THE "GYM" BANQUET

HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL AND WELL ATTENDED—GOOD TALKS AND EXCELLENT MENU

The new gymnasium, which it is confidently hoped will be a large factor in the general welfare of the city, was formally opened Wednesday evening with a large banquet, served on the lower floor of the new building. There were about 75 at the banquet. Before the banquet, which was a delicious repast served by a committee of women interested in the work, the building was inspected, and there was general praise of it. Persons familiar with gymnasiums in other cities say there are few towns the size of Little Falls that have anything better.

W. E. Penfield was toastmaster, and kept things moving with his witty sallies and pat imitations. The banquet was served to seventy-five, including many business men and professional men of the city. The tables and room were beautifully decorated.

Mr. Penfield introduced Dr. Mills-paugh, head of the gymnasium organization, as the first speaker. The doctor gave a brief history of the events leading to the erection of the new building, showed its value as a factor in city life, and said that everybody was welcome, without distinction of creed, rich or poor. That it could be made of great use to the city, and he hoped all would avail themselves of its advantages.

The toastmaster, who had introduced Mr. Gym Work in his opening remarks, introduced A. H. Vernon as qualified to speak on Mr. Gym Games. Mr. Vernon spoke graphically and well on the value of physical exercise and emphasized the good fellowship and pleasure the business and professional man and others would get from meeting his fellows in the gymnasium.

Miss Irma Warren entertained the diners with a piano solo, finely rendered. Mr. Penfield introduced Superintendent Dobbyn of the city schools on the new head of the city's education system, and especially qualified to speak on the values of the Gym from the standpoint of the educator. Mr. Dobbyn rather brought down the house with alleged revelations of the ways of educators in search of a job. He said that the work of the Gym was needed more than ever in this age of machinery and specialized labor, and could be made of the greatest value.

The education of the head, heart, and hand was the basis of the newer education, and the proper development of all three would be stimulated and encouraged by good work in the Gym. In opening Mr. Penfield had said that the signal for sitting down would be that used in the lumber camps—"Take it!" Don M. Cameron, in his remarks on the value of physical exercise to the professional man, said another rule of the lumber camps was not to talk at meals. Mr. Cameron spoke in the neglect of many men to take proper exercise, and especially professional men of sedentary habits.

Mr. Cameron thought the new institution would be of the utmost value to many, and believed it the duty of all to help and support it. Dr. L. M. Roberts spoke briefly and interestingly on the medical values of the Gym. He instanced Roosevelt as an example of a weak physique made strong and enduring through physical exercise and life in the open, and thought that the example of Roosevelt had had a great effect on the life of the nation. Dr. Roberts urged general support of an institution which would so well promote the health and welfare of the city.

The Gym Dandy Trio, Mrs. J. W. Stephenson, Misses Laura Brannen and Olive Cornwell, gave a vocal selection and had to respond to an encore. Miss Maybelle Brannen was accompanist. Rev. Atkinson was introduced by the toastmaster as an athlete who could talk, and the toastmaster's introduction was justified. Mr. Atkinson told some interesting incidents of his own life, and said he desired to get in touch with the men and boys as well as the good sisters of the congregation. In the Gym the preacher would not enter, but the friend and believer in physical exercise would, and he would endeavor to make the work of value to all who participated. It was for all the people of the community, and the sympathy of all was among them could the best work be realized. He would try to do his share and hoped the result would be such as to satisfy the community.

Judge Shaw, in a very neat and graceful speech, appropriately complimented the ladies in charge of the banquet preparations, and ventured the statement that if the young ladies would agree to grace the Gym by their presence, there would be no difficulty in crowding the place with young men.

It was nearly midnight when C. E. Vasaly, the last speaker, was introduced, and he therefore cut his remarks short. Mr. Vasaly believed the institution would be of very great good to the young men and boys of Little Falls. Emerson said that the first requisite of a gentleman was to be a good animal. A good animal could then be a reasonable animal, a fair-minded animal and the finest inhabitant of a sound, clean body was a clean mind. Another value in the Gym work was as a help to the preservation of youth, and its ideals as one grew older. There was no good reason, simply because of advancing years, why anyone should leave the youthful heart behind. Mr. Vasaly, alluding to Mr. Dobbyn's remarks, about the progress of the country, said there was also progress backward, and told of the great increase

HOW ABOUT AN EXHIBIT

FARMERS SHOULD ENTER EXHIBITS AND ATTEND THE COUNTY FAIR SEPT. 26, 27, 28

The Morrison County Agricultural Co-operative society fair to be held in Little Falls September 26, 27 and 28, promises to be a most successful one from every standpoint. The exhibits, with the bounteous crop and excellent quality of farm products, will be a revelation, although we have had some extraordinary fine exhibits in past years. It is up to you, however, Mr. Farmer, whether this department is to come up to expectations. You have the horses, cattle and farm products. Bring them in. Show your farmer friend on the other side of the county what you can do. Look over the premium list and enter something. The committee on entertainment will furnish some excellent features.

