DEATHS

MRS. WM. E. HARRIS—Nellie May Young was born May 25th, 1889, was married to Wm. E. Harris, July 13th, 1904, and departed this life October 28, 1911. Mrs. Harris united with the Christian Church at the age of nineteen years.

The funeral occurred Sunday Oct 29th conducted by Rev. Steinheimer at the residence in south Marshall after which the remains were laid to rest in Ridge Park cemetery.

The friends wish to express their thanks to Mr. Mahard who arranged a quartette which rendered very sweet and appropriate music at the funeral services.

She was an only daughter.

MRS. FANNIE KITCHEN died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Georgia Cook, of Ayres, Monday, Oct. 30th, aged 42 years. Deceased had been a consistent life-long member of the Baptist church and the funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. E. Norvell, of Gilliam, Tuesday afternoon and burial in High Hill cemetery.

Span of Horses $400

F. Ferguson & Son, of Greeley, Iowa, breeders of Percheron horses had Col. F. M. Stone sell a pair of matched bay geldings Tuesday noon, on West Court Street, which brought $400. The horses were a fine and heavy pair, weighing 3400 lbs. and 16 1-2 hands high. John Dyer bid them in at $400.

Rodgers at El Paso

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 29.—C. P. Rodgers, coast to coast aviator, arrived here this afternoon and was welcomed by thousands. He was first sighted at 2:54 o'clock and after circling Washington Park, landed near his special train standing on the Southern Pacific tracks.

Rodgers met with an accident two miles west of Fort Hancock, his machine dropping in the brush. He was not injured. He made the necessary repairs himself and quickly resumed his flight, covering the 143 miles to El Paso in 140 minutes actual flying time. He attended the bull fight in Juarez, Mexico, this afternoon. His machine will be overhauled here tomorrow and he expects to leave during the day for Tucson, Arizona.

A Fine Endorsement

Ocheltree, Kansas.
Editor Republican:
Enclosed find check for two dollars for which mark up my subscription to the Republican. I admire the paper for its home news and the editor for the bold and fearless stand he has taken in denouncing the Taft administration. Free trade don't go with the Republicans of Kansas. This leaves myself and family well, the weather good and corn and pumpkins all ready to get in for winter.
Yours truly,
C. F. Phegley.

Topped the Market

E. W. Hawkins, of Fairville, who sold six cars of cattle in Chicago Monday, received $29.00 a hundred, or an average of $138.70 a head for his cattle—the highest record for years on the Chicago market.

Halloween night Tuesday was an unusually lively one this year. There were a great many social events and some in which the principals are being out and in which it is hard to get at the facts.

Crushed in Cane Mill

Monroe Floyd Dies of Injuries. Other Accidents

Monroe Floyd, a prominent of Blackburn, while working farmer residing two miles south around his cane mill last Wednesday evening by lantern light, had his coat caught in the cogs of the machine and he was drawn in until his chest was crushed. Dr. Richard of Blackburn was called and at once realized his serious condition but could do little for him. He died Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Floyd was about 65 years old and a good citizen. He was a member of the Baptist church at Mt. Leonard and a prominent Mason. He is survived by a big family—his sorrowing wife and the following children: John, Albert, Ernest, Carroll, Andy, Mrs. Maggie Cox, Mrs. Bear of Indiana. The sons are mostly away from home and some have attained prominence in their respective callings.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Blackburn Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. White, who were related to him went up to attend the funeral.

Dumped the Boys

Joe Wheeler, Bob Rayl and Jewel Burns were out driving Wednesday evening and while on South Odell near the city limits their horse shied and dumped them into a big ditch on the side of the road. Jewel Burns had his hand broken and had to call Dr. Harrison to set the fracture. Bob Rayl was more fortunate. He landed in about three feet of soft mud and was not hurt, didn't even get a good shaking up. He was so pleased at his fortunate escape that he brought all the mud back he could carry!

A Near Accident

Last Thursday afternoon while J. M. Ramsey, with a force of work men were unloading a car of heavy steel to be used in the new hotel, narrowly escaped serious injury. The local freight crew kicked nine loaded cars into the car being unloaded just as a 3500-pound beam was being swung by the derrick. Most of the men saw the danger coming and stepped aside shouting to those on the car to "look-out."

Just then the car was struck and the derrick was thrown to the ground wrecking completely. Mr. Ramsey very narrowly escaped being struck by the falling derrick. The extreme carelessness of the local crew was condemned by those who saw the accident. Another derrick was shipped up from Sedalia and the unloading of the steel was finished Friday.—Sweet Springs Herald.

