DEATHS

Miss Lydia Sullivan

died at her home in West Marshall Sunday as the result of the beating received six months ago by an unknown person. She had since been in poor health till relieved by death. Miss Sullivan was born in Philadelphia 72 years ago and in early life taught Spanish and French. She leaves a large number of relatives and friends. Her funeral occurred Tuesday afternoon.

H. M. Way

a motorman of East St. Louis, was killed by a fall from his car Wednesday morning of last week. His brother Robt. L., of Slater, had the remains brought to that place for burial.

George Eggleston

was fatally injured in an accident at Higbee Friday about 11 a. m. and as a result died several hours later at his home in Slater. He was making a drop switch on a freight car when his foot caught in a "frog" and the car ran over him. His funeral, which was an unusually large one, took place at the Methodist church under the auspices of the K. of P. He was 22 years old and resided with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Eggleston.

Mrs. Emma L. Jones

died at the residence of Dr. R. A. Shoemaker of Slater last Thursday. Her funeral took place at the residence at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. Her husband and two children survive.

Fred Paulsmeyer,

an old and respected citizen of Warrenton, died on Nov. 1st, aged 65 years. Mr. Paulsmeyer owned a farm in the McAlister neighborhood and made regular trips there and to Sweet Springs, where he had a daughter.

John Paulsmeyer, one of his sons, was formerly in the hardware business in Sweet Springs. Mr. Paulsmeyer's residence adjoins that of the editor's father in Warrenton and on our frequent trips home we have learned to know him well and found him one in a thousand in character and kindly acts. He will be missed by a very large circle of friends and relatives, and in his community.

Rev. B. T. Wharton received the news last week of the death of his brother, Rev. G. Z. Wharton, a missionary in Louisiana. He was sent out by the Christian church in 1833,

DARING HIGHWAYMAN

Held up Passenger Train Near Slater.

A lone bandit held up the midnight C. & A. passenger near Slater while going at full speed Thursday night.

The train was the through fast passenger from California which runs between Kansas City and Chicago and uses the Chicago and Alton tracks. It left Kansas City that night at 9 o'clock and was due in Chicago at 8 o'clock Friday morning. The robber, who is described as being tall and wearing a long, black overcoat and a mask, boarded the rear sleeper at Slater. When the train had gained headway he entered the sleeper and observation car. He encountered L. S. Seanson, Pullman conductor; C. W. Roller, a flagman, and R. Wood, a negro porter, all of Chicago. Leveling two revolvers at the trio of trainmen, the robber commanded them to proceed ahead of him and wake up the passengers.

As his command was carried out, the robber, forcing the conductor, porter and flagman ahead of him, secured what booty he could in his hurried march through the car. When he had reached the front end of the car he started for the second Pullman. The porter, however, had managed to get far enough ahead of the others to make a dash for the second car, and slammed and locked the door on the robber. The train then was at a point about one mile east of Glasgow. Realizing that he could proceed no further with his work, the robber pulled the air rope. While the train was slackening its speed he jumped off and disappeared in the darkness.

Early this morning officers were started out from Glasgow, Slater, Kansas City and other near-by places to trace the robber. The territory in which he worked is thickly settled and it will be difficult for him to make his escape.

Stories Of Passengers

Chicago, Ill., November 9.—Exciting stories of the "gentleman train robber" were told to-day by passengers on the Rock Island Golden State limited, which was held up in Missouri by a lone bandit early this morning. The train reached Chicago at 10:15 a. m. and by that time the passengers had recovered from their alarm and were able to give a graphic account of their own and the robber's actions.

The bandit appeared when the train was between Slater and Glasgow, Mo., went through the sleeping car, robbed three men and escaped with $70. Among his victims was E. R. Slagle, a Pullman company official.

Among the passengers on the train were Mrs. Francis Preston Blair, 36 Cedar street and her daughter, Miss Emily Blair.

"We heard the porter call 'All up!' " said Miss Blair, "and then the curtains of my berth were pushed aside. 'We haven't got to Chicago yet, have we?' I asked. In the dim light I saw the gleam of the revolver and saw other heads peeping from the curtains.

"It's all right, lady," said the bandit. "Don't be alarmed. I don't want any money from the ladies. I am only looking for the men. Then he passed on.

"He couldn't have been a professional robber, like the James boys. He talked in such a mild soft voice. He had a pleasant quiet way about him and he seemed gallant. He raised his hat and told us not to be afraid. He was a tall, blond man, not more than 30 years old, and perfectly cool.

"We would have given him our money if he had demanded it, but mamma and I did not have much with us. This was about midnight and, of course, I could not sleep any more. We got up and dressed and talked over our adventure with the other passengers. All were excited, especially the men. The robber pulled the bell cord and jumped off. He got about $70."

Among the passengers forced to give up their valuables were Joseph A. Jessel of Montreal, Eli Adler, of New York, C. C. Nelson of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Rice of New York.

A Description Secured

Frank Lewis, col., who was "bumming" his way on the robbed train, said the man road on the bumpers with him from Kansas City and urged him to join in the robbery, but he refused. Lewis describes him as 5 feet 10 inches high and about 35 years old.

Found a Headless Body

Pittsburg, Kas., Nov. 12.—Mute evidence of murder was found by boys in the timber on Brush creek, two miles north and a half a mile east of Weir City today. The head of the man was found in the timber, with the body some distance away. Hogs had eaten the flesh from the body and skull. A bloody hatchet lay close by, the skull was crushed in. It had probably lain in the woods for six weeks.

A blanket and pillow were found close by the head. From fragments of clothing it was decided the dead man wore a black sateen shirt a blue coat and overalls. The right instep and the right heel were cut out of his shoe.

The only clue to his identity was a business card reading: H. H. Schudder & Co., Dealers in Hides, Wool and Furs, Marshall, Mo.

Mr. Scudder informs us that he is unable to say who the man was, but thinks it was probably J. C. Wilson, who has been working around Marshall several years.

Supplements Again

Our supplement has arrived this week again and those who have been reading the story will find it continued from their last number a month ago. We are told that hereafter the supplement will be sent regularly.

Horse Stolen

A stranger giving the name of Lee hired a ris of liveryman G. J. Langan, Saturday. Mr. Langan became suspicious after a while and made a search and was successful in finding his horse in West Glasgow but the man escaped. The man stopped Saturday night at John Sellmeyer's in West Glasgow and a worthless check in payment for lodging we are told. He also attempted to buy stock on his check. The last heard from the man was at Fayette.

Cold Affected Head and Throat—Attack Was Severe.

Chas. W. Bowman, 1st Lieut. and Adjt. 4th M. S. M. Cav. Vols., writes from Lanham, Md., as follows:

"Though somewhat averse to patent medicines, and still more averse to becoming a professional affidavit man, it seems only a plain duty in the present instance to add my experience to the columns already written concerning the curative powers of Peruna.

"I have been particularly benefited by its use for colds in the head and throat. I have been able to fully cure myself of a most severe attack in forty-eight hours by its use according to directions. I use it as a preventive whenever threatened with an attack.

"Members of my family also use it for like ailments. We are recommending it to our friends."
