ARMISTICE DAY!

Don't forget that White Earth is going to celebrate Armistice Day tomorrow, November 11th. The main features of the day's programme are a great big feed at the noon hour at the old Industrial Hall. Addresses by prominent speakers, and a grand social dance at the former boarding school Dining Hall in the evening. The Ogema and White Earth bands have consolidated for the occasion and a musical treat is assured. Rest assured that the very best of dance music will be on hand to fire up your dormant energies to the very limits and in the exercise of the art terpsicore. You will surely miss it if you miss it.

The big dinner is free to all ex service men and their families and also to all Civil war veterans and their families.

Edna Alice Traver.

Edna Alice Traver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Traver, died of pneumonia at Red Lake Falls last Saturday morning at 10:30, after an illness of but four days. The remains were brought here and the funeral held at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon from the Methodist church, with services by the pastor, Rev. J. Wilbert Lillico, and interment was made at Oak Grove cemetery. A large concourse of sorrowing friends attended the obsequies.

Deceased was born at Mapleton, Minn., on March 7, 1889, and attended the public schools there until 1900, when the family moved to Clay county where they lived for two years, in 1902 coming to Detroit where they have since lived and from the public schools of which she graduated in 1907. For five years she taught in the rural schools of Becker county and two years at White Earth, and later as principal of the school at Waubun. In 1918 she attended the Detroit Business College and was graduated the following spring, later entering government service as Washington, D. C., as clerk in the War Department.

In the summer of 1920 she accepted a position as stenographer and clerk in the government office at the Red Lake Indian Agency, where she worked until the time of her death. Her illness was so brief that she did not realize the seriousness of her condition, and despite the efforts of physicians and trained nurses, the end came as stated.

She is survived by her parents, two sisters, Miss Luella and Mrs. P. O. Clark, the latter of Boise, Idaho; three brothers, Arthur and Merle, of this city, and Emery, of Thief River Falls, as well as a host of friends to mourn her untimely death.

She was a devoted daughter and sister, a brilliant and accomplished young lady, one who as a member of the Methodist church, ever strove to live a devout Christian life, and the sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved family—Detroit Record.

Mrs. Charlotte Maggrah Dies at Minneapolis.

Mrs. Charlotte Maggrah, nee Warren, died at St. Mary's Hospital, Minneapolis, on Friday, Nov. 4th, of mio-carditis, in the 59th year of her age.

Mrs. Maggrah was the daughter of James and Shphia Warren, and was born at Swan River, on May 1st, 1862. Her mother, Mrs. Sophia Warren is a member of the Minnesota Chippewas and is a sister of the late William Warren, writer and historian. She and her husband removed from Little Falls to White Earth, Minn., shortly after the treaty of 1867 had been proclaimed, and so the family were among the early settlers of this reservation and among the oldest pioneers of the state.

She was taken sick during the month of May and during the past three months preceding her death she was confined at St. Mary's hospital where she died.

She was united in marriage to M. E. Davis on the 15th day of August, 1882, at White Earth. Six boys and two daughters blessed this bond of wedlock, two boys having died in infancy. Her husband, M. E. Davis, died at White Earth in March, 1900. A few years following the death of her first husband she was again united in marriage to Rev. J. A. Maggrah, one daughter, Ruth Marie Maggrah, was the fruit of this last marriage. Surviving her are the following children: Dr. Oscar DeForest Davis, Roland DeLancy, Vernon Warren, Theodora Bell Davis of Minneapolis, Mrs. D. R. Poole of Winnipeg, Canada, and Ruth Marie Maggrah of Minneapolis; her aged mother, three brothers and two sisters, besides a host of friends.

Mrs. Maggrah was well known here, having spent her girlhood and the larger portion of her early life at this place. For the past several years she has lived in Minneapolis where the larger number of her children reside. She was a woman of fine quality of mind and refined nature; a loving and indulgent mother; a good Christian and a kind and obliging neighbor.

Interment took place in Oak Grove cemetery, Detroit, Minn. She was laid to rest beside her two little sons and a brother, Edward L. Warren, who had preceded her to the better land. She hath done what she could and after life's fitful fever may she rest in peace.

Nett Lake Indian Boys Find It's a Hard, Cold World for Roamers.

Andrew and John Day, two Indian boys from the Nett Lake reservation, want to go home.

Andrew is 13, John is 11. They had lived at Nett Lake reservation, up in northern Minnesota, all their lives. They tired of the monotony and hit the trail, determined to see the world. They saw the world, all right—but they found no fun in it. For three days, after beating their way on a freight train from the reservation to the twin cities, they wandered without food, walking for miles and sleeping in the streets. Then police at St. Paul picked them up and took them to the Ramsey county jail, where the boys got their first square meal of a week. They figured trouble was almost over.

But Sam Tilman, a negro prisoner at the jail, next door neighbor of the Indian boys, developed a case of smallpox. Sam and the two boys had to be vaccinated. So did the jailor and various others. And now Andrew and John are willing to go home. And they promise they'll do no more traveling.—Ex.
