MONEY IN SEED CORN THIS YEAR

There will be money in seed corn this year.

If you have a field that is well on, better developed than the average, look to it well, and when the time comes to select seed corn—Seed Corn Week, which will be announced later—get in your seed corn. It will be in demand at high prices next spring.

The fact that corn is seriously behind time this year should not lead the farmer to think that there will be no call for seed corn selection this fall. The situation makes it all the more urgent that seed corn should be selected, if Minnesota is to grow corn next year. Minnesota needs Minnesota-grown seed corn, not seed corn from a southern state, for southern-grown seed corn does not mature early enough to meet Minnesota conditions.

The thing to do is to watch over the patches that are most likely to mature early enough to avoid frosts. If extra pains in the way of added cultivation will hasten development, do not spare the pains. Cultivate.

Then get ready to select seed corn. Select seed corn from the best areas. Make ready a silo for the rest—that which is not likely to mature before "frost time."

If you have any of last fall's supply of seed corn left, save it for next spring.

CULDRUM

Aug. 11.—Mrs. F. J. Stroschein is at St. Cloud being treated for blood poison caused by an ulcerated tooth. She is staying at the home of her son, Clarence Stroschein.

DENIES RATE INCREASES

COMMERCE COMMISSION HOLDS ADVANCE NOT JUSTIFIED.

Decision Affects Railroads Operating in Territory from Chicago to Denver and from Canada to Gulf.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—Railroads operating in territory extending from Chicago to Denver and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico have been only partially successful in securing permission from the interstate commerce commission to advance their rates.

They asked for increases that would have given them $7,604,247 of increased revenue. The commission in its decision permitted advances that will increase the revenue $1,632,387.

These were the figures placed upon the value of the business by the railroads. The advances allowed are to go into effect Sept. 30.

The chief interest of the northwest in this case was the proposed increase in the rates on grain and grain products.

The case on which the decision was rendered is known as the western advance rate case. It involved proposed rate increases in western trunk line, Trans-Mississippi freight bureau and southwestern tariff commission territories and embraced transportation in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, Indiana, Kentucky and Alabama, also area affected as regards the coal traffic.

Big Falls Dam Completed.

Great Falls, Mont., Aug. 12.—Water has been let over the spillway of the gigantic dam at Big Falls on the Missouri river, 14 miles from here. The dam cost $5,000,000 and took nearly three years to build. It will furnish power for the electrification of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway.

SOUTHWEST DARLING

August 10.—Everybody is busy haying and harvesting rye and barley.

A letter from Albert Pierson states that he was in New York City on business on the day of the Eastland disaster. The report was circulated that he was drowned in the accident but this was another man with the same name.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Eystad visited at the home of August Blomquist Sunday. Mrs. Eystad hardly knew the place as the house had been greatly changed since it was struck by lightning five years ago.

William Long was here Tuesday. He had been working in Parkertown. Last year he helped Andrew Hedin with the haying.

Some farmers here are cutting five tons of clover to the acre this year.

Harry Pearson writes from Port Crane, N. Y., that they have had a great deal of rain there and that lands near the rivers and creeks are all flooded. He says that his crop is good and that he will get a great deal of apples, nears, plums, cherries, etc., this year. He sends greetings to all his Darling friends and says that New York is not as bad as most Minnesota people imagine.

Many local men will leave for the North Dakota harvest fields next week, among them being William Regnell and Herbert Malm.

Two tramps were the guests of August Blomquist for dinner Friday. They told him they had not eaten anything for two days. August says that they all tell that story.

EAST DARLING

Aug. 11.—Services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Sunday at the Swedish Lutheran church. All are cordially invited to attend.

About two hundred friends of Mr. and Mrs. August Anderson surprised them Sunday. Refreshments were served. All had a fine time.

Tramps are very numerous here every day. They can be seen hiking along the tracks at almost any time.

Oats is a fine grain in this vicinity this year. At the Rich Park farm it stands 8 feet high and at August Blomquist's place 7 1/2 feet high. Andrew Hedin also has oats that are equally tall.

Charles E. Anderson is a real hustler. He has a 320-acre farm and about 240 acres are in field. He works early and late now days.
