The labor bill now before the German reichstag provides for the rigid enforcement of Sunday rest.

At Zschoppan, in Saxony, a man was fined $3.50 by the police for inscribing his occupation on the census blank as "a starving weaver." Truth isn't wanted very much there.

The vast number of people dying now at the age of 100 and upward leads to the reflection that whereas "there were giants in those days" there are herculean liars in these.

An Indianapolis man challenges another to a contest in getting off trains. With a good many people who indulge in this sort of sport it is a contest to a finish.

ELK's tongue is said to be one of the choicest delicacies known to epicures. Doubtless there are times when John L. Sullivan feels as if he could crunch the entire animal.

DANIEL WEBSTER is said to have been the first editor of the first college paper published in this country, the initial number appearing at Dartmouth in 1809. These journals now number 190 in the United States.

GUM CHEWING will have to be beclashed among the manias soon. An Ohio teacher chastised a girl for refusing to give up her wad, whereupon she and her mother attacked him and gouged his eyes out.

THE apprehension that exists concerning the oyster's ultimate fate gives rise to an awful dread that the providers of food may be reduced to the necessity of cutting them in two in order to see that each stew has its representation.

CHARLOTTE SCOTT, the colored woman who contributed the first five dollars paid toward a monument for Abraham Lincoln in Washington, and whose name is on that account inscribed in bronze on the base of it, died recently.

Now the "boomers" are invading the Cherokee strip. The misguided individuals who "boomed" into Oklahoma last year are now enthusiastically retracing their steps as rapidly as providence and their finances will permit.

THERE are a few demonstrated truths in politics and one of them is that a party gets along most prosperously and comfortably when it puts its best foot foremost. We may add that this truth is of universal application to all parties, at all places, at all times.

KING OSCAR of Sweden is a cruel man. He inflicted a lot of speeches upon the people before he ascended the throne and he is now getting them together for the purpose of publication and yet the world wonders when a nation breaks out in revolt against its rulers.

IN ARKANSAS, and probably the other southern states, the little fish follow the big fish. No less than thirteen county treasurers in Arkansas are short in their accounts by amounts ranging from $100 to $1,000. This is natural in a state which has twice been defrauded by its treasurers within a short time.

COUNT VON MOLTKE compels all the members of his family to spend at least one hour each day in the open air, even if the rain be pouring. This is what the ordinary boy would call a "picnic," especially on Sunday, and the announcement is calculated to make the count extremely popular with the rising generation.

PROF. ITALIANI, the handsome tenor, whose voice was more sweet and pure than his morals, had died. An admiring friend, writing his obituary, had intended to say that "Henceforth he will sing in another world," but the wooden-headed compositor, building better than he knew, translated it to type as follows: "Henceforth he will sing in a nether world."

It is now being found that goat's blood is a cure for consumption. The tests being made show surprising results, it is alleged. The discovery is due to the observation of the doctors that the goat never had consumption. But who ever saw a mule that had an affection of that sort? If the rule is a general one species can be had for all diseases. Some animal may be found that never had fits or delirium tremens.

The orders were issued several days ago, but were not made public. BIGAMY IS CHARGED.

Peculiar Matrimonial Experience of a Former Wisconsin Couple at Seattle, Wash.

The Husband Marries Another Woman Under the Very Nose of His Former Spouse.

SEATTLE, Wash., Special Telegram, Feb. 9.—Mrs. Minnie L. Beard claims that her husband, Charles B. Beard, is a bigamist, and tells the following story:

She was married to Beard three years ago at Hudson, Wis. He represented to her that he had been married before, but that his wife was dead. About a year previous to that time Mrs. Beard left her home and taught school in Knapp, Wis. At the expiration of the term she lived at Beard's home and kept house for him and his daughter by the first wife. Here the courtship began, which resulted in marriage. They came here about a year ago.

Several months ago Beard deserted her, and, as she has since learned, began paying attentions to Mrs. Lottie Blackman of this city, and last month married her, the wedding being quite a swell affair and made a great deal of in the newspapers. Mrs. Beard No. 2 was in ignorance of all this until a few days ago, when she came across a letter from the relatives of Wife No. 3.

WOULD BURN SIOUX CITY.

Incendiaries Seem to Be Carrying Things With a High Hand.

SIOUX CITY, Feb. 9.—The wholesale grocery store of Tolerton, Stetson & Co. was burned this evening. Loss on stock, $35,000; on building, $50,000.

