ARE WE Right or Wrong?

A Shoe Dressing must restore the brilliancy of a worn shoe, and at the same time preserve the softness of the leather.

LADIES will the Dressing you are using do both? Try it! Pour a dessert spoonful of your Dressing into a saucer or butter plate, set it aside for a few days, and it will dry to a substance as hard and brittle as crushed glass. Can such a Dressing be good for leather?

Wolff's ACME Blacking will stand this test and dry as a thin, oily film which is as flexible as rubber. 25 Dollars worth of New Furniture for 25 Cents. HOW? By painting 25 square feet of Old Furniture with A-K-I-R-O-N. CAN'T YOU SEE THE DIFFERENCE? TRY IT. WOLFF & HANDEL, 627 North Front Street, PHILADELPHIA.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Brown, ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, May 29th, 1891. In the matter of the guardianship of Minnie Laudenschlager and William Laudenschlager, Minors. On reading and filing the petition of Minnie Laudenschlager guardian of said minors, representing, among other things, that the said wards are seized of certain real estate in said Brown County, Minnesota and that for the benefit of said wards the same should be sold, and praying for license to sell the same at private sale. And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Court, from said petition, that for the benefit of said wards said real estate should be sold: It is ordered, that all persons interested in said estate appear before this court on Thursday the 25th day of June A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the Court House in New Ulm in said county, then and there to show cause (if any there be) why license should not be granted for the sale of said real estate, according to the prayer of said petition. And it is further ordered, that this Order shall be published once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the New Ulm Review, a weekly newspaper printed and published at the City of New Ulm in said County. Dated at New Ulm, Minn., the 29th day of May A. D. 1891. By the Court, ERNST BRANDT, Judge of Probate.

TO THE LADIES OF NEW ULM AND VICINITY.

MISS EMMA HUMMEL will open a millinery department in my store next week. She has just returned from Milwaukee, where for the last two months she has been preparing herself in the art of trimming ladies' hats and to select the best goods and material. She has spared no time in obtaining good material and becoming styles and patterns for the coming season. The ladies are kindly invited to give her a call and examine the entirely new stock. The public will also bear in mind that my extensive store is well stocked with merchandise of all kinds including dry-goods, notions, toys, groceries and cheap counter goods which I sell at lowest possible prices. WM. HUMMEL.

Wm. G. Frank went to Springfield Monday to close the deal by which the bank of Bendixen & Street passes into the hands of the new corporation.

Nearly all of the diphtheria cases show improvement. It is thought by the health officer that there is no danger of further spreading of the disease.

Hon. Marcus Johnson, Internal Revenue Collector for this state, and D. N. Moon, the St. Paul wholesale grocer, have been in the city the past few days, the guests of M. Mullen.

The lively stable of J. P. Mulvehill of St. Paul, brother of the late Thomas Mulvehill, was consumed by fire Tuesday night of last week. The horses and other contents were saved.

The Schwendinger and Gag paintings of scenes in the Indian War are about half completed. Two months more of labor will be expended upon them, before they are finished.

Mrs. Fillman of Redwood Falls, from whom a tumor was removed on the 23rd, died early Wednesday morning at the hospital. She was forty years of age, and had been sick for nearly a year.

The ordination services of Rev. F. L. Meske as pastor of the Congregational Church will be held at the church on the 11th of this month. Several ministers from abroad are expected to be present.

The first theatre ever held in New Ulm was held in the old Pennsylvania building which was torn down last week. Many of the old settlers can recall this event, and some of them were principal actors in the performance referred to.

Eva McDonald, "Our Eva," has signified her intention to be present at the Alliance picnic in Iberia on the 13th of June. As Eva is fairly good-looking, a number of our prominent lady-admirers have already decided to black their shoes for the occasion.

Miss Martha Laird, formerly of New Ulm, wrote and recited the class poem at the commencement exercises of the Winona Normal School. The Daily Republican of that city publishes it in full, and says it was a capital parody on Tennyson's "Charge of the Six Hundred."

Saturday morning, while Mrs. Eckstein and Mrs. Schapekahn were driving up the hill leading to the cemetery, their horse became scared of a piece of flying paper and in starting to run, jerked the buggy so that the top, seat and occupants were all thrown off. Luckily, the ladies were not injured.

