

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.
Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

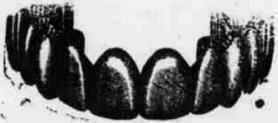

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best.

Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Epilepsy, Fits

"My son was cured of a very bad case of epilepsy, with Dr. Miles' Nervine."
MRS. D. BAKER, Cleveland, O.

"My little daughter who was afflicted with St. Vitus' Dance is now entirely well after taking Dr. Miles' Nervine only four months."
MRS. C. G. BENNETT, Alma, Mich.

Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance and Spasms, are all nervous diseases. They have been cured in so many instances with Dr. Miles' Nervine that it is reasonable to conclude that it is almost sure to cure you. With nervous diseases of a severe type, persistent use has almost invariably resulted in a complete cure or lasting benefits, worth many times the cost of the remedy. The best evidence you can get of its merits is to write to those who have used it. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit you will return your money.

FOR JUNE

The brimming mill pond full of boys,
The springboard and the slide,
The sly beef chews on the job,
And the pants securely tied.
The dripping and the telltale hair,
The scurry home at noon,
And then what paddy gave the drum—
Not yet, but June.

The wedding and the wedding guests,
The presents and the raiment,
The father proffering the bride,
And the much embarrassed claimant,
The dinner, and the shoes and rice,
The dear old honeymoon,
And Love's young dream until they wake—
Not yet, but June.

The end of school, the joyous shout,
The essay and oration,
Some samples of bad grammar by
The Board of Education.
All stand singing "Auld Lang Syne"
Or some such fitting tune,
And two young men and thirty girls—
Not yet, but June.

The picnic and the happy kids,
The dinner in the shade,
The scream when little Johnny Smith
Falls in the lemonade.
The soul-mates strolling hand in hand,
Not married yet, but soon,
And the little red-bugs at the bat—
Not yet, but June.

June was dedicated by the Romans to love and marriage, and was therefore named for Juno, whose experience was thought to more nearly typify that of the average married woman than anything that had happened up to that time.

Juno married Jupiter, one of the best and most exemplary of gods, giving him her simple trust and all the rope compatible with a reasonable enjoyment of liberty though married. Nevertheless, they had not been married long enough even to feel sure that they were suited to each other, when the bride made the terrible discovery that the co-owner of her wedding presents and the man who was to flag the family bread-wagon had an affinity.

Fortunately, though it had proven to be with gods as it is with men, it was not with goddesses as it is with men. Juno had a comeback coming to her, and she got busier than a mother robin rustling worms. She turned her husband's affinity into a heifer, and set Argus to watch over her as a shepherd. Argus had a hundred eyes, and do what he could, Jupiter could not catch him asleep all around and steal the heifer away from him. As a last resort he sent Mercury to slay him. After trying everything else, Mercury told him Bryan was elected, and he fell dead. Juno took the eyes of Argus and set them in the tail of a peacock, where we may see them "any fine morning in the country to remind us of that oldest of domestic tragedies inseparable from the history of June.

The wedding march will fill the land,
And the quail will get to pipin',
The Muse will rouse the village band,
And Patten's wheat will ripen.
The old self-binder will come out
And sing a few sweet stanzas,
And the college graduate will shout
And hit the trail for Kansas.

Come out with us at harvest time,
When the sickle sings at mowing,
When the rose is blooming in the field,
And the breath of June is blowing,
When the golden harvest ebbs and flows in undulating billows,
And the water boy is fast asleep down where the grass is green and deep beneath the shady willows.

There's nothing like it anywhere upon the earth or over, the air is fresh and fragrant with the sweet breath of the clover, the birds are singing operas, and the poultry is a-sunning, and the old familiar dinner-bell sets everybody running.

There may be men in Marathons that run a mile a minute, but it's a question is St. Ives or Longboat would be in it if he were working in a field, though many times a winner, and a bunch of twenty harvest hands knocked off to go to dinner.

