Miscellaneous Reading.

The President's Gun.
At a great Unconditional Union Meeting at St. Louis a few evenings since, the following spirited verses were read:
Ratify! ratify! Ratify what!
The President's Proclamation!
At the enemies of the nation.
"Dahlgrens" or "Unions" are nothing like it
Those enemies to both.
It ranges and carries across the whole land,
From one extreme to the other.

Hurrah! hurrah! for the President's gun—
Well named "The Proclamation!"
'Twas made of the metal of stern resolve,
And run in the hearts of the nation.
Already the cheeks of each traitor host
Are white as their staple cotton;
For they find that their boasted "corner stone"
Was made of a rock that is rotten.

Henceforth let the President's gun advance
The armies of the nation;
And morning and evening they'll all salute
The "rifled" Proclamation.
And in future years, as the Stars and Stripes
In peace float out above it,
We'll strive to teach the erring hosts,
Who hate it now, to love it.

Camp Fun.
A private in one of our regiments has amused himself with putting some of the experiences of camp life into the style of a distant and simpler age, and a copy of his production has been sent to the Evening Post for publication.
CHRONICLES OF THE 123d OHIO VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

1st. Man that is born of a woman, and enlisteth as a soldier in the One Hundred and Twenty-Third Ohio, is of a few days and short of rations.
2d. He cometh forth at 'reveille,' is present also, at 'retreat,' yea even at 'tattoo,' and returneth apparently at 'taps.'

3d. He draweth his ration from the commissary; and devoureth the same. He striketh his teeth against much 'hard tack,' and is satisfied. He filleteth his canteen with 'applejack,' and clappeth the mouth thereof upon the bung of a whiskey barrel, and after a little while goeth away rejoicing in his strategy.

4th. Much soldiering hath made him sharp; yea even the seat of his breeches is in danger of being cut through.
5th. He covenanteth with the credulous farmer for many turkeys and chickens; also at the same time for much milk and honey to be paid for promptly at the end of each ten days, and lo! his regiment moveth on the ninth day to another post.

6th. His tent is filled with potatoes, cabbage, turnips, krait and other delicate morsels of a delicious taste, which abound not in the Commissary Department.
7th. And many other things not in the returns; and which never will return; yet of a truth, it must be said, of the soldier of the One Hundred and Twenty-Third that he taketh nothing that he cannot reach.

8th. He fireth his Austrian rifle at midnight, and the whole camp is aroused and formed in line of battle, when lo! his mess come bearing in a nice porker, which he solemnly declareth so resembled a secesh that he was compelled to pull trigger.

9th. He giveth the Provost Marshal much trouble, often capturing his guard, and possessing himself of the city.
10. At such times lager and pretzels flow like milk and honey from his generous hand. He giveth without stint to his own comrad; yea, and withholdeth not from the One Hundred and Sixteenth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, or from the lean, lank, expectant Hossier of the 87th Pennsylvania.

11th. He stretcheth forth his hand to deliver his fellow soldiers of the One Hundred and sixteenth from the power of the enemy; yea, he starteth at early dawn from Petersburg, even on a 'double quick' doth he go, and toileth on through much heat, suffering privation and much vexation of spirit, until they are delivered. Verily I say unto you, after that he suffereth for want of tests and camp kettles. Yea, on the heights of Moorfield his voice may be heard proclaiming loudly for "hard tack and coffee," yet he murretheth not.

12. But the grant of a pig or the crowing of a cock awakeneth him from the soundeth sleep, and he goeth forth until halted by the guard, when he instantly clappeth his hands upon his 'breadbasket,' and the guard, in commiseration, alloweth him to pass to the rear.

13th. No sooner hath he passed the sentry's beat, than he striketh a "bee line" for the nearest hen roost, and seizing a pair of plump pullets, returneth soliloquizing: "The noise of a goose saved Rome," how much more the flesh of chickens preserve the soldier.

