PIERZ

Pierz Journal (4): With the increasing business the buttermaker at the Farmers' creamery found the machinery inadequate to handle the cream in the proper manner. A new cream vat was ordered last week. This will enable the force to wait on patrons without any delay. Steve Gross, the Lastrup creamery man, yesterday afternoon sold his creamery to the Lastrup Co-operative creamery, a newly formed organization. Temporary officers were elected a few days ago. The first regular election will be held next Monday. While passing through the village on his way to Little Falls in the interest of a new county road, Chas. Gravel of Onamia told the writer that he intended to build a large barn on his 640 acre tract of land at Bradbury brook, three miles west of Onamia. This particular section is rich meadow land and turning it into a stock farm should prove profitable to Mr. Gravel. The boys gathered together all the old saws, plowshares, cowbells, etc., they could lay their hands on, Friday evening and charivariated the new arrivals—Frank Boehm, Math. Thommes and Mrs. Adolph Stumpf. The collected coin came across, and several kegs of oil of joy lubricated the loquacious lot for stories until past the ghostly hour of midnight. Christ. Mons, whose death was briefly reported in these columns last week, was buried in St. Mathias on Wednesday morning of last week. He died suddenly. He did not feel well all day Sunday, but was not ill enough to cause the family to feel alarmed about his condition. He went to bed about 9 o'clock that evening; at 10 o'clock Mrs. Mons heard the report of a falling body in the bedroom. When she entered he was lying face down dead. Christ formerly lived in the towns of Pierz and Granite and is well known by all the old settlers.

SOUTHWEST DARLING

March 10.—Only a few from here went to East Darling to vote on account of the long distance to the town hall. The town hall should be located as centrally as possible, not at the edge of a township. Herman Mattson has been looking for a corn husker all winter. He yet has half of his corn unshucked. The Singing society will meet at Emil Olson's place in East Darling next Saturday at 7 o'clock p. m. All are requested to come and sing and to pay their dues of 50 cents. The money will be used to pay for the cost of putting up guide boards in Darling, it is said. Andrew Hedin and Emil Taberman went to Little Falls on business Saturday. The Singing society will meet at the home of Louis Anderson Saturday at 8 o'clock p. m. All the members should attend and should be prepared to pay their membership dues of 50 cents. Spring is here and the birds are coming north. Crows, robins and larks went to Little Falls on business Saturday driven down south by the snow-storm of last week. They have returned again, however and we hope they will stay.

EAST DARLING

March 9.—A son was born Wednesday last week to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bigalka, Jr. John A. Schelin unloaded a carload of telephone poles. As soon as the weather permits he will begin putting up new poles on the Darling lines and the line between Darling and Little Falls. The Darling election will be held on March 23. If Little Falls votes dry Darling will vote wet and if Little Falls votes the other way Darling will vote dry. Elmer Anderson and Swan Peterson were in Little Falls on business Monday. August Blomquist took the early morning train to Little Falls Monday. While down there he visited John A. Lindquist, who told him of the death of his sister in Sweden. August returned home on the noon train. A number of people in this vicinity are reported to be on the sick list. Some are reported to be improving and we are glad to hear so. Hugo Nelson shingled his house on Monday. He had a number of men at work.
