MINNESOTA NEWS.

Climate and Crop Bulletin.

The temperatures were moderately high early in the week, but considerably lower towards its close. There were showers in the South and Southwest on the 17th, 18, 19, which were locally heavy in southwestern counties; there were light local showers in northern portions on the 20th.

In the Red River valley there was temporary benefit to the crops from the showers, but more rain is needed, especially for the oats, barley and flax seeded on the spring plowed lands, and for pastures and forage crops. The wheat and oats on the fall plowed lands seem to be standing the dry weather fairly well.

In the southwest the rains were heavy enough to flood some of the low lands again, and to delay the cultivation of corn and potatoes; in other parts of the South the wheat, oats, barley, flax, corn and potatoes on high lands were benefited, and there was benefit also on the recently flooded lands which were becoming dry and baked. Early barley is heading; rye is filling nicely; oats do not look well in some places; wheat is generally good except that a little rust is reported in Redwood County; a fine clover crop is being cut; timothy is coming into blossom; corn is backward because the weather has not been continuously warm enough for corn growth; flax is generally doing well, though much of the flax was seeded on low lands which have suffered from the excess moisture. A good strawberry crop is being gathered.

Must Have Our Butter.

The state dairy and food department has received information that large Eastern butter dealers are negotiating for the butter of Minnesota creameries. A representative of a Brooklyn firm in a visit at the office of the department in St. Paul, stated that his firm has come in competition with Minnesota butter in the Eastern markets and has decided that to keep its trade it must handle the Minnesota product.

The firm authorized the representative to pay at least 1 cent a pound more than the market price for all the butter he could buy. The representative left on a visit to the principal creameries of the state with the intention of buying up the visible supply. The agent said that the firm had never before bought any butter in the West, but that it intended hereafter to make Minnesota its principal market.

B. D. White, creamery expert of the state dairy and food commission, attributes Minnesota's reputation for producing the best butter in the country to the excellence of Minnesota buttermakers, to the co-operative creamery system, and to the fact that most patrons carry milk fresh to the creamery and let the buttermakers skim and ripen it, instead of skimming and ripening at home.

Seemingly Wrongful.

The annual meeting of the state normal school board, held at the capitol developed some interesting educational discussion. The presidents of the five schools presented reports, all of which were full of merit. The last one, by President Millsbaugh of Winona, called attention to the state law which discriminates against graduates of the normal schools. It provides that principals of graded and semi-graded schools must be graduates of the advanced course in the normal schools, or must hold a professional or first grade certificate. The high school graduate who goes right to teaching can get a first grade certificate in a year, but the graduate of an elementary course in a normal school, which takes much longer, must pass a rigid examination and take a year of teaching before being eligible.

Mrs. Hughson, of Chicago, whose letter follows, is another woman in high position who owes her health to the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for several years with general weakness and bearing-down pains, caused by womb trouble. My appetite was fitful, and I would lie awake for hours, and could not sleep, until I seemed more weary in the morning than when I retired. After reading one of your advertisements I decided to try the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad I did. No one can describe the good it did me. I took three bottles faithfully, and besides building up my general health, it drove all disease and poison out of my body, and made me feel as spry and active as a young girl. Mrs. Pinkham's medicines are certainly all they are claimed to be."—Mrs. M. E. HUGHSON, 347 East Ohio St., Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Pinkham Tells How Ordinary Tasks Produce Displacements.

Apparently trifling incidents in woman's daily life frequently produce displacements of the womb. A slip on the stairs, lifting during menstruation, standing at a counter, running a sewing machine, or attending to the most ordinary tasks may result in displacement, and a train of serious evils is started.

The first indication of such trouble should be the signal for quick action. Don't let the condition become chronic through neglect or a mistaken idea that you can overcome it by exercise or leaving it alone.

More than a million women have regained health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for her advice, and a few timely words from her will show you the right thing to do. This advice costs you nothing, but it may mean life or happiness or both.

Mrs. Leiah Stowell, 177 Wellington St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—You are indeed a godsend to women, and if they all knew what you could do for them, there would be no need of their dragging out miserable lives in agony.

"I suffered for years with bearing-down pains, womb trouble, nervousness, and excruciating headache, but a few bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made life look new and promising to me. I am light and happy, and I do not know what sickness is, and I now enjoy the best of health."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can always be relied upon to restore health to women who thus suffer. It is a sovereign cure for the worst forms of female complaints,—that bearing-down feeling, weak back, falling and displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries, and all troubles of the uterus or womb. It dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus in the early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. It subdues excitability, nervous prostration, and tones up the entire female system. Its record of cures is the greatest in the world, and should be relied upon with confidence.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.