Over Embankment

In a collision of two wagons at the bridge across Blackwater river, near Blackwater, Saturday evening, P. H. Koenig's team went over the embankment. Mr. Koenig had just crossed the bridge when he met several wagons loaded with apples, on their way to Blackwater. They were coming down the hill in a trot, and Mr. Koenig pulled out to one side of the road to let them pass, but was not far enough away, and the wheel of one wagon struck the wheel of his, tipping his wagon over, sending team, wagon and Mr. Koenig over the embankment. After landing at the bottom, Mr. Koenig was under the wagon and horses, and could not get out. The horses were mixed up so in the wreckage, that they could not get out, and before assistance arrived, Mr. Koenig had received several bruises, caused by the horses striking him with their feet.—Nelson Record.

While Mesdames Ed Page and Chas. Gilpin were on the square in a buggy one day last week their horse was scared by an auto and gave a sudden start throwing little Edgar Page to the granite street. Both wheels of the rig passed over the child and the mother had a genuine scare but was relieved to find that the little fellow was not hurt.

Harvey Withers sprained his foot while playing football on the College Campus last week, but was back at the Bank of Marshall on Monday.

State Highway Dedicated

Friday morning looked very threatening and at first it was thought the State Highway dedication would be postponed, but the weather man changed his mind and gave us a nice crisp day.

Our city and the Highway were decorated by numerous flags and bunting and our streets thronged with visitors.

Owing to a late start at Kansas City the delegation from there did not arrive till about 4 in the afternoon.

On their arrival the visitors were taken to the Marshall building where a nice luncheon was served them. After this Gov. Hadley, who came with the Kansas City delegation, made a splendid good roads talk from the north steps of the court house to a crowd of about a thousand. About five o'clock the delegations divided into three parts, one for Boonville via Arrow Rock over the Santa Fe trail, one for Glasgow and one for Fayette, via Glasgow. There were about sixty cars in all.

The Boonville delegation came to Marshall to escort their guests down. Those from that place were Speed Stephens, Ex-Gov. Lon B. Stephens, Dr. A. W. Nelson and wife, Wilbur Wallace and wife, W. F. Johnson, president of Boonville Commercial Club, Leut. Gov. J. F. Gmelick, Chas. Miller, E. Windsor, Charles Nixon, Henry Sombart, W. G. Pendleton, mayor of Boonville, Charles Sombert, G. A. Brownfield, Judge A. Davin, Alex. H. Stephens, Frank C. Brosius, Judge W. M. Williams, Roy D. Williams, Paul Simon, Earl Brownfield, Judge J. E. Thro. Jefferson Davis, A. W. Nicols, Frank Drury, Newton Johnson.

Among the Glasgow crowd were Charles Nevill, A. B. Price, James W. Giggs, Thomas Hughes, B. H. Overman, John C. Collins, F. M. Parrill, C. H. Haskell, C. H. Himmilberg, Hayden Diggs, Capt. Martin, B. W. Gibbs.

Fayette sent B. W. Payne, J. H. Lawton, Geo. Gerdis, Dr. C. H. Lee.

Arrow Rock had a delegation consisting of Frank Meirs, Frank Brockway, J. P. Briggs, S. M. Diggs, Dr. McGuire and wife and T. B. Morris.

The Slater delegation had R. L. Hains, L. H. Gilliam, Joseph Lineberg, H. C. Mead, R. D. Quinsberry, C. H. Tucker, Com. P. Storts, Asa Jenkins, E. A. Hupp, C. L. Murry.

Torrents-Wilhelm

We received a rather novel write up this week of the marriage of Miss Ruth Wilhelm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilhelm, formerly of Arrow Rock, but now residing at Beebe, Ark. The article follows:

"Miss Ruth Wilhelm was married to Mr. Ollie Torrents, an Arkansas hoosier and coon hunter. They are pleasantly located in an Arkansas shack, living on the good things of Arkansas, opossum and sweet potatoes. The groom paid the Methodist preacher in coon and opossum skins. As soon as we can have his hair cut, we'll send his picture."

Brown-Rhoades

Rev. Thomas Brown, pastor of the Monroe City Baptist church, and Miss Mary Rhoades, daughter of Geo. Rhoades of Slater, were married in Slater last Thursday. The bride is an accomplished and excellent young lady and having been in the missionary work is well fitted to be a pastor's wife.

