DON'T MAKE A MISTAKE.

Just to convince yourself who takes the lead in holiday goods in New Ulm go to the store of Andrew J. Eckstein. In the endless variety of that he now has on display, there will be found almost anything and every-thing.

TOYS, CHRISTMAS TREES AND FANCY GOODS.

The articles are all beautiful and the variety sufficient to satisfy all. Of Dolls, Toilet Cases, Plush, Leather, Chamois and Ape Skin Albums, the latter being superior to any other album while not higher in price. Japanese Goods and Rubber Toys, our stock is large and varied enough to suit all tastes as to prices and to please all tastes.

We also have on hand several new games, chief among which is Halma and we are prepared to supply our customers with checker and bagatelle boards and numerous other outfits with which to while away the winter evenings.

Our stocks of nuts and candies, we can say, without being disputed, is the best in town. It includes a supply of imported glazed fruits, which are of extra quality and are not sold by other dealers.

At any rate we would be very much pleased to have the people inspect our stock. As good goods speak for themselves, we think you will be satisfied that Eckstein is the place to buy your gifts and ornaments for the Christmas season.

Musical instruments make very fine holiday gifts and in this line we carry violins, guitars, banjos, harmonicas, music boxes, accordions, sterling and Clough & Warren organs and the celebrated Ivers & Pond pianos.

THERE are two things to consider in purchasing a Piano—what it is and what it will be.

Sagacity suggests to you that the reputation of the maker is worth careful consideration; that workmanship and materials are the gny ropes which bind the value to your purchase.

Before buying a piano therefore you should believe first in the firm who makes it and second in the firm who sells it. Our reputation and that of the builders of Ivers & Pond pianos is your security for the worth of the instrument.

And J. Eckstein,

The annual meeting of the Agricultural Society will be held next Saturday afternoon at Turner Hall. Officers for the ensuing year will also be elected.

Wednesday's dispatches reveal the fact that Congressman Lind has already knuckled down to hard work. On that day he introduced a bill in the house, which is designed to break up the monopoly which certain owners of patent tank cars, refrigerator cars and stock cars now control, of the carrying trade of articles transported in these cars. Mr. Lind's bill provides that no railroad engaged in interstate commerce traffic shall use cars which the general public cannot avail themselves of.

Jesse Palmer, John Kolbe, James Montgomery and Wm. Bruckbauer for two years, and G. Friton, P. Mertz, Fred Gerboth and Herbert Hillesheim for three years. Jesse Palmer was chosen president, Henry Romberg vice-president, Wm. Rossbaugh secretary, and G. Friton treasurer. The company propose building an elevator at a cost of about $1500, and one of the by-laws is to the effect that no one but a farmer can secure stock, unless one hundred share holders are in favor of selling to them.

The skating park will be in shape for skating to-day. A small house will be erected on the edge of the rink, and if sufficient money can be raised the committee will put up a toboggan slide.

Francis Bassen, Joseph Dambach and Wm. Brust were in St. Paul last week to confer with the Archbishop on church matters. Friday night a man was picked up on the road across the river by Mat Schneider. Friends of Dr. J. L. Schoch, of this city, will be pleased to learn of his appointment by Gov. Merriam as a member of the state board of medical examiners to succeed Dr. G. W. Wood, of Faribault, who has resigned. The appointment was made Friday, and is a good one. Dr. Schoch, while having lived here but a short while, has gained an enviable reputation as a successful physician, and is thoroughly competent to fill the office to which he has been chosen by the governor.

G.; Gottfried Hoehne, L. S. to V. G.; Frank Friedmann, Trustee. The rest of the officers will be appointed at the next meeting, when the installation will also occur.

Through accidental failure to read a proof a mistake was made in last week's Review in the report of the official vote for senator, but as Mr. Peterson had the certificate of election in his pocket at the time, he need not have lost any sleep over the announcement of the apparent election of Stewart. The report should have read as follows: Peterson, 2209; Baker, 1271; Stewart, 1378. This gives Peterson a plurality of nearly a thousand over each, and permits him to go to the legislature this winter and represent Brown and Redwood counties with ability and success.

In its report of the Valley Medical Association's annual meeting, the Mankato Free Press had the following item: Dr. Cummings moved that Dr. J. Smith, of St. James, be censured by the society for attempting to defraud the widow of the late Dr. Berry, and that a committee be appointed to see what can be done and to report to the State Board recommending the revoking of his license. The charge is that he purchased Dr. Berry's library, valued at $150, and will not pay for it. The motion was carried, and Drs. Cummings, Andrews and Strickler were appointed such committee.

Jacob Klossner Jr. went to Marshall Friday evening on business.

G. F. Prescott & Co., shipped one of their tubular well outfits to New Ulm Tuesday, to do some work at Hauenstein's brewery.—Sleepy Eye Dispatch.

The next regular monthly meeting of the New Ulm Building and Loan association falling on New Year's day, the directors have decided to change the date for the meeting to January 8th.

James Blake, of Ridgley, Mr. Hegberg, of Lafayette, and Fred Gieseke, of Courtland, have been selected as jurors for the fall term of the Nicollet county court, which is being held at St. Peter this week.

A citizens meeting will be held at Turner Hall on next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of acting upon an important proposition relative to railroad matters. The meeting is called by Henry Crone, S. D. Peterson, J. A. Eckstein, A. A. Bogen, Peter Scherer, E. Schubert and Wm. Pfander, the committee appointed last spring to make all possible effort to secure a new road. As the meeting is an important one, the attendance should be large.

