Mr. Livingstone, a nephew of the great African explorer, is teaching school in Goodhue county.

After a long and bitter contest, the St. Paul board of education have elected Prof. B. F. Wright superintendent of the public schools of that city.

On account of the cession of Bosnia and Herzegovina to Austria and the erection of Bulgaria into an independent state, European Turkey has been reduced to an area of about 60,000 square miles being only about two-thirds the size of Minnesota, which contains an area of 82,000 square miles.

The coming State Fair promises to be something immense, judging from the extensive preparations that are being made by the St. Paulites. The reception committee consisting of the Governor and ex-Governors, are making arrangements to receive Pres. Hayes in a grand and cordial manner.

The Mankato Review states that the Hessian band, which gave concerts in different parts of this State last winter, has disbanded, nine of the members sailed for their home from New York on the 28th. Mr. Schaub, the leader, and his sons, have purchased lands in Wisconsin, where they intend to make their future home.

The State Educational Association held an interesting and profitable convention at Minneapolis, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Papers on educational topics were read by some of our leading educators, followed by discussions of the same. Winona was chosen as the next place of meeting.

Officers for the ensuing year are as follows:
 President—O. Whitman, of Red Wing.
 Vice President—L. B. Sperry, of Northfield.
 Secretary—H. W. Slack, of St. Paul.
 Treasurer—C. A. Morey, of Winona.

The Pioneer Press has received dispatches from different parts of the State giving the result of the threshing of the wheat harvest, which has generally commenced. The indication of the report is that the yield will generally be larger than was expected while the same may also prove true of the grade. Throughout the main wheat belt, extending from the Mississippi through the Minnesota valley and south of that region, a product of sixteen to twenty bush per acre is claimed. There is very little No. 1 wheat in all this, but upon the other hand the first fifteen cars from the Red river valley, arrived at Duluth last Thursday is all No. 1.

Shooting Affair at Madelia.

On Thursday morning last a young man, Samual Ash, from Beaver Dam, Wis., who had been visiting his uncle at Madelia, went up to some little girls and made some vile propositions to the eldest of them. Two of the girls were daughters of B. F. Kempfer, the third being a daughter of Capt. W. W. Murphy. The latter on hearing of the affair and thinking that it must be a tramp who had insulted the children, started in pursuit with a shot gun, one barrel of which was loaded. After Mr. Murphy had found the villain in custody of sheriff Glispin, a short conversation took place, when Murphy tipped his gun towards Ash and asked him how he would like to look into the muzzle. While Mr. Murphy was saying this, the gun was discharged, the contents passing through the victim's right arm and into the left side.

It is believed that the wound is mortal. Mr. Murphy claims that the discharge of the gun was accidental, but young Ash said it was done on purpose. Mr. Murphy had a preliminary trial, and was remanded on bail, the amount being $800.

Who shall be our next State Auditor?

During the last few weeks several of our exchanges have been discussing the above question, but as yet without having come to any definite conclusion in regard to the same.

Of the several persons named for the position, the most prominent, and without doubt the strongest candidates, seem to be Mr. Whitcomb, the present incumbent, and Gen. Mark D. Flower, of St. Paul.

As far as known, Mr. Whitcomb has made a good officer during the two terms which he has been Auditor, but having held the position for six years, it is certainly time that a change be made. The majority of the voters of the State are in favor of a new man for State Auditor—one well and favorably known and who has the best interests of our State at heart. Such a man is Mark D. Flower. He is a person eminently fitted for the aforementioned office, possessing all the necessary qualifications. He has served with credit to himself and the State as Adjutant General, and last winter was chief clerk of the lower branch of our Legislature. We feel confident that Gen. Flower is the strongest man that can be put up for Auditor this fall, and if he gets the nomination he will be elected by a large majority.

The Advantage of the "Sweating Process" in Wheat.

We notice by our exchanges that many of the farmers about the State are again threshing from the shock and hauling their grain direct to market. Ordinarily this plan has some advantage to recommend it, but this year, when the wheat has been bleached out by hot suns and repeated rains, it is not advisable. It should by all means go into the stack and undergo the "sweat" before being threshed and sold. This will in most cases raise the grade and save the owner from five to ten cents a bushel.