Handley-James

Married, at the home of J. W. James, in west Marshall, Oct 25th, 1911, J. F. Handley and Miss Myrtle James, Rev. Steinheimer officiating. A few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

The young couple, who are very handsome, have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

Lindell Haygood, a pupil of the East school, broke his arm last Wednesday morning while sawing as the result of a fall. Drs. Nuckles looked after his injuries.

It is pleasing to notice the show cases on the Northwest corner of the square fitted with photos again. We learn that Mr. Gorham has a first class gallery installed there and has one of the finest sky lights in the state. This gives Marshall two first class photo galleries and we believe there is room for both to do a fine business.

Many Ducks Coming

Better times are promised. At least ducks are to be distributed liberally when the famous quartet of duck hunters returns. They are Rev. B. H. Steele and son, Clennie, Dr. W. B. Petry and John Harness. They went to Henick's Lake Tuesday morning for a week's hunt. Don't know why it takes a week except that it usually takes preachers that long to get warmed up to their work. And this leads us to believe that the gentlemen deliberately formed the combination they did. Mr. Steele, being a good orator, will convince the ducks that they are good to eat; the son will probably sing to them. Dr. Petry will see that they don't bite, as he will pull their teeth if necessary. And Mr. Harness will tie or harness them up to bring to Marshall. Their many friends are fasting for their return.

Social Doings

A big mask Halloween party was given at the Elks club rooms Friday evening. About two hundred of us were present.

Mrs. E. R. Pemberton Thursday evening entertained her bridge club at her home on East Arrow. A nice luncheon was served before the departure of the guests.

The Baptist ladies had a big district missionary meeting at Gilliam last Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Eagles Home was a lively place Tuesday evening—the young folks enjoyed a dance while the older ones had a barbecue and luncheon.

Stocking Social

The Cumberland Presbyterian Sunday School gave a stocking social at the I. O. O. F. hall, Friday night Oct. 27th., for the purpose of making money for the Sunday School.

A small stocking containing an invitation were sent to the Sunday School scholars, church members and their friends. The stockings were to be taken back with the number of pennies for the size of the stocking you wore.

There was a large crowd present and all had a jolly good time. Home made candies and pop corn were sold. Light refreshments of cake and chocolate were served. About $35 were made for the school.

Church Notes

The Epworth League members of the M. E. Church, South, enjoyed a fine evening at the parsonage Friday evening by giving a Halloween party.

Christian Science subject for Sunday at 11 a. m. "Adam and Fallen Man."

Elder B. T. Wharton is back from Houstonia and reports the revival there a splendid success. He will preach at Castle Hill next Sunday as usual.

The Ladies of Saline Presbyterian church will serve an oyster supper Thursday evening November 2d beginning at 5 o'clock at the home of J. B. Gaudin six miles northwest of Marshall. Everybody invited.

The revival at the M. E. Church South, is in progress. The meetings are well attended and the interest good. Come out and hear Evangelist Alton and his singing assistant.

Circuit Court

The adjourned term of the September Circuit Court is in session Judge Samuel Davis presiding.

Two cases of unusual interest were the divorce cases from Sweet Springs, which brought over about 75 witness and visitors.

Maggie Reineke sued her husband, W. H. Reineke, for a divorce on the ground of non-support. Mr. Reineke has poor sight and is in danger of going blind. The judge dismissed the case.

The Stallings case is also from Sweet Springs. Mr. Stallings charged his wife with adultery, naming a local doctor. The young couple makes a good appearance and they ought to be able to live happily. Mr. Stallings is second miller at the Sweet Springs mill. The judge has taken the case under advisement.

Yesterday the Phillips case was up for trial. Mrs. Ella Phillips having been proven in a previous trial the common law wife of Dr. Davis and secured a dowry, now is seeking to recover an interest in some property sold by Dr. Davis before his death.

Among the Sick

Miss Bessie Henry is able to sit up in bed a little each day now. She has been down seven weeks.

Dr. J. M. Oliver of Corning, Ark. came to Marshall last week for his son, Paul, who is convalescing from an attack of typhoid fever. He was a student of M. V. C.

Paris Walker yesterday said his aunt, Mrs. Lou Durrett, was very low at the home of her brother, Geo. Lankford.

O. W. Johnston informs us that his three children—Charles, John and Jennie—who have been quite sick, are about well again.
