THE number of women who hunt in England is year by year on the increase, and the latest variation of the sport is otter hunting. Otter hunting is done on foot and requires an equipment of short petticoats and thick boots. The otter is almost the only existing species of the wild fauna of England, with the exception of the badger and the roe deer.

SAMUEL COLT, the inventor of the revolver that bears his name, was originally a blacksmith, rough, uneducated, coarse, but a genius in his way. A company was formed for the manufacture of the pistols, but Colt had so terrible a temper and was so unreasonable that no person could get along with him, so he bought out the company for a song and set up for himself. A lucrative contract for the government during the Mexican war was the foundation for a magnificent fortune.

It is supposed that he committed the act while temporarily insane.

Daniel Alligier was found lying dead at the foot of the stairway leading to the third story of his residence in East Dubuque. Deputy Sheriff George Seiger brought to Fargo, N. D. from Casselton a girl named Jennie Markham, who had been arrested and bound over in $1,000 on a charge of burglary. Mr. and Mrs. Bloomer, living near Rosalie, Kansas, left their three-year-old child with a Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, who had been hired by a farmer named Dudley. A rope was procured and a feint made to hang her, when she confessed that she killed the child in a fit of anger, and gave the body to her husband, who threw it in a creek. Her husband denied this, when the same means was used to extort a confession from him. He said his wife killed the child and threw the body in the creek, he being a witness only of the deed. A committee was formed to search for the body, and the couple were given into their charge. If Mrs. Edwards' story is verified, both will probably be lynched.

Senator Gibbs spoke in the legislature of Georgia in favor of forcing the negroes to leave the state. He referred to the wholeness as vagabonds. "Emancipated," he said, "the negro becomes a useless and dominant, and lapses into barbarous woodism. The lives and honor of Southern women are in constant danger at the hands of the scoundrels. The time will come before long when the white people of the state will rise as one man and demand the banishment or extermination of the race. I approve of the expelling of the negroes at East Point. When white men strike for their home and fireside I am with them every time. The time has come when the whites must stand up and defend themselves and their families. There is no room enough in this country for both the negro and the Yankee. The negroes are always at the call of the carpet bagger. I want to see this state at least rid of the whole race." The vote of the question was a tie, and the president gave his vote against Gibbs.