The "sweating" process is one not generally understood. Taking either wheat or oats, or even hay, and stacking or mowing them in a short time they will be found to be under going what is commonly known as the "sweat." On opening the stack the straw will be found damp as well as the grain, accompanied by considerable heat which lasts for a number of days. At such times it is difficult to separate the berry from the head, and it is seldom threshed by any good farmer till this period is past.

The result of this sweat is, that the dead color of the berry is restored, while the kernel itself is filled out and considerably plumper than when it went into the stack. But this is not all. During this period there has been a constant absorption by the berry of the nutritive elements in stalk, rendered active by the fermentation and this develops and ripens the kernel. Some question whether there is any more gluten added, but it is our opinion that there is, and that it is richer in albuminoids, and will make consequently a higher quality of flour than if not stacked at all. But the suggestion we desired to urge was that stacking would brighten the grain, which is this year mostly of a dead color, and add a few dollars more to the revenue of the farm, which all will frankly acknowledge is always small enough.—Pioneer Press.

Dr. Muller, chief physician of the German general staff, who recently went to Japan, to aid in creating a military academy, was the first person obtaining an audience of the Mikado who did not take off his boots. Upon being informed that he could not enter the sacred presence without doing so, he replied that his master, the great Kaiser ordered him to appear in full military uniform, and he was compelled to comply. His boots, he said, formed an important essential to the uniform, and he did not dare to present himself without them. The Mikado consented to the audience.—St. Paul Globe.

DARING TRAIN ROBBERY.

ATCHISON, Ks., Aug. 13.—One of the boldest and most daring train robberies that ever occurred in the West took place about 1:30 this morning, about one mile below Winthrop Junction opposite this city. As train No. 4, on the K. C., St. J. & C. B. railroad, south bound left Winthrop Junction, Conductor Brown noticed four men get on the platform between the baggage car and first coach. Not thinking anything wrong, at the usual time he left the baggage car and started to go through the train. The first persons he met were the four men standing on the platform. As he stepped on the platform the acting leader pulled out two revolvers and holding them on him ordered him back into the baggage car, at the same time ordering him to hold up his hands. As they entered the car from the dark end the first man they met was Griffith, baggage man, and he was ordered to hold up his hands while pistols were held on him. A young fellow named Mather, who was in the baggage car, was then reached, and given the same orders. Frank Baster, express agent, was sitting in a chair in the lighted end of the car, his bills in his lap, express safe open beside him, busy with his work. He had not noticed the scene that was being enacted in the car. His first knowledge of danger was a revolver thrust in his face, and he was ordered to hold up his hands. The leader of the gang then stepped up to the safe and deliberately transferred the money, about $5,100, to a sack they had with them. Conductor Brown was then asked if he had any money, and he replied he had not. With their pistols in his face, they ordered him to stop the train, and having no other alternative, he pulled the bell rope. As the train slowed up, the four men backed out of the car, still covering the others with their pistols, and disappeared in the darkness. No swearing was indulged in, and the entire work was done in less than five minutes. The train was filled with passengers, but none knew of the robbery until the robbers had escaped. The thieves were cool and collected, showing no signs of timidity, and went at work like old experienced hands. None of them were marked. The following is a description obtained: A heavy, large man, six feet high, weight 200, light mustache, light chin whiskers, brown hair, broad, red face, and wore a broad-brim slouched hat and had on a light coat reaching below the knees. The other two were of medium stature, rather stout built, dressed in dark clothing and wearing slouched hats. They were about 24 or 25 years of age. No clue of them yet.—St. Paul Globe.

A Wonderful Spring.

Pioneer Press.
 Silver Springs, Fla., is one of the greatest curiosities of the South. It bubbles up in a basin nearly one hundred feet deep and about an acre in extent, sending from it a deep stream sixty to one hundred feet wide, and extending six to eight miles to the Oelwha river. In the spring itself fifty boats may lie at anchor—quite a fleet. The spring also forms a natural inward port, to which three steamers run regularly from the St. John's making close connection with the ocean steamers at Pilatka. The clearness of the water is truly wonderful. It seems even more transparent than air. You see the bottom eighty feet below the bottom of your boat, the exact form of the smallest pebble, the outline and color of the leaf that has sunk, and all prismatic colors of the rainbow are reflected. Large fish swim in it, every scale visible and every movement distinctly seen. If you go over the spring in a boat, you will see the fissures in the rock from which the river rushes upward like an inverted cataract.