F. Hoode, alias several other names, came in from Linden on Monday, and imbibed too freely of that which sparkles. By night he was in a condition to be cared for, and was taken under the protective wing of the marshal. Yesterday morning he was ushered before Justice Baasen, who fined him $7 and costs, making $10.70 in all.

Wm. Rose will evidently not be given a new trial. The decision of the supreme court has not yet been published but the Redwood Gazette claims to have authoritative information to the effect that the judgment of the lower court will be affirmed. Rose's only hope in such an event will be in commutation or pardon, neither of which is probable.

Robert Scherer is home from the Minneapolis University.

Attorney Somerville transacted legal business here Wednesday.

The little son of Fred Meier died Thursday morning of diphtheria.

Conductor Hughes and brother from Wisconsin were down from Sleepy Eye to spend Sunday.

A. W. Daniels, the St. Peter physician, was in the city on professional business Saturday.

About twenty of the young people of town formed a jolly picnic party at Clear Lake on Sunday.

Architect Thayer of Mankato was in the city Saturday on business connected with the new Masonic Block.

The City Drug Store has been furnished with a night bell. Customers will find the electric button to the left of the door.

Said Hon Marcus Johnson during his visit here: You have a pretty and substantial city here. I have fallen in love with it.

In some sections of the neighboring country it hailed quite heavily Sunday morning. The crops however were not damaged.

Bendixen & Street of Springfield, having sold their bank at that place for $8,500, will start a similar institution at Lamberton.

The following was the standing at the last shoot of the rifle club: John Lilla, Herman Amme, John Hauenstein, Chas. Hauenstein and Theo. Mueller.

Louis Spoerhase was brought before Justice Baasen yesterday morning on the charge of disorderly conduct. He was fined $10 and costs, amounting in all to $14.45.

D. Hammer, the Courtland agent, who got himself into trouble with the New Ulm Elevator Company, was discharged last week. His place is filled by D. M. Walrath of Minnesota City.

There will be prize bowling in the Turner Hall park next Sunday afternoon. Prizes will also be awarded for best scores on the hook and ring arrangement and pigeon-hole alley.

As one of the results of spraining his ankle, Wm. Bierbaum of the Empire Mill, received an indemnity for five weeks from the old Travelers' Accident Insurance Company of Hartford.

A. M. Robertson of the Minneapolis Electric Light Company and W. J. Phelps, representing the Brush Electric Company of Chicago, were here Saturday looking over the New Ulm system of lighting.

Alois Forstner, who lived near the Catholic church, died Tuesday night. He was eighty-one years of age, and was one of the oldest settlers of the county. He had made New Ulm his home for about seven years.

A little son of Wenzel Schotzko has been quite sick with diphtheria at Springfield the past week. Mrs. Schotzko was there on a visit, and the boy was taken sick after his arrival in Springfield. The Advance says that at last accounts he was some better.

The stock-holders of the new Springfield banking company held a meeting at the office of Lind & Hagberg on Wednesday evening and elected the following directors: Wolfgang Schmid, Ferdinand Crone, J. L. Schoch, C. W. A. Krook and H. Bendixen. The officers will be elected later on.

Hon. D. S. Hall, late congressman from the Third district, arrived in the city on Friday in company with his wife for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. M. Mullen. Mr. Hall is the man who was so unfortunate as to run for congress last fall and be shamefully overwhelmed by an avalanche of votes for a man of the same name, but of different color in politics.

New Ulm will soon be without a free bus-line. On Wednesday a partnership was formed between Henry Rolves of this city and Anton Wiesner of Fairfax, and the Dakota and Union hotel bus and baggage lines will pass into their hands the 1st of July. With the new proprietors the public may rest assured of efficient service, and hearty encouragement should be given to the enterprise.

On Monday Judge Webber performed one of the duties of his office in appointing a Board of Public Works upon request of Mayor Wagner. To his credit, he re-appointed all of the old members as follows: Andrew J. Eckstein for three years, O. C. Strickler for two years, and E. G. Pahl for one year. The Board in the past has shown a desire to make all advisable improvement, and will no doubt preserve its reputation in the future.

Albert Steinhäuser tendered his resignation as teacher in the public schools on Wednesday, the resignation to take effect August 1st. Mr. Steinhäuser has held this position for seven years, and in that length of time has been one of the most valuable members of the corps. He gives up the profession of teaching to enter that of law, and in the new field the Review wishes him the success to which his abilities entitle him. He has not decided yet where he will locate, but it will probably be in New Ulm.

