FAVORABLY IMPRESSED

Land Seekers Think Little Falls is a City With a Bright Future.

THEY VISIT OUR INDUSTRIES.

Are Out Looking Over Railroad Lands Today With a Local Agent.

Nearly every train that arrives from St. Paul, these days, brings in someone looking for land, and this indicates that the many advantages Morrison county possesses as an agricultural locality is becoming known to the outside world, and its many acres of fertile, but unused, soil will soon be under the plow, and yielding its share of the county's great industrial wealth.

Wednesday evening a party of ten gentlemen from Spirit Lake, Iowa, and vicinity, arrived in the city in search of farming land. All of them had the appearance of being intelligent, well-to-do farmers, a class who will be welcomed as new residents of Morrison county should they decide to locate here. And that they will so decide there can be little doubt, from the many favorable expressions they made regarding the city and what they had seen and learned of the surrounding country. They were looking for railroad lands, and came here to look over the Northern Pacific lands in this county. They were accompanied by G. B. Walker, of the land department of the Northern Pacific Railroad company, who will assist the local agent in showing them the land in different sections of the county.

Although it was nearly 9 o'clock when the party reached here, they expressed a desire to look over some of the city's industries last night, and were shown through the plant of the Pine Tree Lumber company, the Interstate flour mills and the Hennepin Paper mills, and were also given a view of the dam.

Every one of them expressed surprise at the magnitude of our industries and stated that they know of no city in the northwest that had brighter prospects for future growth and prosperity.

That these men are here to investigate every condition is evident from the remark one of them made. He stated that he had visited nearly every business establishment in the city last evening and this morning and priced all articles that he could think of, and found that they could be purchased cheaper here than in the community from which they came.

It is safe to say that several, if not all of them, will locate here, for they are highly pleased with Little Falls and can find as good land in Morrison county as can be found anywhere, and at a reasonable price.
