Among Good People

Seated behind R. N. Ayres' high-stepping circus horse, "Charlie" the editor left Gilliam Monday noon for a short trip to Cambridge and West Glasgow. Our first stop was at F. M. Heinzler's. Mr. Heinzler is one of Saline's big farmers and we had no trouble in securing a good start of several dollars from him. While we were talking to Mr. Heinzler Old Charlie saw Robt. Swinney coming along and thinking he had never seen a real performance proceeded to do one of his circus stunts. After repairing our buggy and harness, in which Mr. Heinzler kindly assisted us, we drove on to Cambridge where J. W. Jordan gave us another dollar for renewal. He is one of the "old-reliables" of that place.

R. J. Jordan informed us that they had just employed Mrs. J. P. McDonnell (nee Della Hawkins) to teach their colored school. They have secured a good teacher, as shown by her good record in the Marshall schools.

E. P. Hill, just south of the C. & A. track, showed us his fine stallion, "Rex Chief," a half brother to Sam Hess' Rex Chief. He takes a great deal of pride in the horse and has good grounds.

Mrs. Hannah Friley next gave us her name as a new subscriber.

Jacob Carson had just the right amount for a year's renewal. Reaching Saline Valley, O. H. Dickman and N. J. Giger gave us their names as new subscribers. As it was getting late we drove to Louis Baringhaus' where we had an invitation for the night. Mr.

Baringhaus is a brother of Presiding Judge Jos. Baringhaus of Warren county, but it will be several years before he can expect to be elected a judge here, because —he's a Republican. We received excellent treatment at this pleasant home.

In the morning we took a short drive down the river road—which, by the way, is the best we have found this year—and added the names of Conrad Olendorf, Gus Nolke and Joe Meyer, all prosperous farmers.

On our return trip we stopped at the home of Geo. Koeb, one of the Republican's old-time friends. He had gone to Glasgow but his wife came to our rescue with several dollars for renewal.

Alfred Jackson also gave us a dollar for renewal on our return.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Giger had the misfortune of losing an infant child by death on May 21st, which was laid to rest the following day in the Catholic cemetery. Joe Meyer also was bereft recently of his wife.

We regretted very much that our stay here had to be cut so short. This is the only community in Saline where everybody reads the Republican and the paper has established a record here that we are proud of and naturally we feel a deep interest and gratitude towards these people, who, regardless of political "afflictions" are willing to read a good paper.

MOSES CALLED TO DELIVER ISRAEL

Sunday School Lesson for June 2, 1907

Specially Prepared for This Paper.

LESSON TEXT.—Exodus 3:1-16. Memory verses, 3-4.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"And he said, Certainly I will be with thee."—Exodus 3:12.

TIME.—According to the common chronology Moses left Egypt at the age of 40, B. C. 1522. His call was 40 years later, B. C. 1482 or 1483. Others place it nearer 1390 or even 1290.

PLACE.—The portion of the land of Midian where Moses spent the 40 years was probably the southeastern part of the Sinai peninsula. The burning bush was on Mount Sinai, between the two arms of the Red sea. Sinai and Horeb are interchangeable terms, though some think Sinai to be one of the mountains in the mountain district called Horeb.

RULERS.—The Pharaoh when Moses left Egypt was probably Rameses II. His son, Menephtah, was probably the Pharaoh when Moses was called to deliver Egypt.

Comment and Suggestive Thought.

"The bush burning, yet not consumed, has always been regarded as an emblem of Israel in Egypt. Moses, in his farewell blessing of the tribes, could find no richer benediction of the sons of Joseph than to wish for them 'the good will of Him that dwelt in the bush.' The Church of Scotland, therefore, has not made an inappropriate or unwarranted use of this emblem, when, looking at her own history, how she was cradled in persecution, she has put upon her banner a representation of the burning bush, with the legend: 'Nec tamen consumebatur.' 'Yet it was not consumed.'"—W. M. Taylor.

Moses' Objections and Their Answers.—Vs. 11-14; also to Ex. 5:17. Moses may have known that Rameses II. had been succeeded by his son Menephtah, a much weaker ruler; but he understood thoroughly the mighty power of Egypt, and, conscious of his own insignificance, it is small wonder that he began to bring forward objections to God's amazing proposal.

First Objection, Moses' Insignificance. V. 2. "Who am I, that I shall go unto Pharaoh?" An exile under sentence of death, a shepherd 80 years old going to a magnificent court from which he had been absent 40 years, an old man attempting the stupendous task of freeing 2,000,000 slaves and organizing them into a nation. No wonder Moses faltered.

First Answer, God's Presence. V. 12. "Certainly I will be with thee." That same power before which Moses was hiding his face would go with him to confront his enemies.

Second Answer, God's purpose. "Ye shall serve God upon this mountain." "The fixing of that future meeting place would serve to give confidence to Moses by showing a resolute, clear purpose on the part of God."—Macgregor.

Second Objection, the People's Idolatry. 13. Moses remembered how ignorant the Hebrews were concerning the God of their fathers. When he brought them a message from God, they would be sure to ask: "What is his name?" "The Egyptians had various gods, and Israel, long used to their practices, would be sure to ask after the name of the God whose messenger Moses was. How was he to be named to them?"—Howard.

Answer, the Name of the One God. 14. "What a graven image or some outward symbol was to all other nations, that a name, and a name only, was to the Israelite."—Hanna. The name God revealed to Moses was not unknown before (Gen. 22:14), but it was filled with a new meaning. "I AM THAT I AM."

Third Objection, the People's Incredulity. Moses foresaw (Ex. 4:1) that the people would not believe his story, and, as 40 years before, would refuse to follow his lead.

Answer, the Gift of Miraculous Power. "What is that in thine hand?" Jehovah asked; and bestowed upon the common shepherd's staff the power to become a serpent at the bidding of Moses, while the hand itself, thrust into his bosom, became white with leprosy, and thrust in again, became sound once more. One other miracle, the turning of water into blood, was definitely promised.

Fourth Objection, Moses' Slowness of Speech. Moses foresaw that the great task would require much talking, and he was not an orator. Answer: "Who hath made man's mouth?" was Jehovah's grand reply. Doubtless if Moses had accepted the assurance, God would have developed the oratorical power that he certainly possessed, and he would not have been obliged to share with another the glory that God meant for him alone.

The Great Task is Begun.—Ex. 4: 18-31; chapters 5 and 6. Obtaining Jethro's consent to his return, and leaving his wife and children in their safe home, Moses set out upon his perilous undertaking. He was met by Aaron, and the two old men, after an affectionate greeting, formed their plans for the campaign that was to mean so much to the world.

Practical Points.

Every one has a work for which God sets him apart, as truly as Moses. No one else can do your work. God does not always disclose a man's work early in life. Nothing is gained by moving ahead of God's time, as Moses did in his first attempt. The best is made is as late as possible. God knows best how to prepare us for our life work. If we are in the course of duty, God's call to great things may come at any time, while we are about our ordinary work.
