

STATE J.H. MEET HERE

NEXT THURSDAY, TO ORGANIZE STATE ASSOCIATION—COUNTY MEETING TODAY.

Little Falls will on next Thursday be the objective point of two big schedule runs over the Jefferson Highway, the one starting from Albert Lea a. m. and the other starting from Thief River Falls in the northern part, at 6:15 a. m. Both runs are scheduled to arrive in Little Falls at about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, bringing delegates from all the counties along the highway to this city for the big meeting on Thursday, Oct. 9, when organization of the state division of the Jefferson Highway association will be perfected.

The meeting here next Thursday is going to be one of the most important ever held in this state. Not only will the state organization be formed and state officers be elected, but the Babcock amendment will be explained by its author, the County Commissioners' bonding law will be expounded and the proposed Federal Highway Law, known as the Townsend bill will be fully treated by S. M. Williams of Washington, D. C., president of the federal highways council of the United States. An attempt is being made to have Senator Townsend present at the meeting if his official duties will permit. These men, of course, will not make any pledges or promises as to where the Federal Highway in Minnesota will be located, but our people will not diminish our chances to secure the Federal Highway by meeting these gentlemen and making them acquainted with the Jefferson Highway enterprise.

Jefferson Highway members in every county through which the highway passes have been requested to hold meetings before the state meeting to organize county clubs and elect delegates to the state meeting at Little Falls. A meeting of Jefferson Highway members of Morrison county will be held at Little Falls this afternoon at 3 o'clock for that purpose and all members are urged to attend.

The purpose of the county meetings is to organize the club, elect officers and the three delegates to the state meeting.

J. D. Clarkson, general manager of the Jefferson Highway association, will be at the state meeting here on Thursday. He will come up with the party making the tour from Albert Lea.

HAITI LITTLE MEXICO

LIEUT. PUPHAL, MARINE, LOCAL BOY, TELLS OF BATTLES WITH BANDITS.

Minneapolis Journal (1): Bandit warfare in Haiti has turned that island republic into a "Little Mexico," according to Lieutenant Rouben E. Puphal, United States marine, who is returning to his home at Little Falls, Minn., today after discharge from service. Mr. Puphal was on duty in Haiti for four months.

"One of the defeated candidates for president, named Charlemagne, took to the mountains and organized his followers into bands of from 100 to 800 men. These bands pillaged, burned, robbed and murdered. Usually when they destroyed a farm, the owners would join the bandits," said Mr. Puphal.

"The bandit situation reached a climax about February. The outlaws are getting pretty well cornered now and are going back to work. The United States marines there have been engaged in mountain hunting, that rivals that of the Philippines," Mr. Puphal continued.

"The revolutionists rarely make a stand of longer than an hour against the American troops."

Mr. Puphal said he had commanded a detachment of eight marines which encountered a force of more than 200 outlaws and the bandits held out five hours before the American drove them off, but the young officer refused to discuss his exploit.

Haitian gendarmes officered by Americans are giving good service against the revolutionists, said Puphal, but occasionally are over zealous, with the result that shortly before the lieutenant sailed for the United States, on Aug. 24, two Americans were accidentally killed by gendarmes who mistook their identity. He said the killing of Frank Sampson of Osseo, Minn., recently, was probably a similar occurrence. Few Americans have been killed by the bandits.

Americans Dissatisfied.

There is much dissatisfaction among marines who are held on duty in Haiti he added. The men came into the service for the duration of the war, never went overseas, but have been chasing bandits in Haiti, and apparently feel they have been forgotten in the demobilization of the army.

Puphal went to Haiti to establish an automatic gun school at Port au Prince, the capital. He was discharged from service recently upon return to this country.

Lieut. Puphal arrived in Little Falls yesterday en route to Freedom, where his father is in the mercantile business.

DITCH ASSESSMENTS PROTESTED.

A special hearing was held before the county board Wednesday in regard to protests by Elmdale residents on the assessments for the proposed ditch No. 25 in that township. They complained that the viewers did not make an equitable assessment and that some lands that will be benefitted were not assessed.

The board decided to refer the matter back to the viewers to re-examine the course of the proposed ditch. However, Messrs. Randall and Herum, two of the viewers, presented their resignation, which was accepted. The board then adjourned to October 7, when new viewers will be appointed.

LECTURE—CONCERT

ARE BOOKED FOR FEBRUARY BY BOARD OF COMMERCE—OF PATRIOTIC NATURE.