While this fire was raging Lyon's gun store, less than two blocks away, was discovered to be on fire. The badly crippled department sent one horse team to work on the building, but the building being a two-story wooden structure, was soon burned to the ground, together with its contents. The upper floor was occupied as living rooms by two families, and it was rumored two children were burned to death, but this is not verified. The fire was clearly the work of incendiaries, done, it is supposed, for the purpose of robbery. It is now thought by many that it is the same gang that tried to burn the little town of Covington, just across the river, three weeks ago.

An attempt was made at 11:30 to start another fire in a second-hand store in Pearl street, but the blaze was discovered and checked by firemen.

PROFESSIONAL WITNESSES.

The Difficulty of Convicting Polish Criminals Explained.

SHERBORN, Pa., Feb. 9.—William and George Boutsavage, Matt Moldazars and John Lalunukis, four Poles, have been committed to jail in default of $2,500 bail each for murdrously clubbing and stabbing five of their fellow countrymen who were instrumental in having a friend of one of the accused sent to jail for assault and highway robbery.

The men named are ringleaders of a society which has for its main object the avenging of wrongs done its members and the payment of all expenses of members who get into trouble before the courts. The discovery of the society's existence is of great importance. Of late it has been almost impossible for the commonwealth to convict Poles of crimes on account of the vast amount of testimony put up in favor of the accused. This kind of testimony is now believed to have been supplied by professional witnesses, members of the society.

RAPID GROWTH.

It Binds One of the New States in Getting Settled Down.

WASHINGTON, Special Telegram, Feb. 9.—It is learned at the treasury department that a proposition is on foot to entirely reorganize the sub-parts of entry on Puget sound.

Considerable complaint has been made of the location at Bellingham bay and one or two other points, and an effort will be made to have them removed. This can be done by the treasury department without any legislation, as the act organizing the Puget sound collection district allowed the treasury department to fix up sub-parts of entry.

There has been more or less contention about the affairs in this collection district and the unsatisfactory state they appear to be in, and various people are petitioning for changes and removals and reorganization.

Most of these complaints, of course, are referred to the Washington state delegation, as the members have more accurate knowledge of the existing state of affairs than can be obtained by the treasury officials. The new State of Washington seems to have some trouble in getting settled down, and the rapid growth of various sections necessitates changes not foreseen a few months previous.

GAVE HIMSELF AWAY.

A Young Man Confesses Murder, Believing He Was Soon to Die.

OMAHA, Feb. 9.—H. M. Rogers, a young insurance agent who came here from Chicago last week, attempted to commit suicide by shooting a letter addressed to the United States Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, confessing that he murdered his sweetheart last summer near Mercer, Pa. He did not mention names, but admits that he assumed the name by which he was known. When he realized that he would live he made an effort to secure the letter, but the authorities had been apprised and secured the confession and took charge of Rogers. The Mercer authorities have been notified by telegraph. Rogers is intelligent and of good address.

Cause of Mike Wilkes' Death.

STILLWATER, Special, Feb. 9.—Veterinary surgeons have examined into the cause of the death of the trotter and pacer, Mike Wilkes, who dropped dead on the ice race track on Friday. They found that it was caused by the rupture of a blood vessel over the kidneys, and this was done by a sudden strain. On Thursday he acted badly, making several jumps in harness, each of over twenty feet, which would account for the bursting of the blood vessel.

Negresses Slay Each Other.

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 9.—A brutal murder was committed in the negro quarter. Two young colored women named Adelina Scroggins and Mrs. Gilbreath were at a ball, when a quarrel began among them, which terminated in Mrs. Gilbreath being stabbed through the heart by her infuriated rival. Before dying the victim seized an ax and dealt the murderer a terrible blow on the head, felling her to the earth, after which she dropped dead. The murderer is in jail.

PEPPERY.

Action of Chicago Workmen Ament the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—The organized labor of Chicago hotly asserted itself to-day regarding the world's fair. It was at a regular meeting of the trades and labor assembly, a body said to represent 47,000 workmen, and one of whose members was given a seat in the world's fair directory in recognition of the $300,000 subscribed by the workmen to the guarantee fund of the fair.

Intense interest is manifested in the subject. There had been much discussion beforehand in the meetings of individual unions, and it was generally expected that a climax would be reached to-day.