14th. He ceaseth playeth at euchre with the parson, to see whether or not there shall be preaching in the camp on the following Sabbath; and by dexterously drawing from the bottom a Jack, goeth away rejoicing that the service is postponed.

15. And many other things doeth he; and lo! are they not recorded in the "morning reports" of Company B?
Yea, verily.

Fiendish Outrage.

THE CORPSE OF A UNION SOLDIER RESURRECTED BY COPPERHEADS.

From the Rochester (Ind) Chron, 26th ult.
On Wednesday of last week was perpetrated in our county, one of the most disgraceful acts which it has ever been our lot to record, and which will brand the guilty participants, with infamy through their whole future lives.

Our readers will remember the announcement in our columns, a few months since, of the death of our esteemed fellow citizen F. C. Hamlet, a soldier in the 29th Indiana volunteers. About three months after his death, his body was sent home for burial among his friends, in accordance with his last wish, and was duly interred in a grave yard not far distant from his late residence, in New Castle township. So long a time having elapsed since his death the body was of course, much decayed, especially as it was impossible for his son, who is still a member of the 29th, to obtain an air-tight coffin immediately, and for this reason it was deemed injudicious to open the coffin when it arrived.

It was but a short time until some cowardly Copperhead started the story that Mr. Hamlet's body had not been brought home, but that the coffin contained arms with which the Abolitionists were about to commence war upon the innocent and unsuspecting Democrats. With eyes staring from their sockets, these brave men retailed the silly falsehood; and, absurd as the stupid invention seemed to men of sense, the whole hungry pack of cowardly New Castle hyenas swallowed it with delight, and threatened to disinter the coffin. Few, however, deemed it possible that the wretches would carry out their threat. It seemed scarcely possible that things could be found in the shape of men, that would desecrate the grave of a neighbor, who had fallen in the service of his country. But partisan cowardice and hate reached far enough to insult even the dead!

Accordingly, on Wednesday of last week a party of some thirty or forty of the New Castle Copperheads, armed with rifles, shot guns, revolvers, &c., proceeded to the grave, and having stationed their pickets, to prevent interruption, commenced their infamous work.

In the mean time, the wife of the deceased and Mr. Henry Hamlet, a brother having arrived, protested against the proceedings, but in vain. The coffin was soon reached and taken from the grave. The hyenas then proceeded to open it, but finding the lid well secured, they split it open with an ax, and found—the body of the dead soldier! Their devilish malignity being gratified, they replaced the coffin in the grave, and filled it with earth.

Let the poor soldier, who may fall in battle or by disease, far away from home and friends, be buried among strangers, for there his bones may be undisturbed; no vandal will desecrate his grave; it remains for freedom hating potroons at home, to commit such fiendish sacrilege.

We are glad to say that a portion of the so called Democracy denounce this outrage, though many of them approve it.

East Tennessean Loyalists Aroused.
The Murfreesboro correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette furnishes the following bit of news.
"Times often make or develop the man needed Rebel iron rule in East Tennessee, in disarming Union men—driving out those who would not join them, and is hanging and assassinating all that stopped their progress—has not only sent thousands of recruits into the ranks of the Union army, but has raised up in their midst a fearless troop of avengers."

A man by the name of Beattie, but better known as 'Turkey Dave,' is the leader of about five hundred fearless men—who dropped down on Morgan's guerilla bands, and wipe them out as quietly as the angel of death. I have heard the opinion expressed that rebel cavalry will not again venture into the counties of Fentress or Benton. Those who have done so recently have not returned to give an account of their exploits. 'The devil must be fought with his own weapons' is the maxim of a certain class of warriors, and the kind of warfare encouraged during the last year by the rebels, is fast raising up a class of men who will meet them on their own ground, and with better weapons, will give them mountain, rock and bush fighting to their hearts content! At present I am not at liberty to say anything more on this topic; but you will hear again from 'Turkey Dave.'

