The Boston Gazette contains an article relative to the Minnesota Rice company's finances, and regards the situation as alarming to a certain extent. The article is based on a report that the company's interest is over $2,000,000, and demands $1,200,000, while the gross earnings last year were only a little over $800,000. The Gazette thinks it doubtful if the rice can pay these figures net.

Charles Hesse, of Hollywood township, is to be tried on the charge of kidnapping Charles, Sept. 30, the indictment being in the first degree. Toward the close of last July Hesse was discovered with a suspicious circumstance. A coroner's inquest was held, when Hesse declared that his wife, in attempting to take a gun from her resting place, accidentally shot herself; that she then staggered around the yard and finally struck her head against a saw-dog standing for lack of other evidence a verdict of accidental death was returned. But the subsequent discovery of a blood and hair-stained hammer led to further investigation, resulting in his indictment by the grand jury.

The committee appointed by Governor Merriam to investigate the Rochester insane asylum has made its report. The report is very mild in character and accuses Dr. Brown, the superintendent, in nothing except the Taylor-Cumbs matter. The committee, among other things, found the superintendent and physician a rule have endeavored to faithfully perform their respective duties with the exception that the superintendent has not given the attendants the thorough instruction in reference to their duties that should have been given; that the attendants have been grossly negligent in reporting to the superintendent or physicians cases of ill-treatment, arising mainly from an unspoken agreement between the superintendent and the attendants that none of them should make reports. The committee also states that the salaries allowed attendants is insufficient to secure the services of competent persons. The committee recommends an increase in the number of assistant physicians and that one of those on the woman side of the asylum be a woman.

In the non-medical supervising force, whose duty it shall be to constantly guard the wards, reporting any breach of rules that may occur; the establishment of a hospital school of instruction and the putting in practice of a system of merit and demerit, by which attendants shall be promoted. The number of patients in the hospital is thought to be too great for one institution. After the report had been read, Dr. Brown, the superintendent, sent in his resignation, which was accepted by the governor. In his letter of resignation Dr. Brown says that he is fully satisfied with the report of the committee.