A free attraction consisting of Davies and Wallon, comedy acrobats, has been secured to play on the streets during the three days. The city band has also been engaged. Figure out a vacation for yourself and family for these three days and you will be happy.

CO-OPERATION MEETING

PARENTS ARE ASKED TO MEET TEACHERS AND ASSIST THEM WHEN POSSIBLE

In order that the parents may get into closer touch with the work of the pupils and that the teachers may meet the parents and talk over the environment and condition of the individual pupils, it has been arranged to hold a series of parents' meetings at the several buildings.

The parents having children attending the Hawthorne attended a meeting held there Thursday afternoon. Those with children at the Lincoln are to meet Friday at the Lincoln. The parents having children who attend the Columbia school are requested to meet there next Tuesday afternoon, and those who have children attending school in the Kiewit building and at the Central school, are invited to attend a meeting at the high school at 8 o'clock on next Wednesday evening.

The following program has been arranged for that evening:

- Piano solo ..... Miss Maygard
  - Speech ..... Supt. Dobbyn
  - Vocal solo ..... Miss Peterson
  - Speech ..... Mr. Kuhlman
  - Reading ..... Miss Axtell
  - Speech ..... Mr. Richards

NEW DIVISION LINES

MANY TRANSFERS MADE IN ORDER TO RELIEVE THE CONGESTED CONDITION

Superintendent of city schools F. W. Dobbyn, has been working out a new line of division in order to relieve the congested condition of the over crowded grades. The grades in the several buildings which have been crowded are the fourth and sixth grades at the Hawthorne building; the seventh grade at the Central; and the fourth and fifth grades at the Columbia. Much transferring of pupils has been necessitated because conditions will not permit that all of the grades be installed in each of the buildings. Although considerable confusion has resulted from the various transfers, Mr. Dobbyn has been acting with total impartiality to pupils.

No change has been made in the division of the first, beginners and second grades as the enrollment is practically equal in all buildings. The third grade at the Hawthorne is not crowded and children that live east of Third street and north of Fourth avenue northeast or east of the railroad and north of Broadway may attend the Hawthorne third grade if they desire. Second avenue southeast is the dividing line between the Columbia and Central third grades.

The Brainerd track from the river to Third street, south on Third street to Fourth avenue, thence east on Fourth avenue is the dividing line between the fourth grades at the Hawthorne and Central. Third avenue southeast will be the division line for the fourth and fifth grades of the Columbia and Central buildings. The line dividing the fifth grades of the Hawthorne and Central sections will be the Brainerd track east to Third street, south on Third street to Fourth avenue, east on First avenue to the railroad track, south on the railroad to Broadway, thence east on Broadway.

The division line for the sixth grades of the Hawthorne and Central will be Third avenue north to the railroad, south on the railroad to Broadway, thence east on Broadway. Third avenue northeast is the line dividing the eighth grades of the Columbia and Central sections and Broadway will divide the Columbia and Hawthorne eighth grades.

Al. Dominick has received word from Earl Howard that he joined the Milwaukee Brewers last Monday.

OPENS FOR THE SEASON

OPENING WEEK OF GYMNASIUM IS WELL ATTENDED—CLASSES TO ORGANIZE FRIDAY

This week has been opening week for the Little Falls Gymnasium association. Programs and entertainment have been given on each evening this week. A very fast game of basketball and a volley ball contest was played between the employees of the Northwestern Milling company and some of the Pine Tree Manufacturing company men. Games were also indulged in, and a pleasant evening was reported by all.

Dr. Cooke, instructor of gymnastics at the university, gave a talk on the benefit to be derived from the exercise when not taken excessively and the danger of excessive exercise. He illustrated his talk with several exercises of a simple nature but very effective in the development of the muscles.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Cooke after which Rev. Frank Atkinson stated that all children under 12 years wishing to take special training for the development of the various muscles of the body could do so by first consulting their physician and getting the consent of their parents.

The Wednesday evening program is published in another column of this edition. Miss Josephine Brewer, physical director of the St. Cloud normal, gave a talk and demonstration on Thursday afternoon and evening. A basketball game was played between a team composed of teachers and one of high school girls.

The classes will be opened on Friday.

DIED The death of T. W. Gannon, after a very brief illness, came as a great shock to his friends and relatives. Mr. Gannon began to ill last Thursday and was taken worse Saturday and passed away at 2:15 Monday morning. Death was caused by a rupture of the gall bladder.

