ATTENDED BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUB CONFERENCE.

County Superintendent Eliza Batzer, Miss Susan Hough, county demonstration agent, and County Agent Jacobson, H. M. Swift, high school agricultural teacher, and Victor Beckman of Freedom, were at the conference in the interest of the Boys' and Girls' clubs, held at St. Cloud Friday. T. J. Newville, national club leader of Washington, D. C., was one of the speakers. Misses Batzer and Hough gave addresses and the other local representatives entered in the discussions.

John Swanson, who resides in Belle Prairie town, had the misfortune to slip and fall Sunday, dislocating his hip.

Harry Dobbys, who has been in the navy stationed at Pensacola, Fla., has received his discharge, returning to his home here Tuesday noon.

FOURTY BABIES AT CLINIC.

At the baby clinic held Sunday at the K. C. hall, by Dr. Huenekens, in charge of the Child Welfare department of the State Board of Health, 40 babies were examined, 23 of whom had not been previously brought to the clinic. Miss Mettel, assisted by Mrs. Dewey Anker, Mrs. E. L. Fortier, Miss Myrtle Meyers, Misses Beulah Ekvig, Anna Denis and Mabel Berg took notes and did the weighing.

Assistant postmaster, E. S. Brown, who has been ill at his home, is again able to be on duty.

In a recent letter to relatives, Lieut. Edward Fearing, who is with the engineers in France, states that he has returned to duty from a short furlough which he spent at Nice, France, a short distance from the Italian border on the Mediterranean sea.

NEW PHONE RATES

IN EFFECT GENERALLY IN U. S.—
INJUNCTION SERVED IN MINNESOTA.

The telephone company put into effect January 21 the new regulations governing charges for long distance telephone calls which were recently ordered effective on that date by Postmaster General Burleson. The order places long distance telephone rates throughout the United States on a uniform basis. The new ruling makes no changes in local telephone rates. At the present time however, the rates noted below are not in effect on business originating in Minnesota, due to the fact that court action by injunction has been taken to prevent same, which matter is to be decided at an early date. The rates, however, do apply to calls from Minnesota to other states. There has been more or less misunderstanding as to the proposed rates, and a perusal of the information following will be of interest.

The principal change from the former method of determining long distance telephone rates is that instead of one class of service there are several, each with a different rate. For example, there is one charge for "station to station" calls, another when a definite person is desired, another for "appointment" calls, for night calls, and so on. The basis of all charges on long distance telephone calls under the new regulation is the "station to station" rate. This is determined by the air line distance between towns. The rate is computed for the initial period of conversation on the basis of 5 cents for each six miles up to 24 miles and 5 cents for each eight miles beyond that distance.

The "station to station" rate applies when the calling party does not ask to talk to a particular person at the telephone designated but merely to anyone who answers the telephone. The word "station" as used here means "telephone," the method being a telephone to telephone service. "Station to station" calls must be made either by giving the telephone number wanted or the name and address under which the telephone is listed. If the calling party states that he wishes to talk to a definite person, the "person to person" rate which is higher, is charged. Charges for "station to station" calls cannot be reversed, that is charged to the telephone called.

The "station to station" service is the cheapest and quickest form of long distance communication. It is furnished at a lower rate than other classes of service because it requires a minimum amount of work on the part of the long distance operators and "ties up" the wires for a shorter period than when a particular party must be summoned to the telephone.

In addition to "station to station" service, a "person to person" rate, an "appointment" rate, a "messenger call" rate and a "report charge" are quoted for calls to points on which the "station to station" rate is 15 cents or more.

The "person to person" rate is charged for messages where the calling party asks to talk to a particular person. It is about one-fourth greater than the "station to station" rate.

The "appointment" rate, applicable when a definite time is specified to talk to a particular person, is about one-half greater than the "station to station" rate.

The "messenger call" rate, where a messenger is necessary to summon the called person to the telephone, is the same as the "appointment" rate, plus any necessary charge for messenger service.

The "report charge" applies when a "person to person" call, an "appointment" call or a "messenger" call is made and the person desired is not in or will not talk or when the exact address of the person desired has not been given and he cannot be reached at a telephone within one hour. However, if the connection is made and the conversation held later in the same day the "report charge" is not made. This charge also applies if the calling party is absent when the connection is completed within one hour. The "report charge" is about one-fourth the "station to station" rate.

The lowest "station to station" rate quoted is 5 cents, the minimum "person to person" rate is 20 cents, the minimum "appointment" rate 25 cents and the minimum "messenger" rate 25 cents, while the lowest report charge is 10 cents. Only "station to station" service is to be had for short distances where the "station to station" rate is 5 or 10 cents.

On "station to station" calls, where the rate is 25 cents or less, an initial talking period of 5 minutes is permitted. For longer conversations an additional charge will be made. On "person to person" calls and "messenger" calls the initial talking period is 3 minutes.

