the ones that make good baseball possible in this city with liberal contributions, they should receive proper consideration. Besides, the fans of the city always support the local club with large attendances at its games.

Christ Elefson was thrown from the rig and slightly injured Tuesday morning when his horse became frightened while in front of the West side lumber sheds and ran away, returning home west of the city with part of the rig.

Ernest Kaestner returned Friday from Detroit, where he was a delegate to the Eagles' convention. He reports a fine meeting and states that a state aerie was organized which receives the sanction of the national organization.

HOLD REGULAR SESSION

COMMERCIAL CLUB TAKES UP A NUMBER OF THINGS AT MONDAY NIGHT MEETING

A regular meeting of the Commercial club was held Monday evening at the city hall, and a number of different matters came up for discussion at this time.

A communication was received from Curtis E. Mosher, giving the names of Wallace, Allen S. Albert of the Minneapolis Tribune and President Neil as available speakers to give addresses on agricultural and educational subjects.

Attention was called to the Trade Extension Special, containing about eighty Minneapolis manufacturers, jobbers and other business men, which will be in this city from 8:30 a. m. to 9:30 a. m. tomorrow. J. K. Martin, Chas. Sylvester and D. K. Harting were appointed a committee to get the business men of the city to meet with the Minneapolis party. It was suggested that the visiting business men be informed of the need of a distance tariff law that would give smaller towns a more equitable freight rate.

The secretary was instructed to take up with the local agent the matter of comparative rate of round trip passenger tickets from Minneapolis to this city and from Minneapolis to Brainerd. The rate between the first to named points is $5.80, while from Minneapolis to Brainerd and return a fishing excursion rate of $5.60 is given. As Little Falls is just as close to fine lakes as Brainerd is, there seems to be no reason whatever why the railroad company should not extend this excursion rate to Little Falls.

The committee appointed to inform and explain the action of the Commercial club at its meeting last Friday evening at which time it was decided to appoint a committee of three to solicit a bonus of $6,000 to be placed in the hands of the treasury of the Commercial club and to be turned over to A. K. Hall, who proposed building the opera house, when the building is completed, equipped and accepted, together with an agreement that it would be used for at least 10 years, made its report. Mr. Hall, it was stated, had said that he would build an opera house only on the conditions specified in his proposition to the club. The committee's report was accepted.

Progress was reported in the matter of a county exhibit, John Vertin having agreed to take charge of same and he was recommended to the county commissioners for appointment.

The bill of the Transcript Publishing company, in the sum of $4.76, was allowed.

In regard to having some designs sketched to advertise the county and city on the backs of envelopes, the committee reported several plans it had in view, among which was an outline of the state enclosing an enlarged outline of the county with the city and railroads sketched on it. The cost of the cut will be borne by the Commercial club but the cost of printing the envelopes will be borne by the business men ordering the envelopes.

MARRIED

A pretty June wedding took place at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Hinckley, 109 Seventh street southeast, when their only daughter, Miss Grace Marie, became the bride of Neil Woodworth.

The ceremony was presided by a violin solo by Bradford Hinckley, a brother of the bride. As Lohengren's wedding march was played by Miss Emma Randall at the piano and W. Leigh Cary with the violin, the bride descended the stairs and passed through an aisle formed by six young ladies holding similar and white ribbon and proceeded to an improvised altar in the parlor, preceded by her bridesmaids. She was met at the altar by the groom who with the best man entered from the east room. The ceremony was performed under a floral bell of sinlax and roses in front of a bank of ferns and sweet peas by Rev. Frank Atkinson.

Soft strains of the piano and violin were played during the ceremony. Pierre Woodworth of Frazee, a brother of the groom, attended the groom.

A buffet luncheon was served in the dining room following the ceremony. Mrs. Woodworth has during the past three years taught in the public schools of this city, coming here from Spring Valley, Wis. During her residence here she has taken a prominent part in the social life of the city and her excellent voice together with her pleasant manners has made her a place in musical circles.