Dr. F. Osten-Sacken, lecturer, and manager of the America First concert company, of which Miss Amy Dorrit, prima donna, Chicago Grand Opera company, is the director, have practically been engaged to appear in Little Falls for three programs during two days, either on the second and third or the fourth and fifth of February. Dr. Osten-Sacken was in the city personally Tuesday to secure a booking here and he appeared before the directors of the Board of Commerce, at an informal meeting and they decided to handle the required guarantee. They felt that this will be one of the more important events to take place in this city during the coming winter.

Dr. Osten-Sacken, who was during the war one of the principal patriotic speakers for the America First association, is a former German nobleman. A. J. Osten-Sacken, operator at the Herald, is his son. His part of the programs here will be three addresses on "One Hundred Per Cent Americanism." His lectures are preceded and followed by music by the concert company.

Four musicians of talent, all members of the Chicago Grand Opera company, constitute the concert company. Their music consists of instrumental numbers on the violin, viola, banjo and piano and vocal solos and group numbers. Miss Dorrit is an exceptional singer and is one of two known women in this country who can sing a perfect high "C" above high "C". Her voice has a range of four octaves, something very unusual. She is also a violinist of rare ability.

DEDICATE MONUMENT

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES AT PIKE'S FORT—LYMAN AYER UNVEILS MARKER.

Formal unveiling and dedication of the monument at the site of Pike's Fort, five miles south of Little Falls, on the bank of the Mississippi river, took place last Saturday afternoon, in the presence of a goodly number of people from this city, as well as prominent people from the twin cities and other places. Fine weather prevailed throughout the day, helping much to make the occasion the success that it was.

R. D. Musser of this city, who was chairman of the committee appointed to provide a marker for the historic spot, was the first speaker on the program. He said that the time of the year and the presence on the actual spot where Lieutenant Zebulon Pike camped, with a little imagination made one think that they were living in the time of the famous explorer and could see things as they were then. The erecting of a memorial here to Zebulon Pike, he said, was brought about through the Daughters of the Revolution, which has taken up the preservation of historic spots in this state. Mr. Musser introduced Mrs. James L. Morris, state regent of the D. A. R., and he asked her to take charge of the meeting. She made a few remarks, stating that this occasion would go down in the history of Little Falls. The salute to the flag was then given.

Prof. Maria L. Sanford, president emerita of the state university and one of the most prominent and well known women in Minnesota, gave "An Apostrophe to the Flag" which was fitting and beautiful. Her tribute to the flag was followed by the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the assembly.

Mrs. Morris then gave a very interesting account of the life of Zebulon Montgomery Pike. She asked her hearers first to think of the spot on which they stood as being the site of the first block house in Minnesota. The United States, at the close of Revolution, did not own any land west of the Mississippi. There were at that time no steamboats or railroads in the whole world but all traffic was by water and it was therefore necessary that the rivers be kept open for navigation. President Thomas Jefferson found in Lieutenant Zebulon Montgomery Pike the man who could be assigned this great task, although he was but 26 years of age then. Two of young Pike's favorite sayings were "Always be ready to die for your country" and "Preserve your honor free from blemish."

Lieutenant Pike set out to find a suitable place for a fort at the head of navigation waters, to locate the source of the Mississippi and to make friends with the Indians and ascertain the extent of the British trade in the north-west. He started out late in the fall of 1805. In making the trip up the river the company had the misfortune to lose a large quantity of provisions and ammunition when one of their boats sank and they were forced to abandon their journey temporarily at a point five miles south of this city. Here Lieutenant Pike and his men commenced the erection of a blockhouse on the 17th of October, 1805. The structure was completed on October 28th. They got plenty of food here, as all wild game was plentiful and they killed as many as four bears in one day.

On December 5th the party started for Sandy Lake, north of here, arriving there on January 8th, 1806. They continued north to find the source of the Mississippi and reached Cass lake, which they concluded was the source. They made a treaty with the Indians and in March they returned to the camp here. They remained here until in April, when they left for Ft. St. Louis, arriving there April 31. Lieutenant Pike was later sent out west to explore and he went west as far as the Rockies, discovering Pike's Peak, which was named after him. He won promotion fast and in the war of 1812 he was a general. He met death in an explosion, being crushed by a stone.