Col. Wright of the Third Regiment has resigned.

Tracy has voted $25,000 bonds for water-works.

H. M. Ball of Eden was a caller Friday afternoon.

A. I. Seiter went to St Paul Thursday afternoon on business.

C. Coerper and wife of Hartford, Wis., and Philip Gross Jr. of Milwaukee arrived here on Friday, and in company with Mr. Gross of this city, will leave this week on a visit to Colorado.

A. H. Pickle, Geo. Raverty and A. Meyer and wife of Golden Gate were in the city Friday. The gentlemen were soliciting for subscriptions to aid in the completion of the Golden Gate town hall.

Read the new ads. this week of Gruenfelder & Co., Chas. Wagner, City Drug Store, F. W. Hauenstein and Chas Stengel. There is always something suggested in these changes that is worthy of notice.

Thursday was Corpus Christi Day, and was observed as a holiday by the Catholics of the entire country. In this city a procession was formed at the church in which the band and several hundred people participated.

Geo. Zeig and Miss Anna Schlegl, both well-known young people of Sigel, were married at the Catholic church yesterday. Quite a contingent of New Ulm folks went out to their home to participate in the festivities which followed.

Andrew J. Eckstein, upon the urgent request of his fellow officers, has withdrawn his resignation as adjutant of the Second Regiment. Many of the letters sent to him, asking him to remain in his present position, are very commendatory of his services.

During the rain storm of Friday night, lightning struck the barns of John Bartel and Frank Vogel in the New Prague section of town, and destroyed both of them. The barn of Vogel was filled with wood, all of which was burned.

Dr. J. H. James, second physician at the St Peter Hospital and oculist, was here Saturday. In speaking of Dr. Koch's lymph, he says that the treatment was tried on one of the consumptives in the hospital, and that the patient shows much improvement.

Freeman Talbot of Cleveland, Le Sueur county, was on deck in New Ulm Friday, expecting to witness the dedication of the Sioux monument, not knowing that the celebration had been postponed till August. Mr. Talbot was one of the defenders of New Ulm during the Indian Massacre.

"Mrs. Knutson, or That Swede," was produced at the Union Hall on Monday evening. There is no merit whatever in such plays, written in ridicule of the foreigner who is doing his best to master a new language, and that of Monday night was no exception. The Ole O'sons, Yon Yonsons and Mrs. Knutsons will never be remembered after the advertising posters are torn down.

Wm. Koch, they say, is contemplating the insertion of an advertisement in that best of advertising mediums, the Review, offering to sell Ulm dogs at a bargain. He has two or three of them, which a few days ago made a meal of a neighbor's lambs, and since Koch has had to settle for the feast with a $10 bill he has come to the conclusion that a man can better afford to get along without Ulm dogs than with them.

On Monday evening the team of C. W. A. Krook became frightened, as it was being unhitched, and before anyone could stop the horses they were tearing down the alley towards Stoekert's brickyards at a terrible gait. Reaching the hill near the yards they turned towards the river, crossed the track and ran into a barbed-wire fences near Fritsche's island. The runaway was one of the liveliest ever occurring in New Ulm, and what was left of the buggy was not worth mentioning. One of the horses was cut slightly.

At the home of C. Dirks in Lafayette to-day there will be solemnized the marriage of Miss Tillie Beckman and Mr. Henry Dirks, both of Springfield. The bride is an estimable young lady of that village, and as for the groom his large and favorable acquaintance in New Ulm and neighborhood makes comment from us unnecessary. He is at the head of a prosperous business, and apparently on the certain road to success. The Review can only wish that the happiness and joys of married life may add to his present bright prospects.

The gardens of Mr. T. Metzke have been so improved of late as to make them a pleasant resort in summer time. His summer pavilion has been completed, and makes one of the nicest retreats in town.

F. A. Grey of New Auburn was in the city yesterday, endeavoring to induce the council to pass an ordinance protecting him in cleaning yards, vaults, cess-pools and in doing all kinds of scavenger work within the city.