Night rates apply only to "station to station" calls. Day rates apply at night on other classes of service. The rate for "station to station" calls made between 8:30 p. m. and midnight is about one-half of the "station to station" day rate, and for calls made between midnight and 4:30 a. m., the rate is one-fourth of the "station to station" day rate. The minimum night rate is 25 cents and day rates are charged at night when the day rate is less than this.

Greatest Jackplane.

A machine so gigantic that the curvature of the earth's surface had to be taken into consideration in its construction, is being built for the United States army as part of the program for the "salvage" of war waste, says World's Work. It is a huge planer, 500 feet long, which is to be used in the manufacture of gigantic lathes, which in turn are for use in the enormous "relining" plant which the ordnance department is building in France.

Fewer Students.

War and the industries made necessary by war have had the effect of depleting the student bodies of English universities to an extent that will be serious this year. At the University of Birmingham, one of the most modern and progressive seats of learning in Britain, where scientific training is a specialty, all the graduates who received the degree of bachelor of science this year were women.

English Golfing Statistics.

Englishmen, when their attention is not occupied by war, make use of 105,000 acres of land for the purposes of golf playing. There are 2,000 organizations, with nearly 300,000 members, and about 7,200,000 balls are made up of annually.

IN NEW QUARTERS

MORRISON COUNTY LUMBER COMPANY OCCUPIES FINE BUILDING—FARMERS REST ROOM

The new Morrison County Lumber Company's building on First street northeast, which has been under way of construction since last spring, is sufficiently completed to allow the company to move their equipment from their former offices in the yards in the north part of the city to the offices in the new building. A large stock of lumber and other building material have been moved to the building.

The building is constructed of sand mould red brick, hollow tile and concrete and is 80 by 150 feet in dimensions, sufficiently large enough to house the whole stock of lumber and building material without its being exposed to the weather.

There are two driveways extending the whole length of the building with doors at either end, thus making the loading or unloading of lumber wagons an easy matter as the lumber is held in racks which extend down the center of the building and down the north and south side.

There is a large display room across the front of the building, between the two driveways, in which building material will be displayed. This room is provided with large plate glass display windows and a display ledge.

The retail office of the company is situated in the northeast corner of the building. The office is furnished with a paneled wainscoting of golden oak finished with fir. Above the wainscoting the office is finished with cream colored beaver board. Opening off from the retail office is the office of the superintendent of the company, Z. N. Barnes. His office is finished in the same manner as that of the retail office. The furniture of both offices are of golden oak, matching the furnishings of the offices.

Back of Mr. Barnes' office and across a small vestibule is situated a large rest room which will be used by farmers and their wives when in the city to do their shopping. The room, although not yet finished, will be tastefully decorated and provided with lounging chairs. A door opening on to First avenue will allow people to use the rest room without having to go through the offices. From this door is a stairway leading to the second floor.

The second floor of the building is 32 feet wide extending across the front of the building and is 20 feet wide extending along the north side.

Across the front a large auditorium and work room has been built. The auditorium is provided with a stage, 14 by 18 feet which will be used for different entertainments put on in the city by the different women's organizations. There are several dressing rooms at the rear of the stage. A stairway, running from a vestibule in the southeast corner of the building, leads to the auditorium. The walls and ceiling of the auditorium will be decorated with ornamental plaster of paris beams and will be tinted. A maple floor is being laid which will be used for private dancing parties. There is a store room off the auditorium in which the chairs and other furnishings of the auditorium can be moved when a dance is given.

The work room, separated from the auditorium by folding doors, will be used for Red Cross work and work of the other women's organizations.

Along the north side on the upper floor are five office rooms, each 18 by 20 feet. They will be used by the officers of the firm.

A large basement is located across the front of the building in which are located two furnaces, one of the hot air type, furnishing heat to the offices on the lower floor and the other, of the hot water type, furnishing heat to the rooms on the upper floor. Toilet rooms are conveniently located on both floors. The building, as a whole, is one of the largest and most richly constructed lumber buildings in the northwest.

Wm. Hodson, director of the Children's Bureau in the department of the State Board of Control, was here Tuesday, looking up some matters in relation to his work.

CROOKSTON READY FOR FARMERS' WEEK.

The eighth annual Farmers' and Women's Week of the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, will be held during the week of February 10. Health conditions are steadily improving in northwestern Minnesota and a large attendance is expected. Various organizations, hold their meetings during the week, including the livestock breeders, pure seed co-operators, poultry association, Red River Valley Development association, and potato growers.

Through the enterprise and enthusiasm of the farmers and business men of northwestern Minnesota a $25,000 livestock pavilion has been constructed for a winter livestock show and sales. This building will be used for the first time next month. This event will mark an important epoch in the livestock development of the Red River Valley and will be appropriately celebrated for that reason. The program of the meetings includes well known men and women who have messages worth while.

Miss Rose Socher was called to the home of her brother, Adolph Socher at Swan River Tuesday, by the illness of several members of the family.