Wm. M. Hurlbert of Winona has brought suit in the district court against the New Ulm Basket Works, Geo. P. Clark et al, for the recovery of $376, which he claims is due him for machinery furnished by him for the Basket Works at this place. The outcome of the suit will probably be nothing more than the showing up of another of the tricks of the man called Clark. The managers here claim that Clark was given the money to buy the machinery and was not authorized to buy it in the name of the corporation.

The Laverne Herald says that George Milhouse returned Wednesday morning from the wilderness in northern Wisconsin where he spent the month of November in company with his brother Sam of this city hunting deer. While the snow remained on the ground the boys met with great success and killed four deer during the first two days of their stay in the woods. After that the snow disappeared and with it the success of the first two days' hunt. However the boys had a good time and feel well repaid for the trip. Sam returned to New Ulm Wednesday.

The following from the Minneapolis Journal illustrates what queer ideas of distance some people have: The Chicago Inter-Ocean contains a two-column interview with a lady who gives a blood-curdling account of the Sioux uprising in 1862. She says she was then living in Minnesota in imminent danger of assault and scalping by the Indians. "We lived at Anoka," she said, "about 18 miles from St. Paul. New Ulm, where the massacre occurred, was across the river beyond a thick forest called the 'Big Woods.'" The geographical ideas of this lady are a little mixed. She was not in a particle of danger at Anoka, for New Ulm isn't just "just across the river," but it is away off in the southwest on the Minnesota river with six big counties between it and Anoka.

Mrs. Frank Kuetzing is visiting with her parents in Wautoma, Wis.

Mrs. Albert Seiter and Miss Clara Doehne visited with Springfield friends last Thursday.

Already some mischievous youngsters have been playing their tricks upon the new skating rink association by destroying lanterns and other property about the rink. The managers do not propose to be further annoyed in this manner and have offered a liberal reward to any one furnishing the names of the guilty parties.

The vaults are now being placed in the new court house. The rooms are arranged as follows. As you enter the front door on the left side in succession are the commissioners', the auditor's, treasurer's and sheriff's and attorney's rooms. On the opposite side in the same order of succession are the register's, clerk's and judge of probate's offices.

E. P. Davis, a veteran soldier and a veteran Republican as well, of Blue Earth County, was a pleasant caller at our office on Saturday. He says and with conviction too, that while things didn't go as they might have in Blue Earth County and a few other spots this year, two years from now everything will be arranged to suit old standbys like himself. Out of the eternal fitness of things, he says, it cannot be otherwise.

Ever since the Indian scare in Dakota, many people have gained notice in the papers by claiming experiences in the massacre of '62. The result has been the bringing forth of quite a few who have never before been known as actors in that great fight between our citizens and the reds. For instance the Pioneer Press of Friday introduced Mrs. Alma Palmer of Dakota as the daughter of Mrs. Galpin, the rescuer of New Ulm women prisoners from the Sioux.

The Bazaar, given at Union Hall on Monday by the ladies of the Lutheran Church proved a complete success. A large throng of visitors filled the hall throughout the day, and the financial end of the Fair showed up well towards evening. Hundreds of beautiful articles, prepared by the ladies, were strung about the room and found ready purchasers. Fish ponds, candy stands and a postoffice also increased the enjoyment that was afforded the visitors. In the evening a splendid concert was given by the Concordia band.

Sunday's Globe contains a very complimentary account of a concert given in St. Paul recently by the St. Anthony Hill orchestra. In referring to the members of the orchestra, it makes note of two former New Ulm boys, Harry and Edmund Constans, sons of H. B. Constans. It says: Edmund Constans, the first violinist, is a player of more than usual ability. He is a pupil of D. Muehlenbruck, Tom Brook's concert master. He handles his violin like a veteran, and has made a decided hit as a soloist on several occasions. Harry Constans is one of those fortunate mortals to whom music comes as natural as swimming does to a duck. His instrument is the flute, over which he has perfect command. He comes of a musical family, and is by no means the least talented.

A dispatch from Washington says: During the last session of congress A. B. Allen, of the Jackson Republic, wrote a friend in Washington asking that some attention be given to his pension claim, then pending, stating that as he had opposed Representative Lind, and was still opposing him, it was not likely that that Congressman would do anything for him. The number of the case and a statement of the circumstances were given to Mr. Lind, and he at once went to the pension office and had the case taken up, considered and acted upon, the result being that Mr. Allen got his pension, with $2,000 back pay which had accumulated. Mr. Lind said he did not know why any man, whether he was a resident of his district, should not apply to him in any case of this kind, and that his action in Mr. Allen's case is the same as he would take in anybody's case that was brought to his attention.

Not long ago we mentioned the fact Henry Lillie had placed on his farm in Lafayette a machine for cutting corn fodder and shelling corn. Since then he has used the machine considerably and says that it works to his complete satisfaction. The corn is placed in the machine, stalks and all, and in passing through is husked and shelled and the stalks chopped into finest fodder which makes the very best kind of feed for cattle. In this way there is a great saving of labor over the old method of husking corn, and the stalks which are usually thrown away are transformed into a fodder that does away with the use of hay and reduces a farmer's expense wonderfully. Mr. Lillie thinks that the machine should be more generally used among the farmers, and, as many have expressed a desire to see it work, he invites them all to visit his farm on Thursday and Friday, the 18th and 19th of this month, when he has arranged to thresh his corn. In case of rough weather on the 18th the threshing will be put off till the 19th and 20th.