Mr. Gannon had purchased the City restaurant last Tuesday and had just opened up for business. Mr. Gannon was born at Greenbush, Wis., May 2, 1859 and came from there to Little Falls twenty years ago and worked at his trade as a stone and brick mason for ten years. He then took employment on the police force and served as patrolman for five years, after which he was made chief, which place he held until last spring.

Deceased is mourned by a wife and three children. Frank, who is employed in the office of the Northern Pacific road master in this city; Miss Cecelia Gannon and Miss Marie, who attends high school. He is survived by four brothers and two sisters, James of Alaska; Michael of Washington state; Frank of Oregon; John of Greenbush, Wis.; Mrs. B. McDonald of Williamsburg, Ia.; and Mrs. K. Miller of Glenboulah, Wis.

Mr. Gannon was a member of the M. B. A. and Red Men lodges and was

TAXATION IN MINNESOTA

EFFORTS OF LEGISLATURE TO AMEND ASSESSMENT LAWS SO THEY COULD BE ENFORCED

In the last article we endeavored to show that if property was assessed at its true and full value in money as provided by law, without first amending several inconsistent statutes, the result would be a great and needless increase in taxes; an uncalculated increase in the salaries of several hundred county officials and their clerks, and, in all probability, in a great increase in municipal indebtedness.

Justice in taxation can only be attained by a strict compliance with the law. This is proven by universal experience. There is no other way. With rare exceptions, when an assessor violates the law and sets up a standard of his own he either inflicts an injury upon some individual taxpayer or else he does injustice to every other taxpayer in the state. As a general rule every step he takes outside the straight and narrow path provided by law leads to greater and more glaring inequalities and in many cases if he gets too far away his work degenerates as we have said before, into a mere travesty on justice.

Because of the lack of harmony in the laws which we have pointed out taxpayers in Minnesota, to use an apt expression, are placed squarely "between the devil and the deep sea." If the law was strictly enforced everyone of them would be mulcted with needless taxes, and because it is not so enforced injustice is annually inflicted upon a large majority of them.

Realizing that a just and equitable assessment of property in this state was practically impossible unless and until these contradictory laws were amended and harmonized, the tax commission in 1909 placed before the legislature all of the facts bearing upon the matter and asked that the assessment laws be so amended that they could be strictly enforced without unnecessarily increasing taxes and without injustice to anybody.

Several conferences were held with members of the committees on taxes and tax laws of the house and senate and the whole matter thoroughly canvassed and the conclusion finally reached that it would be better, all things considered, to amend the law to conform to long established custom than it would be to undertake to enforce an assessment at true and full value. A bill was accordingly drawn among other things that, "except as may be otherwise provided by law all property subject to a general property tax shall be valued at its true and full value in money, which shall be entered opposite each item on the assessment rolls, and shall be assessed at fifty per cent of such true and full value. Such assessed value shall in all cases be taken and considered to be the value of such property for purposes of taxation, and shall be the value upon which the tax levy shall be made."

The bill was introduced in the house by the chairman of the committee on taxes and tax laws, and after the adoption of an amendment changing the basis of assessment from fifty per cent of true value to forty per cent it passed that body and was transmitted to the senate where, after a brief debate, it was "indefinitely postponed."

The failure of the bill to pass was due not so much to hostility to the principle involved as it was to the inability of the members to agree upon the assessment to be made. A plurality but not a majority of the members favored the fifty per cent basis provided in the bill as introduced. Some favored thirty per cent, others forty, others forty-five, and others sixty; and in the house one member offered an amendment providing that property containing iron ore should be assessed at sixty per cent of its true value, city property at forty per cent and farm property at forty per cent. Out of this multiplicity of views it seemed impossible to reach common ground. The bill landed at the end of the session in the legislative ash heap where it slumbered until the following session.

But the legislature recognized the urgency of the matter, and feeling that something must be done to relieve the situation, just before it adjourned sine die adopted concurrent resolution requesting the commission to adhere to existing methods until the legislature met again.

a fireman, belonging to hose company No. 1, and was secretary of the Firemen's Relief association and of the fire department.

The floral offerings were many and very beautiful.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the St. Francis Xavier church, interment taking place at Calvary cemetery, Rev. Father Lamothe officiating, and was very largely attended, a beautiful testimonial to the esteem in which the deceased was held by his fellow citizens.

D. Gannon, formerly of this city but lately of Minneapolis, died on a train at Northwood, Ia., while enroute to his home from the hot springs at Little Rock, Ia. Brights disease was the cause of his death. Until 10 years ago Mr. Gannon was a resident of Little Falls. The funeral was held from the French Catholic church Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Gannon is mourned by a wife and daughter, two brothers, Adolph of this city and Edward of Duluth, and a sister, Mrs. Jos. Cota of Oriska, N. D., and his mother, Mrs. Henry Gannon of this city.

