For examples, I am wearing my new hat, which cost me $35. I find a keen delight in knowing that people have so far appreciated my taste as to turn around and gaze after me. I knew they were inwardly commenting on how very becoming it was."

"Perhaps that is the reason, sponded her friend, "but I am inclined to think it was because there is a $2.98 price mark still hanging to it."

Demobilization Comedy.

Queer things happen in demobilizadon, remarks a writer in London Evening Standard. For example, here is the case of Smith and Brown. Brown is the head of the "one-man business;" Smith is his employee. Brown applies, successfully, for the discharge of Smith as a "slip" man. But his own application, on the ground of "one-man" business, was disregarded. Thus Smith is at liberty without a job; Brown, who had a job to offer him, is still in khaki.

Blg Convention of Pan-American Acronauts Will Stimulate Enlistments in the U. S. Air Service.

Atlantic City, New Jersey, will be ne Mecca for a large gathering of American men, and representatives of foreign countries, who will be at-tracted by the first Pan-American Aeronautics Convention, which meets there in May.

Captain Charles J. Glidden, of the U. S. Air Service, Military Aeronautics, now stationed in the administrative department of the United States Flying School, Southerfield, Georgia,

"The Pan American Aeronautics Convention and exhibition to be held at Atlantic City during the month of May will bring to the attention of the American people the wonderful progress of aviation. The work of aireraft during the war establishes its practicability for commercial uses and insures the creation in this country of a complete aerial service, connecting all cities and towns for the transportation of persons, mail and merchandise.

"Before the close of 1920 I confilently predict this service will be in full operation, with extensions to all countries on this hemisphere. In the United States trunk lines will be established across the country which will place eyery city and town within six hours from some twenty-four distributing points. Once created and in operation our extensive coast line could be put under complete protection from any possible invasion. Thousands of college-trained aviators in and out of the service are now waiting to join in the operation of an aerial

"The government calls for fifteen thousand men to enlist in air service for one or three years' time. This is bound to receive a quick response, as here is an opportunity for men to be immediately assigned to duty in the service and of the number who enlist those who pass certain examinations will be given flying and balloon piloting instruction. This liberal offer is equivalent to a one or three years' college course in aeronautics, and one may become expert in all branches of aviation, and if qualified a non-commissioned or even a commissioned of ficer. In addition to regular pay, clothing, quarters and rations, extra pay begins with instructions to operate the aircraft. As the number of men wanted is limited to fifteen thousand for the entire country, quick application to the nearest recruiting officer will be necessary before the privilege is withdrawn. "Everybody directly and indirectly interested in aviation should attend the Atlantic City convention and exhibition in order to keep abreast with the times and become familiar with the development of aircraft for defense and commercial uses and witness the demonstrations of the world's greatest airplane aviators, who will fly, and balloon pilots sail, to the At-

Brienne-le-Chateau, the little French town where Napoleon received his military education, recently celebrated the 105th anniversary of the emperor's last visit to the village. It was on January 29 that Napoleon began his campaign against the allies, who were storming at all the borders of France At Brienne, where he had been taught the grim science of warfare, he attempted to cut the Silesian army in two by suddenly interposing his forces between those of Schwartzenberg and Bluecher, the object being to prevent their uniting. Almost on the same spot and on the same day Napoleon had a hairbreadth escape from the attack of a Cossack who attempted to murder him. It was only the prompt assistance of Gorgaud that saved Napoleon.

De Leon's Landing in Florida. On March 27, in 1513, on Easter Sunday, Ponce de Leon discovered land after his voyage of exploration from Porto Rico. De Leon had sailed in search of the mythical island of Bimini, where the "Fountain of Youth" was said to be, when he discovered land on the North American continent. He named the country Florida, on ao count of the profusion of flowers.

Medicinal Plants. In the Philippines the number of plants used for medicinal purposes is very large. A few are recognized as sources of standard medicines, but the number having commercial value is decidedly small. From one, the St. Ignatius bean (Strychnos ignatii), the strychnine of commerce is extracted.