One of the Texans who boarded the Harriet Lane, immediately on jumping aboard grasped a Federal by the collar, exclaiming: "Surrender, or I will blow your brains out!" The other replied, "You had better look at me first." Recognition was instantaneous—they were brothers.

STATE ITEMS.

We learn that work is progressing finely on the Winona and St. Peter Railroad.—About 100 men are now employed in the bluffs, and this force will be considerably increased as the season advances.—Winona Republican.

HEAVY HOGS.—Mr. H. D. Morse shipped this morning by wagons for the Milwaukee market, 24 dressed hogs, which weighed 7,296 pounds—an average of over 300 lb each. They were a clean, well dressed and fine lot.—Id.

A CURIOUS PLANT.—Commodore Terry, at the Post Office, has shown us a sprig of a plant growing in a flower pot, which has sprung from the seed of one of the famous gigantic Pine trees of California. The sprig is only a few inches in height, but if it grows long enough may be as large as any of its ancestors—i. e. 450 feet high, and 15 feet in diameter. Imagine a tree twice, or more higher than the First Presbyterian church steeple! We hardly expect to see this plant attain that height, as it will require some two or three thousand years more or less.—Press.

BUFFALO.—A fine buffalo was killed the other day by some trappers, twelve miles west of Glencoe. On Tuesday last as P. W. Savage, Esq., and Captain Grant, of company A, 6th Minn. were en route to Fort Ridgely from Glencoe, they started up four of the monarchs of the prairie, but did not succeed in obtaining any of them. This fact of buffaloes being in our midst, plainly indicates that there are no Indians in or around this section of the west.—Glencoe Register.

Old Abe and the Minister.

An officer of the Government called one day at the White House, and introduced a clerical friend from New England. 'Mr. President,' said he, allow me to present to you my friend, the Rev. Mr. F., of ——— Mr. F. has expressed a desire to see you and have some conversation with you, and I am happy to be the means of introducing him.' The President shook hands with Mr. F. and desiring him to be seated, took a seat himself. Then—his countenance having assumed an expression of patient waiting—he said: 'I am now ready to hear what you have to say.' 'O bless you sir,' said Mr. F., I have nothing especial to say. I merely called to pay my respects to you, and, as one of a million, to assure you of my hearty sympathy and support.' 'My dear sir,' said the president, rising promptly—his face showing instant relief, and with both hands grasping that of the visitor, 'I am very glad to see you indeed. I thought you had come to preach to me.'

A JOKE is told by the boys of the 117th, Ohio, in regard to the 'mustered in' of a darkey attached to the regiment, who was fearful he would be deprived of his pay unless he was joined to the service. A huge mustard plaster was applied to his back about a foot below where the buttons on his coat are placed, and under the belief that all soldiers were served in the same manner, he wore it until the pain became unendurable, at which time he was declared 'mustered in,' according to the law in such cases made and provided. If that darkey don't get his wages, it will not be because he has not suffered for his country.

WIFE, I am shortly to leave you—the doctor tells me that I am to live but a few hours at most. I will soon be in Heaven. WHAT! you soon be in Heaven?—You! You'll never be any nearer Heaven than you are now you old brute.
DOLPHUS! 'DOLPHUS,' hoarsely growled the old man, Dolphus, bring me my cane and let me larrap the trotter once more before I die.

A DEAR STAMP.—Under the Congressional stamp act, it cost the executors of Nicholas Longworth four hundred and thirty dollars to purchase a stamp to put upon his will. Not long ago such a stamp tax would have been considered incredible. Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—A meeting was held at the Produce Exchange on the 17th of March in aid of the Atlantic Telegraph. It was addressed by Cyrus W. Field, W. A. Dodge, and A. A. Low. Fairs, $1,550 sterling was raised on the spot, and a committee was appointed to act with one from the Chamber of Commerce, in obtaining subscriptions. Mr. Field addresses the Board of Brokers to-morrow.

THE DIFFERENCE.—U. S. States Treasury Notes are at a premium in the South, above the shin plasters of the bogus Confederacy, of two hundred and fifty per cent. That's what's the matter, or any other man.

