WOMAN'S AUXILIARY

INTERESTING PAPERS ON WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING IN THE WAR

Saturday afternoon at 3:30, Women's auxiliary of the Public Safety Commission War Council of Little Falls held a meeting at the local high school. The meetings of the War Council of late have not been as well attended as they should. Many women of the city do not take advantage of this council to keep in touch with the existing war conditions and the work of women in the war. This applies to Saturday's meeting, which was very poorly attended.

Mrs. E. V. Wetzel acted as secretary pro-tem. The afternoon's program was commenced by the reading of the introduction of "After the War Woman" by Mrs. G. M. A. Fortier, since the women have made such successful progress in taking up the work of men who are at war. The work of women was discussed, as well as her position after the war.

"What the British Woman is Doing" was a paper read by Mrs. L. D. Brown. "The British army without the co-operation of their women could not have held up their end of the struggle. Women are working in every factory in England, where duchess and maid work work side by side. The women of Little Falls are not awake to the real reason why every woman should do her all."

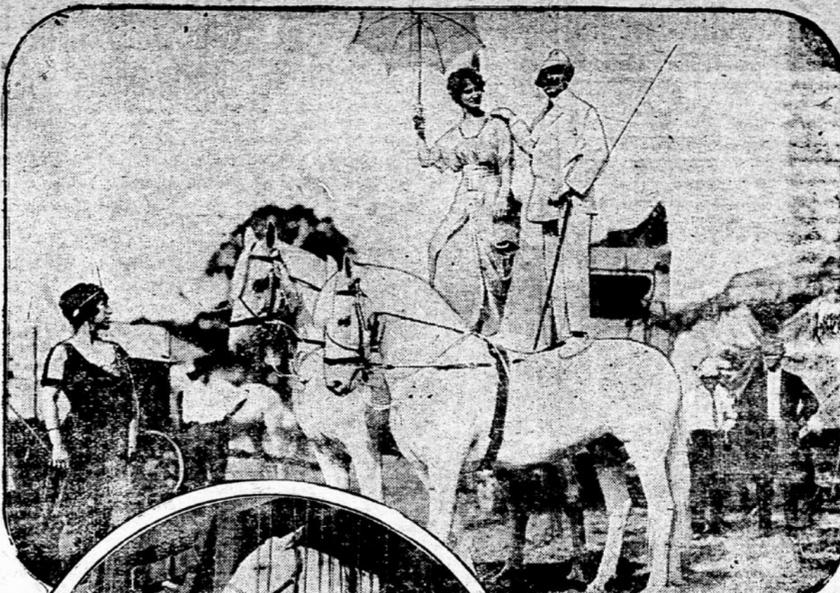

Mrs. R. L. Cochrane read a paper on "What the Women of France are Doing." "The women of France, like the soldier of France, has great physical endurance and are working for one cause, thrift. The women are the cornerstones of economic structure of France."

A paper on "What the Women of Italy are Doing Now," was read by Miss Eliza Batzer of Royalton. "The women of Italy, like the women of the other countries at war, are playing an important part in the manufacture of supplies and ammunition for their army. This is the first time in the history of Italy that women have worked at machinery."

Mrs. George Peterson gave a paper on "Sex and Democracy in Russia," telling how the women of Russia after the downfall of the czar stepped into the fight and organized the famous Women's "Battalion of Death," whose purpose was to make the slackers in the Russian army fight.

"Women of Neutral Lands," was the subject on which Mrs. E. F. Buck of Darling read a paper. "The women of Sweden, who are purely domestic are slowly coming under the influence of war. They feel the pinch of war because they have not received high wages for their work."

Miss Augusta Mettel read the report of the Baby Welfare committee. This report was prepared by Mrs. E. D.

er days, when one ring sufficed, the tent was necessarily small, a fact which permitted the clown to be distinctly heard from any point under the canvas. At that time one act was quite enough for such a limited audience. And the clown, being obliged to contribute his share to the program, happily hit upon the pleasing and successful idea of singing, joking and reciting.

In the shifting scenes of time the country became more populated. The circus proprietor enlarged the tent. Then a second ring was added, and finally, a third, together with a couple of stages and an enormous hippodrome track. Acts were placed in these rings, on the hippodrome track and in the aerial enclave above, that all might have a good view. The clown found that he could not make his voice heard in so large an area, so he resorted to pantomime or dumb acting. The modern-day clown does a feature, yet he is one of the most pleasing works of the big show.

There are more than fifty clowns with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus. These are clowns with one, two and three humps. There are clowns who impersonate policemen, prize-fighters, baseball players, farmers, etc. There are six French clowns, headed by Marceline Varian, Eddie DeVoe and George S. Ver. The Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus will give two performances in Little Falls on Friday, July 19.—Adv.

The modern clown is a paradox. He is the same as in the days of Dan Rice, away back in the last century, and yet he is a different clown. The same in that he paints his face in vermilion and white, and adheres to the time-honored ridiculous pattern in his dress; different because of the fact that his work today is practically all pantomime, whereas that of the ancient clown used to be composed of singing, reciting and telling jokes, at which time no other act worked in the big show.

The change in the clown's method of work is the logical result of shifting conditions in the circus world. In oth-

Let an Expert Do It

Charging is not an especially complicated process, but it is an especially important one. By proper charging, batteries are returned to their proper condition; by improper charging, their life is likely to be seriously shortened. When your battery is charged by a Willard expert, the charging rate is carefully determined, and is slowed down by just the right amount as the process nears completion. Ask us about the Willard Battery. It is the only battery with the "Sonic Ray" principle that is your absolute assurance of getting a battery as new as the day it left the factory.