A tennis tournament will be held at Brainerd Saturday and they have asked Little Falls to send representatives. As tennis has been on the decline during the last month, no racket wielders will play at Brainerd.

TO CALL MASS MEETING

BOARD OF EDUCATION WILL HEAR DISCUSSION ON NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

A petition asking that the school board call a mass meeting to discuss the advisability of erecting a new school building was handed to president T. C. Gordon Wednesday. This petition was a result of the meeting held last Friday to hear objections in regard to the use of the Kiewit building for school purposes and was signed by 150 taxpayers. Only two out of those asked refused to sign the petition.

Although the petition makes no specific statement as to what kind of school building should be erected, except that it shall be a modern building, it is very likely that a high school is what is wanted. The board of education will have a public meeting soon in order to ascertain the pleasure of the public. After the people have designated what they want the question of a special election for the purpose of voting bonds will be called.

The women should remember that they are allowed to participate in school elections and when this matter is brought up they should turn out.

It has been apparent or the last two years that a new building for school purposes was necessary and as the efficiency of the local schools is classed with the top-notchers, it is imperative that something be done to hold that efficiency.

A board meeting will be held Friday at which a date will be set for the holding of the mass meeting.

MARRIED

Earl Valentine Wetzel and Miss Frances Mary Fortier, belonging to two of the oldest and most respected families in this city, were married Tuesday morning, September 10, at 8:30 o'clock at the church of St. Francis Xavier. Rev. Father A. Lamothe, who baptized both the young people, was the officiating priest, and pronounced the church's blessing on the union in the presence of a multitude of friends that filled the spacious church. The wedding was among the largest that ever took place here. Tuesday was the anniversary wedding day of Dr. and Mrs. G. M. A. Fortier, parents of the bride, who were married in this city twenty-nine years ago.

An uncle of the bride, S. J. Vasaly, who is a business partner of the groom, was best man, and two brothers, Dr. E. L. Fortier and Dr. S. R. Fortier, and Louis W. Vasaly and Joseph Dedrick, were ushers, and headed the procession down the main aisle to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Miss Ramona Randall, who gave the Mendelssohn recessional also, and "Meditation" at the communion. Miss Elaine Ruth sang Gounod's Ave Maria at the offertory. The music, both vocal and instrumental, was especially good.

The ushers led the wedding procession, and after them came the bridesmaids, Misses Albia Richard, Rosebud and Annette Fortier, then Miss Alma Fortier as maid of honor, the little ringbearer, Frances Vasaly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Vasaly of St. Paul, and the bride on her father's arm. The wedding procession met the groom and best man at the sanctuary railing, where ushers and bridesmaids formed about the young couple. Miss Fortier wore a handsome gown of cream satin with bodice and overskirt of duchesse lace. The bridal veil was worn with a cap edged with duchesse lace and pearl trimming. She carried a shawl bouquet of white rosebuds and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids and maids of honor were beautifully dressed, the bridesmaids in pink, with pink caps and bouquets of pink and white sweet peas. The maid of honor wore cream shadow lace over pink messaline and pink cap, and carried sweet peas. The ring bearer wore a dainty frock of white with white lingerie hat, and carried a pink rose.

The church decorations were oak boughs along the chancel, and vines and autumn leaves for the railing, with pink and white carnations and roses for the side altars.

The living room at the home of the bride's parents, where the wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony, was decorated with similar and baskets of golden glow, and the swingrooms in pink and white sweet peas and roses. Misses Irene Kirscher, Bessie Richard, Edna Coleman, Etta Rundell and Gertrude Lyon assisted in the dining room.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. M. A. Fortier. After graduating from the Little Falls high school with the Class of 1906, she spent a year in study with the Presentation nuns at St. Hyacinthe convent in the province of Quebec, Canada, and then attended the St. Cloud Normal school. She taught school at Sauk Rapids and Monticello, and for the last two years in this city. She is a bright and vivacious young lady. Mr. Wetzel is one of the city's rising young business men, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wetzel. He graduated from St. Thomas college in 1907. For some time he was employed in the German American National bank, but for two years has been a member of the firm of Vasaly & Wetzel, proprietors of the Diamond Sign jewelry store business. The young couple received many fine gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Wetzel left Tuesday for a two weeks' trip, and will be at home at 300 Third street southeast after November 1.

Guests from outside the city at the wedding included Mrs. A. E. Onellette, Mrs. T. J. St. Germain and daughter, Estelle of Duluth, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Vasaly and daughters, Frances and Laure of St. Paul, and Mr. and Mrs. N. Smith of St. Cloud.
