J. MANDERFELD,
Chairman Co. Com.

The Vermont election last week resulted in a Republican victory by the usual majority.

We will give a full account of the State Fair in next week's issue. In the mean time suffice it to say that it was an immense success.

Rarus disappointed St. Paul and Minneapolis folks last week. His best time made in St. Paul was 2:16, and in Minneapolis 2:14.

The St. Paul Weekly Globe has reduced its subscription price to $1.00 per annum, and the Pioneer Press to $1.15. Both are good papers and should be liberally patronized.

The President arrived in St. Paul last Thursday morning according to programme, and received a rousing reception. The day was pleasant and an immense crowd congregated to do honor to the chief.

The Democratic State Convention last week nominated very excellent men for the various positions, but the platform adopted is a close resemblance of the document promulgated by the Ohio Democrats last summer, and is a piece of financial folly and political lunacy. The financial plank is the main feature in the platform. It antagonizes every good measure proposed or undertaken for the restoration of the shattered credit of the nation, and placing the country upon a sound financial basis. It demands the abolition of the national banks, and an unlimited issue of greenbacks. Of course the platform would not be perfect without a plank or two denouncing the Republican party for its extravagance and corruption in administering the affairs of the State and National governments.

We hoist the Republican banners to our flag-staff to-day by placing the Republican ticket, as far as nominated, at the head of our columns. We believe that the good of the State and the whole country can best be subserved by the election of the Republican nominees. They are men of known integrity and ability, and are entitled to the continued support of the people. The platform of the Republican party is based upon sound financial principles and pleads for honest money, while that of the Democratic party means a depreciated currency and financial ruin. It demands greater economy in the management of State institutions, and denounces the revolutionary schemes of the Democratic party which is now diligently working to discover some pretext for overthrowing the constituted authority of the nation.

While the REVIEW will labor for the success of the Republican party from now until after the November election, its columns will always be open to Democrats or Greenbackers for the discussion of political questions.

STATE POLITICS.
Last week was Convention week as well as Fair week, no less than five State and Congressional conventions having been held. The political ball was set in motion by the Prohibitionists, who met in State convention at Minneapolis on Tuesday, and nominated T. G. Carter, of Nicollet county, for State auditor; William Copp, of Rochester, clerk of Supreme court. G. W. Green was nominated for member of Congress from the First district and I. C. Stearns from the Second. No nomination was made for the Third district.

The Republican State Convention came next in order and was held in St. Paul on Wednesday. After the usual preliminary proceedings the convention nominated Hon. John M. Berry Associate Justice, and Samuel H. Nichols for Clerk of the Supreme Court, by acclamation. Hon. O. P. Whitcomb was nominated for State Auditor on the first formal ballot, the vote standing as follows: Whitcomb 107, M. D. Flower 48, E. W. Trask 45.

The Democratic State Convention met at the same place and city on Thursday, and nominated Wm. H. Mitchell, of Winona, for Associate Justice, Dillon O'Brien, of Ramsey, for Clerk of the Supreme Court and Capt. Mahlon Black, of Hennepin, for State Auditor.

The National Greenback Labor party of the Third Congressional district also held their convention on Thursday, in Minneapolis, and nominated Ignatius Donnelly for Congress. The Third district Democratic Congressional Convention, which met at the same place on Friday, subsequently endorsed the nomination of the Nationals, and Mr. Donnelly may now be considered as fairly pitted against Washburn.

Major Strait and the Hospital Investigation.

While nearly all the Democratic papers in the district are busying themselves in circulating the falsehood that Major Strait, who is a member of the board of Hospital Trustees, had charged and collected his traveling expenses from the State when riding on a free pass, the St. Peter Times, which is a Democratic journal, has honor enough to do the fair thing in the matter, and says:

"Although this is a Democratic journal, we cannot sanction a falsehood, even if it be told about a Republican who is running for office, for when falsehood is exposed, the lie, like chickens, comes home to roost. The charge that Major Strait has been riding free on the St. Paul & Sioux City railroad when paying the Hospital visits as a Trustee, and that he charged such fare to the State, turns out to be a very mean falsehood. And although we are a political opponent of the Major's, we very willingly make this statement to set public mind right, and so far as we are able, do justice to an honored citizen."

The Times then copies the letter of Mr. Drake in regard to the matter, which we published last week, and adds:

"This story about the Major was some of the Investigating Committee's work. President Drake politely announces the charge to be an absolute lie. Now let such journals as have published the lie make the amend honorable. Such newspapers as are governed by the rule that a lie well stuck to is better than the truth, are expected to hang on to this lie, and have it that it is so anyhow, even if it is a lie."

THE PLAGUE.

While the reports from New Orleans and vicinity are a little more encouraging, the news from Memphis are getting worse and worse, although everything that human beings can do is being done to relieve the poor sufferers, and disinfect the city. The death rate at Memphis averages over a hundred per day, and many active workers are among the sick or stricken down. The city is reduced to a desperate strait, as it is utterly impossible to secure men enough to bury the dead promptly. The mayor has been down several days and there is but one officer of the city government able to be on his feet. The city is being fumigated by burning turpentine and brimstone, and the concussion test will also be tried as soon as artillery sent for arrives. A Cincinnati business man, who has just returned from a trip to New Orleans, describes the situation South as sorrowful in the extreme. On the trip down, at Arkansas City the boat was not allowed to coal or land. Men stood on the banks with guns in hand threatening to shoot if the attempt was made. At Memphis, which was reached as evening was approaching, a most depressing scene was presented. Not a dog, not a mule, not a negro, was to be seen, and the houses didn't seem to be inhabited; from no chimney could be seen smoke ascending. Every place seemed to be deserted. Vicksburg was almost as dead as Memphis. Terror reigned all along the Mississippi. If the boat had freight for any town it was taken on to New Orleans, the inhabitants refusing to receive it. At New Orleans things looked much better. Men were at work on the levee, and business houses were open, but little or no business was transacted. The return trip was made by rail. At Grenada not a white man was visible, only a few negroes. At Holly Springs about 200 came on board. Yellow fever had broken out the night before. The scenes at the depot were heart-rending—wives leaving husbands and mothers leaving sons, bidding them farewell, perhaps forever. At one place a mother with three children got on the train. Her husband had died half an hour previous, and before death had made her promise to leave on the next train to save the lives of herself and children. She left her husband uncoffined and unburied. The Howard Association is accomplishing great good. Everything is being done by the people of the North to relieve their stricken southern brethren.

