MINNESOTA NEWS.

Forestry Convention.

The attendance at the sessions of the American Forestry association, to be held in Minneapolis Aug. 25-6, promises to include many persons of note in government and private forestry circles. Chief among these is Secretary of Agriculture Hon. James Wilson. Dr. Roth, formerly chief forester of the department of the interior, in charge of the forest reserves, will speak on "Possibilities of Reforestation in the White Pine Districts in the Lake States." Mr. Edw. A. Bowers, conspicuous in his efforts to further national forest reserve legislation, will handle the subject of "The Future of the Forest Reserves." "Taxation and Private Forestry" will be discussed by Mr. Ernest Bruncken, late secretary of the Wisconsin forestry commission. Mr. Overton W. Price, of the bureau of Forestry, gives a paper on "Government Aid to Private Forestry." "Forestry Courses in Agricultural Colleges," will be presented by Prof. S. B. Green, of the state college of agriculture. Atty.-Gen. Douglas will talk on "Planting Pine at Itasca Park." Prof. C. W. Hall, of the state university, has a paper on "Geological Features of Water Control on the Upper Mississippi Valley."

Perhaps the most interesting subjects are the papers by Mr. Eugene Bruce on "The Plans and Policy of the Forestry Bureau on the Chippewa Reservations;" one by Mr. T. B. Walker on "Our Past and Future Forestry Policy;" and an article by Mr. B. F. Nelson, of the Nelson-Tuthill Logging company on "A Lumberman's Idea of Reforestation." These will be delivered on Wednesday morning.

At the mass meeting on Wednesday evening, at which Secretary Wilson will speak, short addresses will also be given by Gov. Van Sant, Hon. John Lind and others.

The Minneapolis Commercial club will entertain the visitors on Tuesday evening, Aug. 25.

Great Dairy Display. Interest in northwestern buttermaking will draw to the Minnesota State Fair of 1903 a most complete display of dairy apparatus as well as a large amount of butter in competition or the liberal prizes offered by the state fair management. A. W. Trow, of Glenville, is superintendent of the department and is making every effort to have the exhibition the best ever seen in the country. Competition is keen and some high scoring is looked for. Manufacturers of dairy apparatus are struggling for the space in the dairy building. It will be crowded with the latest things.

This year the fair will open on Aug. 31 and continue until Saturday, Sept. 5.

Hunters' Licenses. The state game and fish commission has just received the new licenses for resident and non-resident hunters. The licenses are made to conform to the new law and the care which has been put upon their manufacture will be appreciated by the hunters. The resident licenses are printed on heavy cloth and have attached to each 12 coupons. Each of these is a shipping coupon and each bears upon its face the number of the license. The coupons provide for the shipping of four deer, two moose and two caribou, which is all the law allows.

State Gets Money. The state treasury received a check for $25,622.24 from the United States war department to reimburse Minnesota for expenses incurred in equipping volunteers for the Spanish-American war. This is one of several claims which the state has against the government, aggregating $199,619.

Notwithstanding reports from Washington that $84,119 of this amount had been disallowed, State Auditor S. G. Iverson believes that Minnesota will be reimbursed to the full amount of the expenditures for this purpose. Mr. Iverson says that it may require an act of congress, but that eventually the money will be forthcoming.

Substitute for Marble. Kasota or Mankato limestone has been discovered to be capable of taking a high polish, rendering it in appearance similar to the Italian marbles for interior finish. This limestone has been recognized as capable of producing a splendid appearance when cut for ornamental purposes, as exemplified in the new Ramsey county jail. It has remained, however, for the capitol commission to discover that the stone can be polished for interior finishing.

A large pillar of polished Mankato limestone has been put up in the main corridor of the new capitol. The stone can be procured in a variety of colors, shading from a light yellow to a deep pink.
