Is Your Stock Shed Ready For Winter Work?

With a fair prospect of plenty of winter weather—plenty of snow and cold—a great many farmers are planning to give their stock extra protection.

New sheds are being built, old ones are being strengthened, roofs made snow proof and sides storm and wind proof.

Poles for straw sheds are in demand. We have them, nice straight ones.

Cheap boards for new sheds or repairs—a large stock all new.

This is one fall job that most farmers think it is well to get done early so as to be ready for sudden changes. We can help you get yours done quickly—material is all here ready for you.
