A NEWBY LETTER

Ed Weber was showing a letter, that he had just received, to Mat Wetzel the other day. As it contained much news that might be of interest to our readers we obtained permission to print it. Here it is:

States of United September the two

My dear Cousin Ed:

I now take my pen and ink in hand and write you with a lead pencil. We do not live over we need to live over we have moved. I hate to say it but your dear old aunt got you luffed so well she died. She died of New Monia on New Years Day in New Orleans at fifteen minutes in front of five. Some people think she had population von de heart. The doctors gave up all hope of saving her when she died. Her breath all leaked out.

She leaves a family of two boys and two cows. They found $10,000 sewed up in her bustle, it was an awful lot of money to leave behind. She willed it all to the boys, in case they die the fortune goes to the cows.

Old Mrs. Offenblock is very sick, she is just about at death's door, the doctor thinks he can pull her thru. She has such a nice little boy, he is just like a human beast. I took him up to the hospital to see the sick people, we had a lovely time.

Your brudder Gus took our dog Fido down to the saw-mill yesterday for a fight, he ran up against one of them big circular saws—he only lasted one round. All the Grossenbach's family have the mumps and are having a swell time. I am sending you your black overcoat by express in order to save extra charges I cut off the buttons—you'll find them in the inside pocket.

Mother is making sausage—the neighbors are looking for their dogs. Your uncle says if you don't pay him that 40 cents you owe him, he'll cut off your head and throw it in your face.

We sent Hilda over to the butchers to see if he had some pigs feet, she came back and said she didn't know the butcher had his shoes on. I just graduated von de college, I took up Electrostatic and Physical Torture, learned to be a Stingsgraffer too. I got a job in a livery stable as stenographer taking down hay for de horses. Louis Kratz was sick, the doctor told him to take something, he went down the street and met Ikey Cohen and took his watch. Ikey had him arrested and got a lawyer. The lawyer got the case but Louis got the watch.

Tom went out to milk the cow but the cow kicked her and gave her a milk punch. The flat was cold last week. Father called the janitor a lobster and he made it hot for him. He was as cool as a volcano.

We have about 30 chickens and a pug dog, the chickens are laying six eggs a day and the dog is laying—behind the stove. We are having more weather up here this year than we had last. Just heard that they performed an operation on Mrs. Offenblock between the dining room and the conservatory, but she died between eight o'clock.

There is lots of people diving around here lately yet never died before. Oh boy I wish we were clear apart, I am awful lonesome since we are separation together. Your brudder Frank is getting along fine with the small pot and hopes this finds you the same.

Hoping you will written sooner as I did, I remain here

Your cousin
Fritz Schneiderbach.

P. X.—If you don't get this letter let me know and I'll write you another.

Two times P. X.—Have just received that $5 I owe you but have closed up the letter and can't get it in.

Try our Want column.

MINNESOTA STATE FAIR BOYS' ENGAGEMENT

So successful was the Farm Boys' Camp at the Minnesota State Fair and Exposition of 1912, that the management has determined to make it an annual feature. The purpose of this camp is to extend the educational advantages of the State Fair to the farms of the state, and to stimulate a greater interest in the fair by spreading throughout the eighty-six counties its real worth, through the boys who annually are members of the State Fair Camp. A good, live, wide-awake, enthusiastic and energetic boy, such as made up the Camp at the 1912 Fair, is a real live booster. He is an asset to the state, his county and his community. He will spread the gospel of better farming and more and better live stock.

Not only will the management bring to the fair one boy from each county, but they have determined to select two boys from each of the nine congressional districts of the state, who were members of the 1912 Camp, in addition thereto. These boys to act as guides and assist Superintendent Higbie in looking after the welfare of the new boys. This selection will be made from among the boys who submitted essays following the last Fair, as requested. Thus the Camp this year will be composed of 192 of the brightest and most intelligent farm boys in the state.

An essay on either corn, cattle, hogs, clover or alfalfa and their relation to farming in Minnesota, can be submitted, not to exceed 700 words or to be less than 400 words. Boys wishing to enter (age between 16 and 19) will have to get busy as essays must be in the hands of the committee not later than June 1. Mail your application to the county superintendent of schools immediately as time is short. It means a free trip to the state fair for some bright farm boy from Morrison county.

GUINEA PIGS

The Guinea pig is usually thought of only as a handy, profit pet, but it has great possibilities as a profitable farm product.

It is very hardy, easily managed and cheaply fed, particularly if there is an abundance of green feed at hand. As it is not very subject to disease the principal things to be guarded against are improper feeding, dampness and rats.

The Guinea pig market is at present furnished largely by the demand for pets and for animals for scientific laboratories, but there is no reason why the animal should not be used as food in this country as it is in South America.

Suggestions for dressing and cooking these animals, and directions for curing them are contained in Farmers' Bulletin 525 of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.