The excitement began when James O'Connell, president of the assembly, arose and offered the following:

Whereas, when it was first proposed to hold a world's Columbian exhibition in Chicago, organized labor was appealed to by the promoters of that institution to assist them in securing legislation and other influences in favor of Chicago; and whereas, the members of the various trade unions and labor organizations of Chicago have subscribed liberally to the stock of said exhibition; and whereas, inducements were held out by the promoters of said exhibition to the working people of Chicago that in all work done on the buildings of said exposition union labor should be recognized and have a preference over scab labor; and whereas, the present directors of said exposition indicate an intention of not only refusing to recognize union labor, but threaten to employ indiscriminately non-union labor, thereby flooding the labor market of Chicago with the ultimate design of destroying the trade unions; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, as union men, protest against this treacherous action of the directors of the world's Columbian exposition, and unless immediate action is taken in regard to this union labor, that we shall deem it our duty to oppose in every way any further legislation, either municipal, state or national, in favor of said world's Columbian exposition, and we hereby recommend all working men who have subscribed for said stock to decline to pay any further assessments until proper assurances are given by the directors that said implied plans will be kept;

Resolved, That unless satisfactory assurances are given by the directors that their indicated action will be changed we shall deem it our duty to ask the co-operation of every body of organized labor throughout the country to assist us in making our protest emphatic.

In an instant a dozen men were on the floor, and peppery speeches containing some pointed personalities followed. One speaker concluded, with the assertion: "There is no doubt that it is the intention of the directory to kill organized labor." Mr. O'Connell here jumped up and shouted: "We will make the directory put a regiment of soldiers around their grounds if they employ scab labor. The day has passed when organized labor can be ignored in a great public enterprise of this kind." This was received with cheers and loud cries of "That's right."

STILL THE IRISH.

Parnell Condemned and Harrington Criticized by the Prelates.

DUBLIN, Feb. 9.—A pastoral letter from the Catholic prelate was read in Catholic churches throughout Ireland to-day condemning Mr. Parnell's conduct and warning those engaged in the Boulogne negotiations to take care that the compromise reached be definite, as the country will have the last word to say on the issue.

Demonstrations by the two rival factions were held in Stradbally to-day. Plenty of policemen were present, and both demonstrations were orderly. Mr. Redmond addressed the Parnellites.

Several Irish bishops, following the example set by Archbishop Walsh, have written letters to the clergy of their dioceses in opposition to Mr. Harrington's appeal to the members of the National League to reorganize in view of the coming general elections. Archbishop Walsh advised clerical members of the league to combat such Parnellite "packing" by refusing to join in the treachery.

In reply to Archbishop Walsh, Mr. Harrington says the archbishop misjudges the object of the league's circular, which is similar to those issued annually by the league. Mr. Harrington says he informed Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien before issuing the circular that in consequence of the collapse of the American four he had determined to ask the league branches to help evicted tenants. Mr. Harrington advises the archbishop not to commit the priests too hastily to a policy which will lead to two hostile camps in every parish.

The Parnell leadership committee have agreed to dissolve in view of the accession of Mr. Dillon.

Valuable Stallions Burned.

Huron, S. D., Special Telegram, Feb. 9.—The lively barn of L. C. Freadway was destroyed by fire early this morning. Twenty-four horses, several carriages, buggies, harness, etc., were consumed. Among the horses were two stallions valued at $1,000 and $2,000 each. The loss is about $12,000; very small insurance. The origin of the fire is not known. The warehouse owned by Huron Furniture company were also badly damaged and some stock injured. The western portion of the town from destruction.

Radiv Bunged Up.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The Hamburg-American Packet company's steamship Polaria, from Copenhagen, regarding whose safety much anxiety has been felt, reached port to-day, five days overdue. Her foremast was gone, her engines were out of order, the bulwark forward on her starboard side were replaced with rough, unplanned boards, and she presented a battered appearance generally. The damage was done in a storm on Jan. 27.

A Millionaire's Son Missing.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Thomas Dudley Easton, aged thirty-eight, said to be the son of a millionaire parent, living at Mount Sterling, Ky., has been mysteriously missing since last Tuesday. Easton has been connected with an insurance company in Chicago for several years. The last seen of him was at the entrance to the Palmer house, where he stepped into a cab, leaving a loaded revolver on the seat. Mental aberration and foul play are the suggested solutions of the mystery.

Wouldn't Give Up His Ticket.

ECKLEY, Col., Feb. 9.—Section men found the body of a man lying in a ditch west of here this morning. On examination the man proved to be S. Brayer of Rochester, N. Y.
