

CREAMERIES GET TRAFFIC EXPERT

NEW BRANCH OF STATE ASSOCIATION OFFERS TO AUDIT OLD FREIGHT BILLS

(By Farm Bureau News Service) Co-operative creameries of Minnesota today have their own traffic expert on duty in New York.

The Minnesota Co-operative Creameries Association, Inc., has employed Hubert L. Stack, experienced traffic manager, as head of its eastern traffic department. He will take charge of the distribution of Minnesota's co-operative creamery butter shipments on the New York market. The state association is beginning to ship butter from Minnesota to itself in New York, so that as the direct representative of the dairy farmers it can check up on all freight bills and attend to all claims for overcharge, loss, damage, incorrect grading, and every other phase of transportation.

The new traffic manager not only will handle all current freight matters, but will also take care of the bills about which any co-operative creamery may be in doubt. If the charges are found to be incorrect, claims will be filed and collected. "For the first time, Minnesota co-operative creameries will know for themselves, that their freight bills are correct," says A. J. McGuire, general manager of the association. "In the past they have had to pay what the consignee said was right."

Grain Trading Bill Wins Out
The Farm Bloc, fathered by the American Farm Bureau federation, has won another striking victory in congress.

A few days ago, Washington dispatches announced that the Capper-Tincher bill to regulate the grain exchanges was headed for the sidetrack, and nothing could save it in the present session of congress. The house rules committee, dispatches said, would not permit its consideration.

Within 24 hours, the Farm Bloc's demand for action grew so strong that the rules committee reversed itself and passed a rule allowing the house of representatives to act on the new bill to put the grain trade under the supervision of the public.

The house of representatives almost immediately passed the bill by a vote of 208 to 76.

The new measure was drawn up as a substitute for the Capper-Tincher bill passed last year, and later held unconstitutional in some of its provisions. The new act would regulate the grain trade and prevent manipulation under the interstate commerce clause of the constitution. The first bill attempted to attain effective public regulation of the grain pits by taxation, which the supreme court held was a wrongful use of the taxing power.

CALLS FOR BIDS ON NEW HIGHWAY WORK

BABCOCK ANNOUNCES LATE SEASON PROGRAM OF 29 GRADING AND GRAVELING JOBS

Nearly 125 miles of gravel surfacing and 100 miles of grading with minor projects all estimated at about $1,440,000 make up the late 1922 Minnesota trunk highway improvement program made public Wednesday by Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner. Bids are to be opened July 10 on the first lot in a list of 29 projects.

The highway bulletin shows wide distribution of new work that the greatest needs and maximum numbers of highway users may be served, the proposed betterments being located in many parts of the state. It also refers to a cut of nearly $1,500,000 in the Minnesota allotment of federal aid which forces delay of many pending projects. The state highway program is well up to schedule nevertheless, and it is further pointed out that with each contract letting the waiting projects are nearer construction.
