M'DANIEL INDICTED

The St. Joseph Prosecutor Must Answer to Wife Murder Charge in Court.

TRIAL SET FOR OCTOBER 18

Defense Wanted an Earlier Date But Judge Ryan Set Time Asked by State.

The special grand jury has returned an indictment against Oscar D. McDaniel, prosecuting attorney of Buchanan county, charging murder in the first degree, following its 13-day investigation of the slaying the night of July 14 of Mrs. Harriet Moss McDaniel, the prosecutor's wife.

Twenty minutes later McDaniel, smiling, was brought into the courtroom by the sheriff, and he sat, arms folded, conversing with his attorneys before Judge Thomas F. Ryan's bench.

Barth M. Lockwood, special prosecutor, then entered and the formal proceeding of notifying the prisoner of his indictment began.

Judge Ryan looked down over the edge of his bench into the eyes of the man who has prosecuted vigorously such the sort of cases of which McDaniel himself was the central figure today. Then he read the short, terse, legal document signed by the jurors and signifying that, after a close investigation of the murder of the prosecutor's wife, they believed there was sufficient evidence upon which to hold him.

Judge C. E. Stroppe of McDaniel's defense announced he would waive arraignment and entered a plea of not guilty.

"Gentlemen, it is now proper that a time for the trial of this case be set," said Judge Ryan.

It has been the contention of McDaniel and his attorneys that they feared McDaniel would not be given the benefit of an early trial, so that he might resume his campaign for prosecuting attorney. But Dart M. Lockwood routed their fears when he said he would be glad to go into the trial of the case by October 18.

When Judge Ryan set the trial for Wednesday, October 18.

COUNTY WILL ROUT DISEASE

Town and Country Join Hands With Uncle Sam in Sanitary Survey in Clay.

Clay county and disease are at outs. There's a warring tongue in the community. It belongs to Uncle Sam. And the gossip it has been pouring into the ears of the farmers over there has started a lot of trouble.

Ten weeks ago a survey of the county by seven men under the direction of the United States Public Health Service was begun. Five cities have been reached in that time, and a big part of the rural districts have been visited. In all the cities, the lectures by the medical experts, dealing with disease prevention, have been effective to the extent of the passage of ordinances along the lines suggested by the surveyors.

In the farming districts the advice given by the federal agents is being accepted gladly and gratefully, according to Dr. H. C. Yarbrough, in charge of the work throughout the county.

For example, all of the rural schools visited have installed modern drinking cup containers. Instead of the pupils drinking from rusted tin cups or old cans, as in the majority of cases, glasses or cups belonging to individuals, or furnished by the county authorities are kept privately by the pupils, cleansed each day and held in a locker.

The government physicians visit farm homes, inspect the premises, then take up with the owner the shortcomings of his sanitation. It weeds that would be detrimental to good health grow in a place the agents tell the farmer they ought to be cut. If garbage and old clothing are allowed to accumulate near the house, the farmer is told how to remove it and how to prevent such practices.

In the cities much the same tactics are used.

NINE DEAD IN COLLEGE FIRE

Main Building at Christian Brothers School at St. Louis Destroyed—To Be Rebuilt.

Nine men are known to have perished as the result of a fire that destroyed the central portion of the main building of Christian Brothers college at St. Louis.

Two of the known dead were aged priests, long connected with the college, but on the retired list, and in recent months in the infirmary. They were trapped on the fifth floor by the flames.

Five known to be dead were firemen, who were carried to the basement from the third floor when a wall collapsed. At least twelve firemen were carried down in the wreckage. Seven of them were taken out alive, badly hurt. The bodies of the five known to be dead were recovered during the afternoon.

Another death was that of a nurse who was in attendance on the aged priest, and who received fatal injuries when he dropped from a fifth story window while firemen were climbing a ladder to rescue him.

The fire was discovered by the registrar of the college on the fifth floor. He turned in an alarm, and hurried to the dining hall in the basement where 105 students and thirty members of the faculty were at breakfast. He quietly told Brother James of the fire, and the latter, giving the fire drill signal, ordered the students and faculty to march out of the building. The students did not know the building was burning until they reached the campus.