The yellow fever has been spreading to an alarming extent in New Orleans, Memphis and Grenada. In Memphis there were thirty-three new cases and six deaths in one day last week.

Lone Tree Lake Correspondence.

LONG TREE LAKE, August 9th, 1878.

Editor Review:

We wish to communicate confidentially a little news. Everything that is said here is told in confidence, and I suppose I violate no secrecy if I give you a little information.
 Not long ago a church sociable was organized—an excellent discipline for the Jacobites in letting its members put on airs. Well, this sociable, if I mistake not, has had two sessions. The first passed off to the delight of all its members, with the exception of now and then a fling at the unorthodox, and an unsavory bit of scandal. It is impossible to get up a church sociable without a "leetle" scandal, which is the savory part of the institution. The second meeting was a little more talkative; some of its members delight in talk and gossip, and there was a little more of it on this occasion than customary. In fact, this sociable is a talkative engine, and serves all the purposes of communicating information to itself and to the outside world. It does nothing but talk.

A short time ago a Ladies' Missionary Society was organized, not having the remotest connection with the aforementioned sociable; and ever since, its organization has been subject to shot and shell from the first named institution, which claims that the town is not large enough to run more than one, and that the ground is theirs, a certain person claiming it by right of priority. She, of course, being loyal in her denomination and exercising her magnetic power, undoubtedly thinks so, but at the same time ought to know that other people have rights, and that it is the duty of all right minded persons, to respect others' rights. On behalf of the Ladies' Missionary Society I would say that it is worthy of recognition, that it is composed of members who are not given to talk and gossip, which I wish I could say of other institutions of like kind in these latter days.

A report is current that the trustees of the Presbyterian church wish to dispose of their lot on which the church is built, and remove the building to the railroad station. I think that would be a good idea, and for one, I favor the design. We will do all we can to encourage so meritorious a deed, and we hope the trustees will do it by all means as there are quite a number who sympathize with the idea. It would do more good at the station than here; the station will grow and the church being a strong element of civilization will call in immigration and perform wonders. We hope our Methodist brethren will purchase the site as it is a good investment.

We are informed that Mat. Tower and Isaac Johnson are going into the hardware business at the station. We know the parties personally and believe them to be worthy, reliable men, well deserving the patronage of the community. Success to you, gentlemen.

We would suggest to the missionary ladies that next time they meet to organize an ice-cream stand we will do all we can to make it a success. By all means let us have it.

Burnstown Items.

Messrs. Gley & Weyhe have completed an addition to their store which was much needed.

About politics we are too busy in this town to occupy our minds. We will wait a while.

Our depot agency is changed from Mr. Orcutt to Mr. Colomey, who without doubt, is the right man in the right place.

A. G. Anderson is stocking up his lumber yard, as the demand for lumber is daily increasing. He is talking of building an elevator—you don't find Mr. Anderson at all behind the times.

We are thankful to the R. R. Co. for giving us the use of a telegraph office, the need of which has long been felt. But we are sorry they have taken off the daily mail train, obliging us to fall back again on tri-weekly mail.

Mr. Lucas Fecker has added to his good fortune. We were very much surprised on Thursday morning last to see him distributing free beer and cigars, all resulting from a baby boy of 9½ lbs. weight, all told. Go on, Lucas, you are doing well.

We have an artist in our town and he came to a very good field of labor on, coming to this town, as he got his hands full taking pictures of all the pretty ladies; but it is too bad they will not give him a moment's rest Sunday, Monday, or any other day.

We are glad to see Mr. Schaumburg out again and among us, though yet not being able to enter the field of labor from the effects of his ankle being partly dislocated. He is however getting along as well as can be expected. We are also happy to see our friend Mr. Philip Campbell out and almost as well as ever.

Thrashing machines are now making their appearance at the depot, and the agent, Mr. M. H. Gamble is getting them ready to commence operations, and no doubt the C. Antman & Co. machines will do good work, as the firm is noted for sending out the best of machinery, and, let me tell you, Mike sells lots of machinery.

The farmers in this vicinity are very busy harvesting, and the clatter of the Buckeye Harvester is heard in every direction. We are sorry to state that the wheat crop does not come, up to what was anticipated on account of its being blighted by the oppressive heat, and from all accounts will not average more than 10 or 12 bushels to the acre; but the other crops are more than the general average, such as oats, barley, rye, peas, buckwheat &c.