About one of the meanest schemes for inviting charity that has come to our notice has been practiced recently by a man who lives on a farm near Fairfax. Not long ago his barn burned, and he collected insurance from the St. Paul Fire and Marine to the extent of $220, his receipt for which is now in the hands of Mr. Pfaender. After receiving this amount, he went about among his neighbors, and asked for assistance, claiming that he lost his insurance by failure to renew his policy, when, as a matter of fact, the policy did not expire until 1892. Now a man who would do that, would do most anything.

Carl Oscar Anderson, claiming to be from Chicago, was arrested by Sheriff Schmelz on Wednesday for stealing a watch from a medicine vender who was stopping at the Union Hotel. The prisoner at first denied any knowledge of the watch, but, when promised freedom, he took the sheriff to a shed near the City Mill and showed him where he had concealed the stolen article. On Thursday he was given a hearing before Justice Blanchard, and, waiving examination, was bound over under $200 bonds to appear before the grand jury at the coming term of court. Failing to furnish the required bail, he was returned to the county jail.

J. J. Hill, the railroad magnate, at a banquet given in his honor in St Paul last week recalled old times and showed the remarkable development of the commercial interests of the state when he said: It has always been a pleasure to me to meet the business men of St. Paul, and I believe that I am to-night the oldest salesman present, except Bruno Beaupre. I see, also, Theodore Borup, and I remember that in 1859 I drove "Old Turk," the dray horse, for him, and the farthest point went to was New Ulm. All these reminiscences are pleasant, but we must consider the present situation. Instead of New Ulm, our outpost is the farthest limits of this great empire. We have opened up to commerce an empire which is imperial, equal in area to the thirteen original States of the Union.

The city has been honored the past week with a visit from Freeman Talbot of Le Sueur County, to whom more than all others, New Ulm is indebted for the monument which now occupies a place on Centre Street in commemoration of the Indian massacre. By that we do not mean to say, that the monument would never have been built, had it not been for this individual, but by him the idea of such a shaft was first brought to public attention. As the credit which Mr. Talbot deserves for this has never yet been given him by the papers, the Review desires to give its readers a short recital of Mr. Talbot's efforts in this direction. While he was yet living in Le Sueur county, he drafted resolutions which asked the counties of Blue Earth, Brown, Nicollet and Le Sueur to raise the sum of $5,000 for a monument in New Ulm. The resolutions were first shown to Col. Flandrau, but while that gentleman agreed with their spirit, he was of the opinion that the appropriation should be made by the state. "Damn it," said the colonel, "we saved the whole state, and the state should pay for the monument." Accordingly the resolutions were remodeled by Mr. Talbot, presented to our representative in the legislature, and the result was an appropriation of $3,000. After having performed so important a part in securing it, therefore, Mr. Talbot naturally takes a good deal of pride in the monument, and, if alive and well, will certainly be present at the dedication in August.

Miss Lizzie Malpin, one of Springfield's teachers, has been visiting friends in New Ulm the past week.

Up to this time we have held fast to gold as the standard. Everything in the United States is based upon gold to-day, all silver notes or coins being kept equal to gold. Has that been a wise or an unwise policy? Would it now be best to let the gold standard go, to which the advanced nations cling, and especially Britain, and adopt the silver standard of our South American neighbors? Upon the solid rock of gold as our basis-article we have built up the wealthiest country in the world, and the greatest agricultural, manufacturing mining and commercial country ever known. We have prospered beyond any nation the sun ever shone upon. In no country are wages of labor so high or the masses of the people so well off. Shall we discard the gold basis, or even endanger it? This is the question before the people of the United States to-day. The New York evening Post is a free trade organ, but it has recently said that it would rather be the party to pass ten McKinley Bills than one Silver Bill such as was urged; and I, a Republican and a believer in the wisdom of protection, tell you that I would rather give up the McKinley Bill and pass the Mills Bill, if for the exchange I could have the present Silver Bill repealed and silver treated like other metals. In the next presidential campaign if I have to vote for a man in favor of silver and protection, or for a man in favor of the gold standard and free trade, I shall vote and work for the latter, because my judgment tells me that even the tariff is not half so important for the good of the country as the maintenance of the highest standard for the money of the people.—From "The A B C of Money," by Andrew Carnegie, in North American Review for June.

Fred Buschard is back from California.

Card of Thanks. To those who kindly rendered sympathy and aid during our late bereavement, we desire to extend thanks. Mrs. C. Forstner and children.

Specimen Cases.
