

LOCALS LOST TO ST. CLOUD

The high school football team met defeat Saturday at the hands of the St. Cloud Teachers' College eleven, at St. Cloud, 20 to 0, in a game that should have been very close had the Little Falls boys put up the kind of a game that might have been expected of them. The boys lacked the pep in the first quarter, doing poor tackling and permitting the opponents to make big gains through the center of the line. Coach Ames yanked a number of men at the end of the first quarter and put in substitutes and during the remainder of the game they played with snap and vim and held St. Cloud to but one touchdown. St. Cloud got two touchdowns and goals in the first quarter. The local office of the Western Union Telegraph Company is now open evenings from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

"Lissen, Peggy—every mother gives her kiddie KELLOGG'S because you can eat great big bowls and—er—eat 'em all crisp and dandy!"

You never tasted Corn Flakes so joyously flavored, so crispy-crunchy as Kellogg's

That's why big and little folks who know the difference insist upon KELLOGG'S! The thing to do is to make comparison—Kellogg's against any other kind of corn flakes you ever ate! If it's quality, or all-the-time crispness or delicious or appetizing flavor you want—well, just wait till you eat Kellogg's! And, what a delight to know they're never leathery!

You'll get so cheerful about Kellogg's that the day's best hours will be when it's time to sit down with the family in front of generous bowls all filled most to bursting with those big, sunny-brown Corn Flakes! Never was a better time than tomorrow morning to prove that KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes are about the "gladdest" of all good things to eat.

Insist upon KELLOGG'S—the kind in the RED and GREEN packages—if you want to know how wonderfully good corn flakes can be!

Also makers of KELLOGG'S KRUMBLES and KELLOGG'S BRAN, cooked and krumbled.

Gordon Coats $23.50 to $38.50

That's good news for you. Gordon quality coats for men and young men. They're far better than the price—newest styles in fine woolsens, imported and domestic with large Opossum or Raccoon Collars, lamb lined or leather lined.

RAISE IN REAL ESTATE ASSESSMENTS

STATE COMMISSION MAKES 10 PER CENT INCREASE FOR VILLAGES OF MORRISON COUNTY

Real estate assessments in villages of Morrison county have been increased 10 per cent by the Minnesota Tax Commission, notice of such increase having been sent to County Auditor Billestein. The increase covers all structures and improvements as well as lands in the villages. The city of Little Falls is not affected by the increase.

The commission, in the communication to the county auditor advising him of the increase, states that the increase was deemed necessary after a comparison with other counties and checking of sales data. These changes are very conservative and not as high as the data in the hands of the tax commission indicate they should be, yet in view of the depressed business conditions that exist generally throughout the country, we are inclined to equalize values on a conservative basis this year, the letter states.

At present the commission is working on personal property abstracts and any change made on personal property assessments will be known soon.

Carleton won by a score of 15 to 6. Harold Kiewel of this city is working out with the Carleton team and may get a chance this season to get into regular games.

The second story of the residence on Fifth street and Sixth avenue southeast, occupied by the O. J. Otfedahl family, was damaged by fire Thursday afternoon of last week. The blaze had not gained much headway when the fire truck crew arrived and it was quickly extinguished. The loss was estimated at $150 on building and contents.

A club to be known as the Highland Club has been organized by ladies of the Congregational church. The club will be an auxiliary of the Ladies' Working Club and will do sewing for the Christmas sale, and other work of that nature. Mrs. Jenny Lind Blanchard is president; Miss Naomi Randall vice-president and Miss Anne Mitchell secretary-treasurer.

The Ladies' Working club of the First Congregational church entertained for Mrs. C. O. Brannen and daughter Laura Thursday afternoon of last week in the church parlors. The rooms were prettily decorated with autumn leaves and flowers. Short talks were given by Rev. Bacon and several ladies and Mrs. Chas. Jensen and Mrs. N. D. Woodworth sang. Miss Brannen was presented with a beautiful umbrella as a remembrance.

SPARROW-HAWKS GOT SNAKE

Reptile Seemed to Have Small Chance Against the Little Though Fierce Birds.

We soon found that there were two sparrow-hawks about, and by the 7th of March it seemed evident that they were mated and were considering the locality as a summer residence.

We now saw them almost daily, and the perfect domestic harmony, indeed I should say affection, shown between them, and the tender care and gallantry on the part of the male, would seem to suggest a high plane of evolution, and reminds one again that all the world is kin. Indeed, what have we of altruism which may not have its beginning in the humblest creature?