HORRIBLE.

The steamer Princes Alice, plying on the river Thames, England, was run into and sunk by the collier "Bywell Castle," on the evening of Sept. 3d, and 650 persons out of 800 that were aboard the vessel, were drowned. After the collision a scene ensued that beggars description. Within five minutes the Princes Alice keeled completely over and went down in deep water. Other steamers that were passing at the time and small boats hastened to the scene, but owing to the excitement and darkness not much could be done to save life.

LINDEN CORRESPONDENCE.

I see in a recent issue of the Review that grasshoppers are again wending their way Minnesota-ward, which, if true, would certainly be a bad calamity for our young State. Another four years of the pest would depopulate this part of the State entirely.

Threshing in this vicinity has commenced in earnest and the hum of the machines can be heard from every direction. Wheat yields from 8 to 10 bushels per acre, and oats from 45 to 55 bushels. The wheat is of a poor quality and will grade rejected, or No. 3 at best. It is a pity to see the air filled with smoke from the burning grain fields, but it would not pay cutting and must be got rid of in some way.

I see in the Review that Capt. Murphy, of Madelia, has once more been on a hunt, but it appears he was not satisfied with shooting ducks and prairie chickens, which, by the way, are very plenty, but aimed for larger game. I think that the captain made a great mistake if he thought his rash act would be popular. These are not Northfield robber times. (Jacob.)

Sleepy Eye Gleanings.

M. J. Bohannon, of Kasson, was in town last week talking of starting a paper.

The first brick house in Sleepy Eye is nearly completed and will be an ornament to the village.

The round-house, on which there are 75 men employed, and more coming, is going up very rapidly.

J. W. Allison and James A. Sheldon have started a butcher shop on the north side of the rail road track, and are going to sell meat at reduced prices. Sleepy Eye needs more hotel accommodation, and we hope some good energetic man will come this way and put up a structure suitable to our wants.

Sleepy Eye is going to be a dry place on Sundays. We understand that our village authorities are talking of closing up all saloons, or any place where liquor is sold, on that day.

A good many school ma'ams were in town last week attending the Teacher's Institute, and we understand that many more would have come if they could have been assured hotel accommodations.

The people here, especially our business and professional men, are overjoyed at the re-establishment of daily mail service. Now give us back our regular passenger trains and we will be happy.

That leg once more—Dr. Berry, of New Ulm, disclaims having had anything to do with the setting of Mr. Johnson's leg, and says that Dr. Marcellus performed that duty without his aid in any way whatever. Now, for the benefit of Mr. Johnson and all concerned, give the leg a rest.

A little four year-old boy being told by a young man in this village to get off his knee, that he was too heavy to hold in this way, made quite a sensation among the parties present by lisping back: "Too heavy, hey? Sister Kate weighs 100 pounds more than I, and you held her on your knee over two hours last Sunday night."

Burnstown Items.

The farmers are busily engaged threshing and plowing.

The ladies of our town have nearly all deserted us—gone to visit friends east.

The weather continues remarkably fine, although a little warmer than usual at this time of the year.

A. G. Anderson is adding to the town by building a new dwelling house. Mr. E. E. Dickerson, who is no novice at the business, is superintending the work.

Our Mr. F. C. Gley returned from his trip to the State Fair last Monday, looking hale and hearty. Fred says that he had a jolly good time and a shake with President Hayes.

The wind mill, erected by the R. R. Co., is now in working order and is quite ornamental, besides a labor saving to the railroad hands, as pumping is very hard work.

The boys are getting up a grand display in the way of a grand masquerade ball which will be held at our Town Hall next Friday night. The maskers will represent several nationalities in buslesque costumes.

If the farmers continue to bring in grain like they have been doing the past few days A. G. Anderson will be obliged to build an addition to his warehouse. We also understand that he contemplates building an elevator in a short time.

We are glad to announce that the coal mines are now to be developed. Messrs. Hemmengray and Hooper, aided by others, commenced last Monday to sink a shaft and try to find their good fortune down below. We certainly wish them every success in their undertaking.

Can not the name of our burg be changed to Springfield? The name would be quite appropriate as we are surrounded by springs, one of which is a mineral spring. The change would do away with a great many mistakes that are daily occurring in mail matter, as so many letters are addressed to Burns, which in many cases go to Burns, Anoka county. It seems very awkward to have our merchandise addressed to Burns Station and mail matter to Springfield.

As the electioneering season is drawing near our people are beginning to take more interest in county politics. The re-election of Constans, Walton and Blanchard is generally conceded, and the most interest is centered on the sheriffalty. A number of candidates are already in the field for this office, and we would very much like to see Mr. Ambrose Parsons, of this town, also enter the race, as we have no doubt but he would be the right man in the right place. Give the boy a chance.
