DUNK BOTTS, Regular Correspondent
(George Bingham)

Yam Sims has read in a doctor's book where eating fish will make people have more brains, and he is going to try to get smart on a small scale by eating sardines.

To be Moseley and his boys went possum hunting Friday night. They found a nice fat one up a tree but, like everything else, it was as high as it possibly could get.

The Deputy Constable, who has been working at high tension for several days on an important case, has let out his suspenders and is again walking on earth, so his nerves can relax.

Fletcher Henstep's mule tore out the last remaining post supporting the porch at the postoffice this morning, and now poke Eazley will have to depend entirely on himself while standing up.

An almanac is a volume of literature with such variegated contents it will satisfy a mind with the most roving disposition.

Raz Barlow stopped at the jewelry store window in Tickville the other day and watched the diamonds twinkle.

Raz Barlow had a narrow escape from drowning in Gander creek one day this week, while trying to teach his skiff to act like a submarine.

The editor of the Tickville Tidings was shot last week over something he put in his paper. He says as soon as he recovers he will go back to the old tried and true policy of saying something good about a person, whether it is so or not.

It was talked at the store the other morning that after the prohibitionists got through putting whisky out of the country they were next going to start a movement to do away with coffee, tobacco, chewing gum, and congress.

Fletcher Henstep has one of the spottedest dogs ever seen in this locality. He is so spotted there is not any room left for the fleas.

Since Columbus has gone to reading a good deal every day he will wash his windows to save coal oil.

The Dog Hill preacher is thinking of starting a protracted meeting as soon as the war is over.

The Dog Hill preacher flushed a nice game of seven-up at the postoffice yesterday.

Doek Hooks was at the Bye Straw store Monday morning and came with in a few words of buying a pair of shoes.

After the war, when things begin to get right again, everybody ought to unroll their sleeves and sit down without a newspaper in some quiet place for about an hour to rest their eyes.

While the Dog Hill preacher was going on with his sermon last second Sunday an owl lit in the window and stayed there until the congregation started to singing.

Atlas Peck says there ought to be some sort of a distinct sign to distinguish them. If it is a boy baby being carted along the street, the friends who stop its fond parents ask how old she is; and if it is a girl, they declare that he is awfully fine.

Like Mathewsia, who has been married three times, has come out against woman suffrage.

While next Christmas is too far off to be thought of, Miss Hostetter Hooks has been heard to ask Yam Sims if he is going to continue to wear neckties next season.