SENATOR FOOTE, of Vermont, refused to build two gunboats, for two splendid English engines captured on the Princess Royal near Charleston, recently.

ISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

A GENTLEMAN the other evening objected to playing cards with a lady because, he said she had such "winning ways" about her.

A negro, undergoing an examination, when asked if his master was a Christian, replied, "No sir, he's a member of Congress."

As the French have no "no" in their language, Mr. Guppy wants to know how they can spell wagon.

Or $4,367,000 in treasure exported from San Francisco in the first three weeks of January, nearly $3,000,000 was sent to England.

General Hooker, in testifying before the Committee on the Conduct of the War, says under oath, that the failure of the Peninsula campaign was owing to the incompetency of McClellan.

PURCH's last conundrum is: "What's the difference between your great coat and a baby? One you wear, the other was."

Owing to the absence of pennies in circulation, the grocers of New Haven are giving nutmegs in the way of small change.

On Wednesday the President received, by Adams' & Co's. Express, a package of greenbacks, amounting to $868, which sum the writer of an accompanying letter says he obtained from the Government dishonestly, and which he therefore returns. The letter is dated Brooklyn, March 2d 1863.

A NEW (Roman Catholic) University edifice, on a grand scale, is about to be commenced in the North Division of Chicago, on the block adjoining the Cathedral.

Ten thousand bottles of liquor were captured at Aquia Landing, Virginia, some days since. It belonged to 'Butlers,' who, had the stuff reached the army, would have realized from its sale fifteen thousand dollars in profits. At Winchester, Virginia, whiskey sells readily at forty dollars per gallon, while flour is only twenty dollars per barrel.

We have a new illustration of British 'neutrality.' British naval officers at Charleston, and elsewhere, acting as spies for the rebels, and prowling about our coast in order to keep Messrs. Davis & Co., posted as to what we are proposing to do! What next?

THE New York papers say that assurances have been received in Washington, that Gov. Seymour will throw the Brooklyn, the Woods, and their party overboard, and take strong ground in favor of the Administration.

THE rebel Congress is discussing the propriety of selling all negroes found in arms against the Confederacy, and dividing the proceeds with the capturers.

A little fellow, weeping piteously, was suddenly interrupted by some amusing occurrence. He hushed his cries for a moment—the train of thought was broken. 'Ma' said he, renewing his sobs, and wishing to have his cry out, 'Ma—ugh! ugh! what was I crying about just now?'—

ROBERT SMALL, the famous negro pilot who brought the Planter out of Charleston harbor, says that six thousand negroes are behind the batteries at Savannah, and ten thousand in and around the forts at Charleston. He believes that in ten days he can raise a force of ten thousand loyal blacks to fight for the Union.

QUEEN VICTORIA has prepared the following inscription for a memorial of Prince Albert, which has just been erected at the Bath United Hospital, in England:—"His life sprang from a deep inner sympathy with God's will, and therefore, with all that was true, beautiful and right."

THE rebel General Price's son—himself high honored in the Confederate service—on taking the oath of allegiance, a few weeks since, exhorted the North to maintain its position a little while longer, insisting that the grand rebellion was so rapidly becoming disorganized by the institution of various grounds, of minor rebellions within its own limits, and against its own procedure; that it could not long support its present warlike front, but must soon fall by suicide, if it did all through sheer inanition.

WHY is the President like an owl, in the day time? Because he's always a 'bickler.'

A LITTLE incident occurred in one of the schools in West Lynn, Mass., which is worth relating. One of the classes was reciting, and the teacher asked a little American girl who was the first man. She answered that she did not know. The question was put to the next scholar, an Irish child, who answered, 'Adam,' with evident satisfaction. 'No,' replied the other, 'you need not feel so good about it, he wasn't an Irishman.'

THE Navy Department will forthwith build two gunboats, for two splendid English engines captured on the Princess Royal near Charleston, recently.
