INTERESTING CURRENT TOPICS

The fate of the Chinese railway will not befall those in Japan. The latter are three in number, built by English capitalists and engineers, with English material, and equipped with English rolling stock, and so well are they liked that the pioneer road—the one from Yokohama to Tokio, eighteen miles long—is forthwith to be prolonged from Tokio to Nagasaki. This road is of narrow gauge; the other of ordinary gauge.

The Indiana Medical College decided to exclude women from the privileges of that institution, after having educated several of them, and now Senator Edmunds appears with a report from the Judiciary Committee adverse to allowing women lawyers to practice in the United States Supreme Court. In the Indiana college the vote of the faculty was close, and is likely to be retaken. The Edmunds report is adverse for the reason that the admission of women is optional with the Court itself.

San Francisco claims a population of 308,215, an increase since March 1, 1877, of 7,195. This claim is based upon trustworthy estimates of the canvassers for a city directory. A recent careful census of the city of Providence, Rhode Island, showed a loss of population of over two thousand, while the number of families had increased nearly five hundred. Canvassers for directory would probably have made this increase in the number of families a basis for claiming an increase of population.

From Jan. 1, 1877, up to the present time about five hundred applications for divorce have been instituted in the city of St. Louis, and of these over two hundred and fifty have been granted. In nearly two-thirds of the successful applications no defence was offered, and women were in the majority as plaintiffs. Missouri's divorce law is very liberal, among the adequate causes being desertion for a year, conviction of felony; habitual drunkenness, vagrancy, cruel treatment, and the offering of intolerable indignities.

The people of Maine are evidently determined that the noble moose shall be protected from the bullets of the hunter, and once more become numerous in their forests. An act of the Legislature provides that no person shall before the year 1880, take kill, or destroy any moose under a penalty of one hundred dollars; and that any person having in his possession, keeping, or selling any moose meat or moose hide shall be subjected to a similar penalty. In and after the year 1880 moose may be hunted, but not with dogs, between the first day of January following, but not at any other time, and the hunting of caribou and deer is confined to the same period.

The Virginia Legislature has made material changes in the criminal laws of the State. Stripes are to be inflicted for petty larceny and minor offences of like character; but not more than thirty-nine stripes may be inflicted upon any victim in one day, and not more than seventy-eight for one offence. When a female is convicted of an offence punishable by the lash, she may in discretion of the court, be sentenced to confinement in jail for a period not exceeding twelve months. The object of these provisions appears to be to substitute the whipping-post for short terms of imprisonment, and thus relieve the penitentiary from petty offenders. Inter-marriages between whites and negroes is made a felony, punishable by not less than two nor more than ten years' imprisonment.

John Bright's father seems to have been an extremely kindhearted millowner. We are told that on winter nights he would stand at his mill gates, lantern in hand, giving directions to men to look after their children (to whom he was especially kind) on their way home. His work people were so well paid as to enable them, if careful, to make a provision for old age, and for those overtaken by calamity a pension was provided. He would never give a pair of old boots to a man in distress, but give him an order for a new pair. A reformed drunkard, who averred that alcohol had caused the roots of his hair to perish, once went to him for a subscription for a wig. Mr. Bright glanced over the list, and finding that the contributors were poor people declined to contribute unless the money was returned. Then he gave him a handsome wig.

THE WORLD'S DOINGS.

The cashier of the Planet mills, South Brooklyn, returning to the mills from the bank on the 23d inst., was attacked by four men, and robbed of $5,000. The thieves had a horse and wagon convenient, and made good their escape, although pursued by policemen and some citizens.

At Waltham, Mass., on the 26th of March, James Larkin, while intoxicated, beat his mother senseless with a poker. The fire was extinguished and his mother, though severely burned, is likely to recover.

Wednesday evening the 20th, at a little village called Greenwich, in Connecticut, the notorious bruiser, Tom Allen, and a man named Jack Glenin, indulged in a brutal mill in the presence of some fifty spectators. Thirty rounds were fought, the last three being especially brutal, when Allen was doubled up by a blow, and cried "enough." The laws of Connecticut impose a penalty of imprisonment for more than five years upon any principals in every private fight, and of not more than two years upon any aider, abettor, or spectator thereof, and the local authorities propose to see what virtue there is in the law.

The Secretary of the Treasury has announced the appointment of the following as government directors of the Union Pacific railroad: Chas. J. Adams, Sr., Massachusetts; Ralph P. Buckland, Ohio; G. W. Smythe, Iowa; Daniel Chadwick, Connecticut, and C. C. Hausel, Nebraska.

