The new tariff law strikes a deadly blow at the sugar trust.

Congress adjourned Wednesday. But not until the tariff bill had become a law.

Mr. Hatch has never cast a single vote that was of any benefit to the Western farmer. Why return him to Congress another term?

The Republican party of Missouri expects St. Louis to send three Republicans to Congress. Loyalty is demanded, and disloyalty will be resented in a way that will not be soon forgotten.

Canada objects to the McKinley tariff bill on the ground that it will prevent the export of fifteen millions worth of Canada farm produce to this country to compete with the farmers of the United States.

Affairs in Wall Street have settled down into a normal tone. The purchasers of bonds and the prepayments of interest have thrown into circulation about $5,000,000 dollars. This is the largest contribution to the money in circulation that has ever been made within a like period during the history of our national finances. We have within the past month received an immense inflation of the active circulation, which supplemented by the future operation of the Silver Act will be virtually continuous and permanent.

Prof. J. E. Fellers, of La-Belle, received the nomination for the state senate at the Republican Senatorial convention, held at Canton, September 24th. Mr. Fellers is a young man of fine attainments, and will make a brilliant canvass. He began life as a Democrat, but voted for Garfield. When his party nominated Marmaduke for governor, and Bill Downing for the state senate the final separation came. He declared that, if he could not be a Democrat without voting for such men, he would join the Republican party, which he did. He should be elected by an overwhelming majority.

The provisions of the tariff bill, which has become a law, after months of discussion, are all designed to secure the home market in the United States to the home producer. The reciprocity amendments, suggested by Mr. Blaine make this even more emphatic. They are drawn so as to apply to countries whose staple products are altogether different from those of our own. Their object is to get a wide market for what the United States can export in return for what we do not produce at all or in quantity insufficient to meet our domestic requirements. During the last fiscal year our imports from South American countries amounted to $178,500,000. Of this vast amount about $125,000,000 was for sugar and coffee, bought principally of the West Indies and Brazil, and it took $110,000,000 in cash to settle our balance with those countries. Brazil levies a duty of 24 cents per bushel on wheat, 5 cents per pound on lard, and an export duty on the coffee we purchase of her and admit free to all our ports. Argentine Republic levies a duty of $4 per barrel on flour and 45 cents per bushel on wheat. Columbia imposes a duty of $6 per barrel on flour and 12 cents per pound on hams and other prepared meats. With the remaining South American countries the duties on flour, wheat, lard and meats are equally high as in the countries named. Thus it will be seen that it is next to impossible to do business with them. The reciprocity measure will correct this evil. A free sugar market for them gives us a free market for flour, wheat, meats and agricultural implements, thereby expanding the markets of this country, while it protects our own farm products, and the products of our manufactories.

Weather Forecasts for October, '90.

BY PROF. GEO. ROOT, METEOROLOGIST, FOR THE CANTON PRESS.

October has always been noted for its tornadoes, typhoons, hurricanes and cyclones, and this year it will be no exception to the rule. We here give the time of the passage of these storms across the continent:

1st to 3rd, a storm center is likely to be central in the Mississippi valley.

5th to 16th, a series of storms will follow each other in quick succession. The most violent of these storms will occur about the 7th, 11th and 14th. Watch the clouds, their movement, color, indications, etc.

The remainder of the month will develop storms of a milder form. Their date of crossing will be from 18th to 21st, 23rd to 27th, and from 29th to 31st heavy and severe rains (possibly heavy snowstorms in the northwestern states) will prevail.

Those witnessing the occurrence of the above phenomena will confer a favor on Prof. Root by sending him report of same.

Ignoring the "Old Man."

We are glad to see numerous protests in the press against the way in which the old man has been ignored. The many virtues and good qualities of the mother have been celebrated both in poetry and prose, in connection with the lives of all our great men. This is as it should be. Perish the wretch who would blot out a line of this praise. But in remembering the mother, why forget the father, better known as the "old man"? It is true the old man is not always a person of ideal physical beauty. You don't feel like writing sonnets about him; and even a roudon would be out of place in celebrating his homely virtues. But he toiled to feed and clothe the future man, perhaps sat up at night with him in sickness. And in a multitude of ways denied him self the pleasures and comforts of life in order to give the young man a chance. Poor, patient, brave, uncomplaining, awkward old man, how little our literature has to say about him. How generally he is ignored when living and forgotten when dead—Ex

The ideal magazine should be like a perfect dinner; reasonable, tempting, satisfying, never heavy, each course perfect in itself, with dainty entrees and entremets to give zest and piquancy, the whole affording such pleasure and satisfaction that it leaves a desire for a repetition of the feast. This is the case with the Demorest's Family Magazine for October, just received; when one has read it all through (and everyone who takes it up will do so) there is a desire to begin at the beginning and enjoy it all over again.

The October number takes us visiting again, this time to the palatial residence of Senator Hearst of California; and when one has looked through the magnificent illustrations, one feels quite at home "upstairs and downstairs and in my lady's chamber."

But this month there is a special attraction; the new list of Club Premiums. The offer is unprecedented, anything from a paper of needles to the complete furniture of a house being obtainable without paying out a cent! Published by W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th St. N.Y.

The following year he came to Adair county and settled in Polk township, where he continued to practice for many years. In 1858 he was elected to represent Adair county in the Lower House of the State Legislature. In 1861 he was appointed regimental surgeon of the Twenty-second Missouri Volunteers. He was afterward provost marshal and lieutenant colonel of the post located at Kirksville. He was appointed by President Harrison as one of the board of pension examiners of this place, in which capacity, he served up to the time of his death. Religious service was conducted at the residence by Rev. J. B. Mitchell at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, after which Ely Commandery took charge of the remains and conducted the services at Elm Grove cemetery where he was laid to rest.

Get Ready for German Day.

The people of Quincy, Ill., are making elaborate preparations to celebrate German Day, October 6, 1890, in the most extensive and appropriate manner. In the absence of the customary Fall Celebration, all classes are joining the German American citizens in making great efforts to contribute to the entertainment and enjoyment of the large crowds of visitors expected in the city on this occasion.

In the forenoon there will be an imposing parade, consisting of numerous German Societies, mounted and on foot; several historical floats, and a trades display representing the foremost industries of the city. The march will be enlivened by the music of several brass bands, and the beating of time by some excellent drum corps.

In the afternoon a number of prominent speakers will address the people in both English and German, at Washington park.

In the evening there will be one of the most brilliant night pageants ever witnessed in Quincy. Some of the best artists in the country are painting beautiful floats, which will be brightly illuminated, and a gorgeous night parade may be confidently expected.

A chat in which there is no malice, attracts a man; neither scandal nor evil speaking make a woman seem sweet and lovely to him.

Mr. John Keown, the worthy postmaster at Keown, Allegheny County, Penn., says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy sells better than any other." The reason of this is because it can always be depended upon. Let any one troubled with a severe cold give it a trial and they will find that the first dose will relieve the lungs and make breathing easier, and that its continued use will free the system of all symptoms of the cold. The promptness and certainty of this remedy in the relief and cure of colds, has won for it many sincere friends and made it very popular. For sale by Smith and Dunkin Druggists.

Mixed husbandry is advisable, and frequent seeding of clover, to keep the subsoil open to the admission of air and moisture.

Smith & Dunkin the druggists wish to remind their patrons that it is a dangerous policy to wait until taken sick before buying a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Every family should be provided with some reliable remedy for bowel complaints, ready for immediate use, whenever required, during the summer months, and this remedy is unquestionably far superior to any other. It can always be depended upon, and is pleasant and safe to take. It is put up in 25 and 50 cent bottles.