In accord with history and tradition the male was chief hunter, but very often shared the game with his mate after the "killing." Rushing to the back window, attracted by a loud call of killee, killee, killee, we would frequently see him returning from the hunt with a rat, a mouse, or an English sparrow, and it must be confessed that even small song-birds were not strictly prohibited under his liberal interpretation of the law. In a moment the female would light on a perch nearby, whereupon the male would immediately remove the mouse from his talons, with which the prey is almost always carried, and politely deliver it to his mate from his beak.

One bright, sunny afternoon there was an unusually excited call heard. It seemed that a garter-snake had glided forth from his hiding place to enjoy the early spring warmth, a circumstance which proved more fortunate for the "early bird" than for the early snake. It was most picturesque and exciting even to a spectator to see this fierce little bird, slightly smaller than a flicker, flying about from tree to tree as if in search of a more favorable stand, struggling with his writhing prey. When the snake had been decapitated and several inches of its length devoured, it seemed sufficiently subdued to be offered to the mate, although it was still wriggling when she accepted the offering. She ate it with evident relish, holding it firmly on the branch under her foot while she pulled off small pieces. When the tail was reached it became very difficult to hold this slender, tapering morsel.—S. Harstedt Chubb in Scribner's.

Was Marcus Aurelius a Persecutor? Under the reign of the prince-philosopher, Marcus Aurelius, were the Christians persecuted? After Renan, Linsenmayer and Allard have charged the memory of that emperor with this infamy, now A. P. Lemerle, professor of Caen, in a preface to his just published edition of his "Pensees," at the hand of history, contests the statements of these savants. According to him, the instructions given by Marcus Aurelius to the legate of Lyons were of a political and not a religious nature. Besides, the prince was then ill, and it was impossible for him to control the legate's reports. Several texts intimate that Marcus Aurelius alleviated certain measures taken against the Christians and that those which he dictated were perhaps exceeded. The discussion bears on very remote facts. If Marcus Aurelius had had foreknowledge of the controversy he would undoubtedly have cried with Antisthenes: "It is a royal virtue to act well and to let calumny run its course."

The Old Family Toddy. According to a rural paper a central Kentucky man prides himself in the possession of a "toddy glass" that has been in his family for over a century. The "toddy glass" recalls an old Kentucky custom that was an institution down to ante-bellum days. The "toddy glass" was utilized for the mixing of an old-fashioned toddy that was passed around and partaken of by company and the family. The common toddy existed before the sanitary crusade started and individual toddies became the vogue. In these days even if prohibition did not stand in the way, the old-time "toddy glass" likely would be placed under the health law along with the common drinking cup.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

New Kind of Auto. David Cook, age five, of Wabash, has been around automobiles ever since he was born, but was never at Lake Wawasee until last Sunday. A friend of the Cook family had the youngster out showing him the sights, and finally pointed out a sail boat which was traveling in the distance. For several minutes the boy was unable to find the boat. Suddenly he spied it and said, "Oh, you mean that auto with the side curtains on!" Since then he has been telling his playmates of the automobile which puts on side curtains and then runs on water.—Indianapolis News.

Steel Used in Railroad Cars. One million, five hundred thousand tons of iron and steel were consumed in the production of 1,667,000 passenger cars and trucks in the United States the past year. This amount of metal is approximately 4 per cent of the entire output of the mills of the nation.

Mixed. The teacher had asked the children to bring in sentences containing certain words. One of the list was the word squash. It was almost fatal to the young woman's dignity when one little boy read from his paper: "Squash is what an Indian calls his wife."

MAN KILLED NEAR ROYALTON

ABE ARVIG OF WALKER MET DEATH WHILE BUILDING TRANSMISSION LINE

Abe Arvig of Walker, 35 years old, owner of the telephone and electric light plant in that city, was instantly killed 5 miles northeast of Royalton, Thursday of last week at about 3:30 p. m. when he fell from an electric light pole, on which he was working stringing wires for a transmission line.

Just how the accident was caused is not known as no one saw Mr. Arvig at the time that he fell from the pole. He was found later by members of his crew and the skull was fractured, he having fallen on some rocks. There were no burns on the body to indicate electrocution and it is believed that he was struck by lightning as there was a storm at that time.

Mr. Arvig had a contract for the construction of an electric transmission line from Royalton to Buckman. The remains were shipped to Walker for burial.