Mr. Morris concluded her talk by saying that it was with feeling of great pleasure that the Daughters of the Revolution presented to the city of Little Falls a memorial to one of the bravest men this country has ever known. She asked Mayor Bergheim to take the memorial for the city and preserve it.

Unveiling of the monument followed. Lyman Ayer performing this ceremony. Mr. Ayer was the first white child born in Minnesota and was a pioneer of this section. He was called upon for a talk but he explained that he was not capable of making a speech, adding that he could, however, talk to a person when alone with them. Mr. Ayer called Zebulon Pike the original discoverer of this territory. He said the United States purchased the land west of the Mississippi from France for 3 cents an acre, referring to the Louisiana purchase. He pointed out how Pike and his party must have endured many hardships and added that in those days one could not register at the Buckman hotel.

Mayor Bergheim thanked the D. A. R. for the memorial tablet and gave the representatives of that organization the assurance that the people of Little Falls will preserve the site and monument. He called attention to the historic old Ft. Ripley, where the whites sought refuge during the Indian outbreaks of 1853, where there still stands a powder house. He suggested looking into the matter of also preserving this spot and pointed out how the preservation of these historic spots will be of value to the children in the study of history by creating the actual facts so that they may be seen.

Mrs. Morris mentioned that nothing would perhaps ever be done to preserve the site of Pike's Fort had not Nathan Richardson, a pioneer of Morrison county, referred to this spot in his writings, thus bringing it to the attention of the society.

HELD TO GRAND JURY

TWIN CITY MEN CHARGED WITH ASSAULTING ALBERT DOMBOVY OF PLATTE.

Felix Dayon of Minneapolis and Warren Rainey of St. Paul were bound over to the grand jury yesterday morning by Municipal Judge Lyon, on charges of assault in the second degree. Their bonds were fixed at $1,000 but they were unable to furnish them and were committed to jail to await action of the grand jury, which meets in November.

The complaint was made by Albert Dombovy, 19-year-old son of Florian Dombovy of Platte town, who claims that the men struck him over the head with a club, last Friday night. He was not seriously hurt but had two or three small cuts on the head.

According to the defendants, they were on their way from the twin cities to Duluth and were hiking across country on what they figured was a short route to Brainerd, where they hoped to get a ride to Duluth. They had been in Little Falls and went to Pierz and then set out straight north from there. The road they took ends at the Dombovy place and they started through the pasture, where they met Dombovy. According to their testimony they thought he was going to attack them and they therefore struck first.

When the report of the affair reached Lastrup, Jos. Meyer of Pierz, who was at Lastrup, and John Gassert, started out in a car for the place. On the way they met two young men walking toward Lastrup, one of the men carrying a club. They were stopped and questioned as to why they were carrying a club, to which they replied that it was their protection against dogs. Further question brought the admission that they had been in the clubbing affair and they were taken to Pierz and then to this city and placed in jail.

Red Cross Notes

Although the American Red Cross is asking this year $15,000,000 with which to complete its war job at home and abroad, not one penny for this purpose will be asked of Red Cross enthusiasts in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana, according to an announcement made from Northern Division headquarters, 423 South Fifth street, Minneapolis.

The reason for this is that the Northern Division has already sent to national headquarters surplus funds amounting to $1,000,000, which is approximately one-third more than the quota set for this division. It is possible that local chapters of these four Northwest states will solicit funds for their own maintenance.

A campaign will be waged to obtain 50,000 Red Cross magazine subscriptions during the "Roll Call" between November 2 and 11, inclusive, when it is proposed to enroll 900,000 Red Cross members in the Northern Division. There will no longer be magazine memberships. The magazine will be sold separately and on its merits. Nationally the aim is to procure 20,000,000 memberships and 500,000 magazine subscriptions.

Miss Mueckley of Minneapolis, who is with the headquarters of the Northern Division of the Red Cross, is here this week and is accompanying Miss Worden, Red Cross nurse, throughout the county to observe what work she is doing.

Miss Janet Worden, county Red Cross nurse, addressed the teachers attending the institute, on Wednesday afternoon, giving them some advice as to the care of the school children and of watching for illness, etc.

MAY PASTURE MONTANA SHEEP

HERE.

W. E. Olson, secretary of the Board of Commerce, received a telegram Wednesday, asking whether arrangements could be made to pasture five thousand sheep from Montana in this vicinity and to provide one thousand tons of hay for them. He advised the inquirer that this could be handled easily and it is likely that a man will be here in a day of two to make final arrangements.
