Frank Mier, of Bird's Island, was here Tuesday and reported that a new nest had made its appearance in his settlement in the nature of wild dogs. He says they are real dogs that have grown wild and are mistaken for wolves by some. He says they are very savage and killed a 4-month-old colt for him. He has seen but two and killed one of these. He was down in the Sandyswoods Tuesday visiting his brother-in-law, Joe Scherer, and when he returned he said they came near persuading him to buy a Sandyswoods farm. FROM ORAN.

Our little city is an example of thrift, and we are not fearful that any can successfully gain this. A stranger entering our town may, on first looking about him, think it rather dilapidated, this however is due to the ravages of the fire which on Thanksgiving night swept before it property worth several hundreds of dollars. This condition is only to remain so for a short time, new, substantial fire-proof structures are taking their place; residences are going up which will be a credit to the town as long as they stand. Not only along these lines, but along those which require business ability and energy are we coming to the front. A new store has recently located with us and is doing a lively business along with those already established, and our educational forces have been made stronger than ever before. The school property is in better condition and improvements are being made constantly. Our board of directors are energetic and are looking after the best interests of the patrons. The school yard, which is nicely set in clover, is carefully kept and the young trees have been worked and fertilized, so that in a very few years the yard will be as beautiful as any comfortable place, so conducive of drawing out the noblest and best qualities in the developing minds. The interior of the building shows the touch of the same hand, the boards have just been re-sanded and for the coming year the dustless crayon will be used. New stoves have been provided where they were needed and book-cases, globes, maps and charts and all necessary apparatus which gives promise of a good year's work. The ladies of the W. C. T. U. are doing some good even if it may appear that they are quiet; but "still water runs deep." They are planning for a silver medal contest in the near future and we are quite confident that this fall Southeast Missouri will be thoroughly awakened to the noble work this organization is doing, after their district and state meetings which are to be held at Blodgett and Charleston, respectively. A. V. Schelber, one of our telephone managers, came in last week bringing his bride. Mr. and Mrs. Schelber will go to house-keeping in the Stubbelsfield building. Miss Myrtle Brider, daughter of a former and well known resident, is visiting her uncle, John Brider. Rev. T. A. Culmer, of Charleston, preached at the Methodist church Monday and Tuesday evening. The family of Jas. Rodgers have returned from St. Louis and occupy one of Mrs. Friend's houses. Misses Deloma Shobe and Mabel Tomlinson, of Morley, were guests of Mrs. W. E. Harris Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Null, of Madison, are here on a visit to Mrs. Null's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Cookey. Miss Mary Metz and her cousin, Frankie, are visiting Miss Bertha Metz in East St. Louis. FROM MORLEY.

George O'Neal, a former resident of Scott county, but for the past year living at Nashville, Ark., died July 27 of cancer of the stomach, and was brought home and buried in the Benton cemetery Sunday afternoon. He was a member of the Morley A. O. U. W. and a number of members of the order met the body at Morley and accompanied it to Benton. Little Pearl Congleton was 5 years old August 1st. Invitations were sent to several children of about the same age to attend a birthday social and a real enjoyable time was had. Among the little merry-makers was Clarence McDonough, who was also born on August 1. There was just one-half pound difference in their weight. James Houck got drunk last week and ran his family away from home. He said he got his whiskey from Frank Hudson, so Hudson was fined $50 for "ordering" whiskey. He failed to pay the fine and is now a city boarder. Mrs. Armina Allen has sold her restaurant to Lon Slankard and moved to the Martin house. Mr. Slankard rented Mrs. Frobase's brick and moved his family there Tuesday. There is a new drink in Morley. It is "Regal." But in small letters on the label it says spell it backward. Well, the use of it will make a fellow go backward. The Gregory brothers have rented the Hunter farm near town and will move there as soon as the present occupant, Plummer Abbott, gives possession. Jay May and Pink Eves had a difficulty last week. Mr. May was somewhat worried in the argument and laid up for repairs this week. Fish in Little River are suffering this week. A crowd of Morleyites are down there tormenting them. Jas. L. Hunter and wife are rejoicing over the arrival of a big boy since July 31.

FROM VANDUSER.

As Vanduser is the largest town in the county—of its age, and the Kicker the most popular paper in the county it is natural that we come to you for local representation for our thriving, growing town. And now, if you pardon my lengthy preamble I will try to tell of some of our happenings. Our splendid brick school house walls are finished up to the second floor and with Prof. Arbaugh at the helm and Miss Vaughn as assistant, our prospects are flattering for the elevation of our children both morally and intellectually. Our new church building will soon be finished and with the W. C. T. U. and the numerous citizens that are opposed to drunkenness, we will soon be rid of saloons, "a consummation devoutly to be realized." Our new merchant, Mr. Francis, is greatly surprised at his liberal trade and the generosity of our citizens. He will move here during this week and locate permanently. Our sawmill, running steady, can't possibly furnish lumber fast enough to satisfy the growing demand for rough and finished material for the many houses being built. The A. O. U. W. goat riding of last Saturday evening was a most glorious success under the personal supervision of a general hustler for the order. Mr. Cavanah, the barber, had business at the county seat Monday and took his better half and little Bonnie with him to see the artesian-tank. Some of Contractor Bartfield's congenial brick layers, natives of Erin's Isle, are having to lay off on account of the scarcity of lumber. With a good yield of wheat already threshed and prospects for a banner crop of corn, the farmers are all happy and healthy. Miss Ada Tindall, of St. Louis, who has been visiting Mrs. Arbaugh, left for home Tuesday. Quite a number of our citizens took advantage of the cheap rates to visit the city Sunday.