It's simply wonderful the way
A harvest hand gets going—
You look at him one instant and
You see him calmly mowing.
You wouldn't think if forty bells
Should ring that he would hear them,
Or if ten banquets beckoned him
That he would venture near them.
He looks as whipped out as a rag,
And dead to all attraction—
But you want to hear the dinner bell
To see his triple action.
You want to see him double up
As if he had the colic,
And tear the field up setting out
Upon that little frolic.
It is as if the fumes of beans
Had reached him, or the vision
Of chicken had appeared to him,
Or else that some Elsyian
Mirage had shown him corn cakes,
pie,
Fresh biscuits, or food such as Gods eat teased him, keeping just Outside his eager clutches.

The meadowlark will chirp and sing,
and the bumblebee will bumble,
the colt will do a Highland fling,
and the tumble bug will tumble,
the calf will buck and jump for joy of simply being loose,
the droll grasshoppers sit around and spit tobacco juice,
the luckless tramp resume his march and the bulldog chase and bite him, and the horsefly irritate the mule, and so ad infinitum.

It is hard to forecast tariff phenomena at Washington, but the prospect is that when the dust of conflict settles this time we, instead of the trusts, will be found to be the goat. Mr. W. H. Taft will continue as president, and Mr. Theodore Roosevelt as hunter to the Associated Press. Messrs. Morgan and Rockefeller will divide the money. Mr. James Schoolcraft Sherman will furnish the silence. Mr. Joseph G. Cannon will run the country, Mr. Nelson W. Aldrich will be the villain, and Mr. Albert J. Beveridge will be the young lady hesitating between two loves.

June will be notable in astronomy. There will be two eclipses—a total eclipse of the full moon on the third, and a central eclipse of the sun on the seventeenth. The eclipse of the moon will be visible generally in North America, except the northwestern portion, and the eclipse of the sun will be visible as a partial eclipse in the United States and Canada, except south of a line drawn from San Francisco through Tucson, Arizona, to Corpus Christi, Texas. The effect of these phenomena will be to make fishing better than it has for years. Subscriptions to the fund of $10,000,000 which Prof. Pickering is raising for communication with Mars will be received up to the fifteenth. Country newspapers forced to send wood need not feel embarrassed. Many of the large city papers are only giving advice.

And then July will come again,
When the warlike boy and skittish
Will fill his little brother full
Of what we gave the British.

Did one of your kin ever pay you a compliment?
Nothing tastes as good as it looks in a cook book.
Good! the house fly is to be punished for trespass.
If only politics and some other things were "wireless."
The secret of life is not to make many important mistakes.
Naturally a boy takes to water; the trouble is to induce him to keep it up.
No woman, who has a house that is clean, need never be ashamed of her furniture.
When a woman with big feet goes into a shoe store, the clerks have a lot of trouble.
Speaking of spring as a shy maiden, no one can accuse her of being forward.
Half the people in the world are working the other half for chumps and doing well.
The man who begs your pardon means about as much as you do when you grant it.
When a woman marries a man to get a home she frequently has it all to herself after a little.
The dictionary should make "born and raised" a correct expression; everybody uses it.
Old people do not treat young people right and young people do not treat old people right.
In the spring of the year, as plow time approaches, if you like a girl cultivate her acquaintance.
The pictures should be changed; Cupid is no longer a boy child with an arrow but a girl child with a gun.
There is one place where rich and poor meet on equal footing; at a gambling house. They are all robbed alike.
When a man talks about blooming flowers he is taking a different point of view from what a woman usually is.
So many men carry large life insurance these days that getting rich by marrying widows, is becoming quite an industry.
Even a man who is smart enough to swap horses and get the best of it don't always know enough to get married to the right party.
A man hates those above him and patronizes those below him—a woman admires those above her and hates all below her in position.
It pays to be a booster. It pays to patronize your home stores—every time you trade at your home town you help the produce market.
A great many people are continually wondering how they can get on the inside. The quickest way is to put a fist through a plate glass window.
Another thing to be called in is the sentiment about "sleeping in a valley so sweet." Every cemetery we ever saw was perched on top of a high hill.
In spite of all the sarcastic words written about women and their failings, they are the hope of the world—in sincerity, industry and courage woman is the heroine ever.
When the heart rises to move that the head's resolution be made unanimous you are safe in putting up your last kopeck on a "two to one" bet that you'll never regret it.
When a woman hears that the school teacher says her boy is a bad boy, she goes to the school house to scratch the teacher's eyes out. But when she hears that her husband is a bad man, she accepts it as confirmation of what she has long suspected.