A very singular event, and in fact one that is rarely heard of, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. TAXATION IN MINNESOTA

TWENTY-FIRST ARTICLE — THE LOCAL BOARD OF REVIEW AND THE TAXPAYER

On or before the fourth Monday of June the assessors of the state will have completed the work of valuing property for purposes of taxation. The assessment books are then submitted to the local board of review. It is the duty of those boards to carefully examine the assessment of the real and personal property of their respective taxing districts as returned by the assessor, and to equalize the same and to add any omitted property to the assessment rolls.

The local boards of review are in many respects the most important boards having to do with the assessment of property for purposes of taxation. Equality of taxation depends largely on the thoroughness and impartiality of their work. Unless they are careful to see that each tract or lot of real property and each article or class of personal property is equitably and fairly assessed no subsequent step can fully correct the injustice.

Unfortunately in some taxing districts the board of review performs its duty in a very indifferent manner, or, more correctly speaking, fails entirely to perform its duty. In some districts, if no one appears to complain of his assessment, the board simply signs its approval of the assessor's work without any examination of the assessment books, and of course, in such districts, any inequalities in the valuation of property, or any omission of property from the assessment rolls remain uncorrected. Such neglect often results in grave inequalities in taxation. Failure of the board of review to examine and equalize the assessment rolls is a serious violation of both the spirit and letter of law. Every assessment of real personal property should be carefully examined and any inequalities of valuation corrected before the assessment roll is approved by the board.

It is not a reflection on the honesty or good intention of the assessor to change some of his valuations, or to add property to the assessment rolls that has escaped his notice. Assessors like other human beings are fallible and may make mistakes—not intentional mistakes, but mistakes of judgment. The combined judgment of the three members of the board of review, when they have knowledge of conditions should be better than the judgment of a single assessor, and any changes made by such boards indicate a difference in judgment rather than a reflection on the good intentions of the assessor. While the duties imposed on boards of review are important, the individual property owner is not relieved from certain responsibilities in the equitable assessment of property for purposes of taxation. If his property is over assessed, or his neighbor's property under-assessed, it is his duty in the first case and his privilege in the other to direct the attention of the board of review to such inequality. The proper time to complain of an unfair assessment is when the board of review is in session.

This board meets on the fourth Monday in June, notice of such meeting being given in advance. If any property owner feels aggrieved because of his assessment, or the assessment of his neighbor he should appear before the board and have the injustice corrected. The procedure for correcting errors is very simple when the board of review is in session, while on the other hand, when the assessment is finally confirmed and the tax extended, there is considerable formality to be complied with under the law before an error can be corrected.

Every taxpayer should make it his duty to ascertain whether or not his assessment is equitable and fair before the board of review finally adjourns. Miss Pariell Hitchcock, who remained at home with her parents, having been engaged during the past few years as teachers in the country schools. Miss Gertrude C. Kay taught several terms in the county, two terms at Salem, S. D., and the last term at Buffalo Lake, Miss Clarabel E. Kay taught a term of school at Salem, S. D., and the last term at Vawter. Miss Lulu Price has since graduating from the local high school in the county schools. Their many friends hope that the unusual event of a quadruple wedding will be a good omen, and wish them happiness and prosperity.

The wedding of Carl Van Hercke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Van Hercke of this city, and Miss Jeanette Olick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Olick of Twin Lakes, was solemnized Tuesday morning at the Swan River Catholic church. The bride was gowned in white satin draped with white chiffon embroidered with silver and carried a bouquet of baby Rambler roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Elizabeth Olick, a sister of the bride, and Miss Tilly Van Hercke, a sister of the groom, attended the bride, and were dressed in white crepe voile. Henry Meyer and Tedford Ginter attended the groom.

A wedding dinner was given at the home of the bride's parents and in the evening a big dance was given which was very largely attended.

A number from this city attended the festivities in the evening. The newly wedded couple will make their home on the groom's farm in Parker town.

Harvey Ploof, the Hotel Buckman day clerk, was given a surprise Wednesday afternoon in the form of a bad shock which threw him backward against a show case, breaking it, when he took hold of an electric cigar lighter, but was uninjured.