The sub-committee of the House charged with the consideration of the "pro rata controversy" between the Pacific railroads made a report to the full committee recommending the appointment of a Pacific railway commissioner to establish rules and regulations for several Pacific roads and branches, for the security of the interests of the public and government.

San Stefano, where the treaty between Russia and Turkey was signed, is about six miles from the old Roman wall of Constantinople, and is the village near which an American, Mr. Davis, started an unsuccessful model-farm in 1843.

A dynamite explosion occurred at the the Powder river water works line, Baltimore, on the 26th, instantly killing Michael O'Rourke, one of the workmen, and fatally wounding several others, among them John Lyon and Patrick Galligan.

The first annual bench show of dogs, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Kennel club, opened at Boston on the 26th. About seven hundred specimens are on exhibition, embracing entries from all parts of the United States, England and Canada. There was a large attendance of visitors.

Advices from a number of localities in the Ohio valley and lower lake region indicate owing to the fact that there had been no rains the past week or more the severe cold weather has not destroyed the fruit crop, as was feared, at least in the Ohio valley. In the northern portions in many instances the crop is seriously damaged.

Judgment for half a million dollars was entered against Albert Crosby individually in the suit of the city of Chicago vs. Crosby and others, securities on the bond of the city treasurer, which was entered in the county clerk's office by default, was removed from the files on the 29th ult. This was done on affidavits of counsel for plaintiff that judgment was entered by mistake.

A meeting of the Methodist ministers of the Northwest was held at Chicago on the 26th of March, and a report submitted by the management of Garrett Biblical institute, showing that the endowment fund comes some $250,000 short of maintaining the institution. A committee was appointed to consider a plan for raising the deficit and report to a subsequent meeting.

The railroad managers and agents of the trunk lines have adjusted their differences, completed their apportionment of freight and constituted grain as a special class of freight, fixing rates on the basis of twenty-five cents from Chicago to New York, and retaining the rate of thirty cents for fourth class freight. The nominal rate of grain has hitherto been thirty cents.

The Wabash railway company on the 1st of April inaugurated the new line of sleeping cars between St. Louis and Boston, for some time contemplated by this company. This is the longest line of through sleeping cars in the world. The first car eastward, leaves St. Louis at 6:40 p. m., and the western leaves Boston at 3 p. m. The time between these points will be less than forty-three hours.

A Vienna correspondent says: The full text of the treaty of San Stefano, has renewed a strong anti-Russian feeling. There is no difference of opinion about the real meaning of the treaty. It is not Russian preponderance but Russian rule in European Turkey and it is just because, such alteration as would remove this feature would entirely destroy the treaty that less confidence is felt in the efficacy of the congress since the publication. While Count Andrassy will demand revision of the entire treaty, he will decline to do so in combination with England, because their interest is not identical.

The postmaster general has issued an order amending the regulation of the department governing the transmission of printed matter, which is very important in its bearings, inasmuch as it over-rides the long established practice in the department. Heretofore nothing but a business card was permitted upon a wrapper of printed matter. The postmaster general now has given instructions that any matter, the imprint of which may be transmitted within the inclosure, may also be transmitted at the same rate, if printed on the wrapper or envelope. This includes business cards and directions for returning any printed matter on the outside of the wrapper or envelope. Postmasters however, are instructed not to regard requests for the return of such matter, unless stamps to pay return postage are deposited.

A report has been submitted to the House committee on banking and currency by the sub-committee consisting of Chittenden and Ewing which recently visited New York for the purpose of ascertaining the present condition of the sub-treasury in that city with regard to the amount of gold held there belonging to the United States government and to others, and with the view of conferring with certain financial gentlemen regarding the practicability of the proposed resumption of specie payments on January 1st next. The following are the substantial points of the report. The bankers were of opinion that resumption at the earliest possible moment was not only consistent with the public welfare, but was of the greatest importance to the best prosperity of the country. Also that resumption on the first of January, 1879, might be made practical and safe if adequate measures should be adopted; but all who expressed themselves on the subject were agreed that the plans of the secretary of the treasury were inadequate, and that if he should make an attempt to resume on the first of January, under such circumstances as are likely to exist at that time, the attempt would most probably fail. They were of opinion that the remonetization of silver had seriously interfered with the probabilities of resumption at the time fixed.
